Hitler Fires Army Chief; Takes Sole Command of Forces

BROADEN U.S. STRATEGY; DIG IN FOR LONG WAR

F.D.R. Holds Parley with Leaders.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—With an inter-allied conference impending for the formation of a supreme high command of the armed forces of all powers fighting the axis, the Roosevelt administration went forward today with preparations for a long, hard war.

Creation of an inter-allied high command, possibly headed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, American commander in the Philippines, is expected to be paralleled by the formation of a supreme war council to coordinate all American war activities. It would be designed particularly to speed production of arms and to allocate arms to the various fighting fronts under the lend-lease legislation.

Adm. William D. Leahy, now American ambassador to Vichy, France, is considered a likely member of this body, and among others mentioned as possibilities is Wendell Willkie.

One to Five Year War Expected.

Among higherups of the army and navy a war lasting from one to five years is looked for. Japan is believed to have a supply of oil sufficient for the operation of her war machine for about one year. Unless they can take the oil resources of the Dutch East Indies it is expected the Japanese will come to the end of their rope in little more than a year.

Hence, Singapore is the supreme strategic point of the Pacific, with the Philippines a close second. The Japanese cannot attack the Dutch East Indies unless they control Singapore. For this reason they are centering their drive upon the Malayan peninsula while the British are bringing every ounce of their resistance into play to halt the advance upon Singapore.

Confers with War Aids.

The President discussed war plans with Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Gen. George Marshall, army chief of staff; Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff in charge of air; Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and Adm. Ernest J. King, newly designated commander in chief of the United States fleet, at a protracted White House conference this afternoon. Earlier, Mr. Roosevelt conferred on the far eastern situation with Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States.

The Japanese will be hampered in their efforts to take Singapore so long as the Americans hold the Philippines, and even should they capture Singapore their position there would be insecure so long as American warships and aircraft based on the Philippines were able to disrupt communications between Japan and the South Pacific. For this reason the Japanese are expected to continue unceasingly their efforts to capture and occupy the Philippines.

Fortress Stands in Way.

Our army and navy strategists make no claims that the Philippines can be held against the Japanese assaults indefinitely. What they do contend is that it would take the Japanese several months to gain an effective foothold on Luzon, the principal island, and that even then the Corregidor fortress would stand in the way of their control of the islands.

Thus the allied strategy is to wear Japan down until her oil gives out. In the meantime, of course, there are not unlikely to be naval battles in the far east that will affect profoundly the course of the war.

President Roosevelt's reorganization of the navy following the disaster of Pearl Harbor has brought airminded officers into command of the fleet in accord with the demonstrations of the predominance of aircraft over surface ships in the equation of seapower.

The undertaking of subduing Japan has been enormously increased by the setback the United States suffered in the disaster of Hawaii. Because of the loss of warships and damage to others it will be a year or more before the United States will have a fleet strong enough to take the offensive.

Mayme Wins Captain's $500 as Best Cook

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 21 [Special].—Nobody can cook like Mayme, was the effect of a court decision here that today makes Miss Mayme Liberty richer by $500 and leaves 21 sweethearts in other lake ports, including Chicago, only also rans.

It's a long, tall tale, mates, about a hale and hearty skipper who loved a joke and who may be, even now, chortling hollowly somewhere about the dilemma he put County Judge Michael Sheridan into, and how it dwarfed Solomon's. Solomon, you remember, only had to decide between two women.

A Way with Women.

Capt. Elias Andreas was the skipper of a combination passenger and freight ship and a hail fellow, indeed. He made a lot of friends in 37 years of sailing the lakes before he died of apoplexy on the bridge, Oct. 24, 1940. Many of these friendships, especially among women, were continued ashore.

His will divided $46,000 among 18 friends and relatives in this country and in Sweden, and left $500 "to the girl friend or lady with whom I am keeping company just before my death."

Well, that seemed to cover considerable territory. Two women said they were engaged to Capt. Andreas. One woman said the captain had always found her daughter desirable. The claims ranged in latitude from Erie, Pa., to Chicago and Superior, Wis. To add to the distractions that beset the judge was the little black book found among Capt. Andreas' belongings.

Mayme Gets the $500.

But Judge Sheridan now has made up his mind. The $500 goes to Miss Liberty, whose friendship with Capt. Andreas flourished for 14 years, after they had met at the annual shipmasters' ball. Miss Liberty was a clerk in a downtown store here then, but later acquired a rooming house at 1214 Astor street.

For years the skipper rented a room at her home when he was in town. Altho Miss Liberty did not keep boarders, she often invited the captain to her festive table.

The court appeared to agree with Miss Liberty's sister when she countered claims of other women that they were the captain's favorite cook.

"There can't nobody cook like Mayme," said the sister.

WHITE RAJAH ACCUSES SINGAPORE LEADERS OF GROSS INCOMPETENCE

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 22 [Monday]—(AP).—Sir Charles Brooke, the rajah of Sarawak, said today the British position in Malaya was due to "gross incompetence and almost criminal negligence" of military and political leaders in Singapore. Member of a British family which ruled Sarawak on the Island of Borneo for 99 years, Sir Charles termed Singapore authorities "brass hats . . . lah-di-day, old-school-tie incompetents who should be sacked immediately."

"When I left I was given to understand that should Sarawak be attacked it would be given air support," he said. "The first thing that happens is Japan calls Britain's bluff and we have to blow up our oil fields. The only air protection over Sarawak today is Dutch.

"It is obvious that British diplomatic representation in Thailand fell down badly. We've gone into Timor, why not Thailand, where we know there is a potential threat?"

U. S. TO EVACUATE NAVY FAMILIES FROM BERMUDA

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 21.—Evacuation of dependents of the United States naval personnel here will start soon, Capt. Jules James, commandant of the Bermuda naval operating base, said tonight.

His announcement said that the "commandant of the United States naval operating base was notified today in a dispatch from the secretary of the navy that dependents of navy personnel at bases outside the continental limits of the United States would be evacuated as soon as transportation could be arranged. This applies to Alaska and the Canal Zone as well as all island bases. Evacuation from Bermuda will commence the last of this month."

Soldiers Guard Shipyards on Picket Threat

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 21 [Special].—Troops stood guard at one arms plant tonight while others, rushed to the bay area today after striking independent welders had ordered picket lines established at shipyards and other defense plants, were temporarily withdrawn because no work is done there on Sunday. They were ordered to return tomorrow.

Meanwhile the guard stayed on at the Pacific Bridge company, building floating dry docks for the navy at Alameda. The only picket line was established there this afternoon and a detachment of marines stood guard until the soldiers arrived. There was no disturbance.

Guard Men Wanting to Work.

The soldiers had been moved into the industrial area to "prevent molestation" of men wishing to go to work. Local police authorities had indicated fear they might not be able to cope with the situation.

Lieut. Gen. John L. De Witt, commander of the area, issued a one sentence announcement—"we are prepared to use force to prevent molestation of men wanting to work in the plants where the strikes are in progress"—and indicated the army was ready to take charge in any district where defense production was threatened. The two plants at which soldiers with bayonets stood guard for a time are the yards of the Todd-California Shipbuilding corporation and the Richmond Shipbuilding company, both in industrial Richmond.

Dispute with AFL.

The troops were called out an hour and a half after Oakland and San Francisco welders had voted for picketing as part of their strategy in a dispute, now several months old, with the American Federation of Labor.

The United Welders, Cutters, and Helpers of America charged that some of its members had been "locked out" of shipyards and other plants for refusal to pay dues to the boilermakers' union and other AFL affiliates. In the Los Angeles district welders voted to abstain from work tomorrow, but not to picket.

Welders in the San Francisco area laid down their tools yesterday in numbers over which there was considerable dispute, and the vote to set up picket lines came twenty-four hours later.

FUEHRER HEARS 'INWARD CALL' TO HEAD TROOPS

Admits War on Reds Proves Costly.

BERLIN, Dec. 21 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—Adolf Hitler announced tonight that because the course of the war against Russia has "exceeded all past notions" he has been induced to "follow his intuitions" and take over himself the post of commander in chief of the army in place of Gen. Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch.

Then in a message to the army Hitler mentioned Japan and the world-wide war and said that Germany's battle "is now approaching its culminating and turning point."

"The present war," he said, "is now entering upon a new and favorable stage for us. We are now facing a decision of world-wide importance."

Task to Defend Conquests.

The German army's task now in Russia, Hitler said, is, "up to the coming of spring, to hold and defend with fanaticism what they have hitherto conquered with immeasurable heroism and heavy sacrifices."

In announcing he had replaced Von Brauchitsch, Hitler said that because of "the vastness of the theater of war" and the close link between land operations and political and economic war aims, he has decided "to reserve to himself personally all essential decisions in this sphere."

Recalling that he already had answered "an inward call" and become his "own generalissimo" when he took charge of all the German armed forces on Feb. 4, 1938, Hitler said that now he must take personal direction of the army, combining "in his own hands the leadership of the whole armed forces with the supreme command of the army."

Pays Tribute to Merits.

In his statement, Hitler said he was replacing Von Brauchitsch "while fully recognizing his merits."

The actual replacement took place on Dec. 19, it was said.

"When the Fuehrer on Feb. 4, 1938, assumed commanding power over the whole armed forces this was done out of concern for the then threatening military struggle for the freedom of the German people," the announcement said. It continued:

"The raison d'être [the reason for being] imperatively demanded that all powers should be concentrated in one hand.

"Only thus could preparations for resistance succeed, a resistance which it was known would lead still more to a 'total war' the World war of 1914-'18.

"Realization of the Call."

"In addition, the realization of an inward call and his own will to take upon himself the responsibility weighed with the statesman Adolf Hitler when he resolved to be his own generalissimo.

"The course of this war has more

EXPECT DRAFT CALLS WILL BE BY NUMBER RATHER THAN BY AGE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 [Special].—Altho promulgation of rules for the drafting of men from 20 to 44 years old, inclusive, will await signing of the bill into law, opinion here is that no effort will be made to call up men by age classes. It is believed all men eligible and physically fit for active service will be called by order of number held, regardless of age. The draft measure was sent to the President by congress Friday.

Cuba Drops Conscription.

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 21.—The plan to establish compulsory military service in Cuba, already approved by the house of representatives, will be abandoned, the cabinet decided today. Instead President Fulgencio Batista will call for recruits. Lack of funds to equip and train army selectees was regarded as the primary reason for abandonment of conscription.

DAY'S HIGH SPOTS AS WAR STRIKES CLOSER TO HOME!

SIX WAR MAPS

Turn to the back page for six maps detailing the action yesterday on far eastern, Russian, and African war fronts.

Japanese troops, landing in force from 80 transports, opened a big battle with Gen. MacArthur's troops in the area of Lingayen.

In Washington, it was officially announced that the United States navy had "probably sunk or damaged" 14 enemy submarines in the Atlantic and "effectively dealt with several Japanese submarines in the Pacific." Enemy subs had taken their toll—perhaps five lives—in attacks on two American tankers off California.

British Hit in Malaya.

In Malaya, British forces retreated 45 miles along the east coast but repulsed a Japanese attack in the Lenggong area on the western side. Thus British defense positions extend in a straight line almost across the peninsula about 300 miles north of Singapore. Loss of airdrome facilities in Kelantan state caused the east coast withdrawal. Most of the troops and equipment were saved.

The Dutch told of sinking three more Jap troopships off Borneo.

Hongkong's garrison continued to hold off superior Japanese forces, obeying to the letter Gov. Sir Mark Young's order of Friday: "The eyes of the empire are upon you! Be strong!"

Red Tide Sweeps On

In Russia, soviet troops "made it impossible for the Germans to halt their retreat." This, said a London commentator, was done by driving wedges into Nazi positions. The Reds announced the capture of numerous towns on the Moscow and Leningrad fronts; German communiques said fighting continued with "undiminished vigor."

Dispatches from Africa said the westward retreat of German and Italian forces had become headlong flight. The British said they doubted that axis troops could be reorganized to make an effective stand at Bengazi.

[Detailed stories on pages 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7.]

50 NAZI OFFICERS LURED TO DEATH IN MINED HOUSE

MOSCOW, Dec. 21 (AP).—A story of how 50 German officers were lured to their death in a mined house at Taganrog was circulated today by Tass, the official news agency, and credited to a woman who escaped from that city on the Sea of Azov. [The latest Russian claim was that Russian forces had surrounded Taganrog after the German retreat from Rostov.]

The woman, Olga Corodova, said that a mild-mannered municipal bookkeeper volunteered to show the German commandant and his staff the best house in town where they might make their headquarters. They moved into the well-furnished house and on their first night there it was blown up. The 50 officers were buried in the wreckage, Tass said. Mme. Corodova said the German entry into Taganrog on their drive east to Rostov was marked by massacre.

Art Works of West Coast Sent to Haven in Colorado

Colorado Springs, Colo., Dec. 21 (AP).—Several cases of paintings from California have been received by the Fine Arts center here for storing during the war.

Officials of the center said other inquiries have been received from west coast cities regarding sending art works here. The gallery from which the first shipment was sent has not been disclosed.

80 SHIPS CARRY INVADER FORCE TO LUZON PORT

Fight Is Raging in Lingayen Area.

MANILA, Dec. 22 [Monday] (AP).—Thousands of Japanese soldiers swarming from a mighty flotilla of 80 transports locked today with a grim force of American and Filipino troops in a bloody but thus far inconclusive battle some 100 miles from Manila as Japan opened a long expected major invasion of the Philippines.

A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of the American army of the far east, announced that the Japanese had landed along the sheltered coast of the Gulf of Lingayen "in great force" and that heavy fighting was in progress.

It was reported unofficially that the action was centered between the port of Lingayen, 110 miles northwest of Manila, where a previous Japanese landing party was wiped out, and the town of Agoo, 20 miles north of Lingayen.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur did not indicate the trend of the battle. He indicated his terse announcement was all that could be expected from headquarters until the situation cleared.

Could Carry 30,000.

Military observers estimated the 80 transports could handle between 30,000 and 50,000 troops, altho they pointed out they did not know the size of the ships.

It was not known whether the Japanese succeeded in landing heavy equipment.

The United States far eastern command tersely announced the presence of the giant expeditionary force in this communique issued at 11:15 a. m. [8:15 p. m. Chicago time.]

"There was sighted this morning off Lingayen gulf a huge enemy fleet estimated at 80 transports. Undoubtedly this is a major expeditionary drive being aimed at the Philippines."

In the first week of the war the Japanese attempted a landing at the port of Lingayen, on the south shore of the Gulf of Lingayen, but the quick and determined action of a division of Filipino troops wiped out that threat. Many Japanese were killed.

Other Forces on Island.

The Japanese previously had established beachheads at Vigan, 100 miles up the coast from Lingayen; Aparri, on the northern coast of Luzon 250 miles from Manila, and at Legaspi, on the southeastern coast 250 miles from Manila.

Gen. MacArthur has insisted time after time that the Philippines can be defended successfully.

It has been known for some time that military strategists considered the Lingayen area the most likely spot for an invasion effort. The gulf is fairly shallow but has deep channels and various fine ports.

While the action off Lingayen was developing [and perhaps in concert with it] Japanese planes raided Manila twice today.

The first raiders, six planes which flew in high over the city at 7:42 a. m. dropped the heaviest bombs yet felt in the capital but it was said only slight damage was caused. Most of the bombs fell harmlessly in the harbor. Nichols field was bombed. That raid lasted only 32 minutes and the raiders were greeted by a barrage of anti-aircraft fire.

The second attack came at 1:20 p. m. when three bombers, flying so high they could not be seen by the unaided eye, unloaded a few bombs and flew northward toward Lingayen.

Carry Bigger Bombs.

Military circles said the Japanese appeared to be using bombs three times the size of those dropped in raids during the first two weeks of the war.

With at least three air bases now established on Luzon Island—presumably at Vigan, Aparri, and Legaspi—the Japanese planes are able to carry bigger loads. The planes in the first raid appeared to be three-engined bombers.

Meanwhile, the Japanese invaders at Vigan were said to be thrusting cautiously southward toward Manila, 200 miles away, and confused fighting continued on the shore of the Gulf of Davao, on the southern edge of the Philippines.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in a short communique this morning said, "There is continuing activity south of Vigan, but nothing serious has developed. Conflicting reports of enemy reënforcements have not yet been confirmed.

Bomb an Open City.

"No reliable information has been received from Davao."

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters charged, for the first time, that the Japanese had attacked an open city from the air.

It announced that the Japanese bombed Baler, the birthplace of President Manuel Quezon on the east coast of Luzon, yesterday morning.

"Baler is an open city and there are absolutely no military objectives in that vicinity," the announcement said. "It was an inexcusable, unwarranted attack."

Newspaper dispatches said one person was killed and several wounded and several houses set on fire at Baler.

Filipino circles expressed the opinion that the attack on the town and a reported attack on Quezon's farm in Pampanga province were Japanese retaliation for two recent speeches by the president reaffirming his country's loyalty to the United States.

Review of the Week.

Gen. MacArthur yesterday summed up the second week of the war with an announcement that both ground and air forces of the United States command struck back with increasing fury at the Japanese and that Japanese patrols had been routed in the Vigan sector and at Legaspi.

The summary also said two Japanese transports were crippled by United States bombers at Legaspi and that at least 30 Japanese planes were destroyed.

It said damage in a dozen Japanese air raids was not serious and casualties were light.

Mustering for New Blows.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 (AP).—The Japanese apparently were mustering their forces today for a major new blow at the Philippines.

The war department communique said:

"Aggressive attempts at enemy infiltration are being made both in northern and southern Luzon. Indications point to Japanese efforts toward progressive augmentation of forces which have landed in the Philippines.

In a communique, the navy said Wake Island had sustained two additional attacks by enemy aircraft.

LINGAYEN KEY CITY

Lingayen, pronounced Ling'-gi-yane, is the capital of Pangasinan province in west central Luzon. It has a population of 30,000 and lies at the head of the Gulf of Lingayen, in the most sheltered spot in the Philippines, with the exception of Manila itself.

The climate is cool and healthful and the gulf, extending to the north, with its myriads of little islands, makes it a favored spot for fishermen, both sporting and commercial.

Waters Mostly Shallow.

Most of the shoreland surrounding Lingayen is beach and the gulf itself is generally shallow, being used chiefly by native coastal vessels. However, on the east of the gulf, culminating in Cape Bolinao, tower the Zambales mountains, protecting the gulf and the town from China sea storms.

From a military standpoint the town is strategic. It is connected by railroad, down a 50 mile wide valley, directly with Manila. The valley is low, except near its middle, where it rises in an old volcano to about 3,500 feet. The valley is virtually all riceland.

The distance from Lingayen to the back door of Manila is 80 miles as the crow flies and about 110 by railroad. The town of Lingayen itself is built on an island in the delta of the Agno river, one of a great number which flow into the gulf at its lower end and drain much of northern and central Luzon.

Center for Highways.

The city boasts a fine church and many stone buildings. It is the converging point of a number of important highways, some leading to Manila. A rice market, fishing, and the manufacture of nipa wine from the palm that grows abundantly in the area are the chief industries.

Rice swamp extends almost entirely around the town and for miles southward, eastward, and northward.

EPIDEMIC REPORTED IN TOWN NEAR BERLIN BY SWEDISH PAPER

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 21.—With the epidemic of spotted typhus in Lithuania showing no signs of abatement, it was reported here today that some sort of epidemic has appeared near Berlin.

The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Tidningen, describing a visit to a girls' labor camp at Baits, in Brandenburg province, where Berlin is situated, quoted a guide as saying, "We cannot help the peasants because there is an epidemic in the village." This was the first time observers have heard of an epidemic in Germany proper.

In Kaunas, Lithuania, the German commissary general has cut off communications between certain districts to prevent the spread of spotted typhus.

Five Jap Flyers Kill Selves as Chinese Foil Escape

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 21 (AP).—Cornered after escaping from their Chinese captors, five Japanese aviators were reported by the central Chinese news agency today to have committed suicide. The five were fleeing aboard a small sailboat on the Min river in Szechwan province. Shots rang out when Chinese pursuers ordered the boat to heave-to and all were found dead.

Panama Gets Yule Trees; Lights Put Out at 11 P. M.

BALBOA, C. Z., Dec. 21.—The American colony in the Panama Canal Zone and Panama will celebrate Christmas in the traditional manner despite the war, and 3,500 Christmas trees received from the United States are being distributed. Blackout restrictions, however, will limit the lighting of trees. All lights now must be put out from 11 p. m. to 5:30 a. m.

49 U.S., British Refugees Flee Thailand in Safety

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 21 (AP).—Forty-nine refugees from Thailand, including 30 American missionaries and 19 British citizens, reached Burma safely today. Many arrived with nothing but a few clothes.

SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH.

Michael Kulka, 58 years old, a coffin maker, shot himself to death yesterday in the presence of his daughter, Alice, 20, in the bedroom of their home, 1639 West 18th street. She told police her father had feared approaching blindness.

GRIMLY BATTLING BRITISH KEEP UP HONGKONG FIGHT

Obey Order: 'Be Strong; Empire Watching.'

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Dec. 22 [Monday]—[Official broadcast recorded by (AP)]—Domei [official news agency] reported today the conquest of Hongkong virtually had been completed, with British resistance now confined chiefly to street fighting and guerilla warfare. Domei claimed the Japanese had gained control of the island's main communication center and all strategic military points.

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Hongkong's grimly resisting defenders still defied overwhelming Japanese might tonight, urged on to hold their rock-hewn strongholds in the island's peak by an exhortation of its governor: "The eyes of the empire are upon you! Be strong! Be resolute and do your duty!"

Britons were thrilled by accounts of the garrison's stubborn fight against great odds but no hope was held out here that the invaders could be driven back, and British sources refused even to speculate on how long its resistance could last.

King George VI., Colonial Secretary Lord Moyne, and other officials sent messages of praise to Gov. Sir Mark Young and Maj. Gen. C. M. Maltby, Hongkong's commander in chief, for the valiant stand of the garrison, drawn almost equally from Canadian and United Kingdom forces, and the crown colony's volunteer defense force of Europeans and Chinese.

Japs Tell of Smashing Forts.

Tokio broadcasts said fighting has spread to the Happy Valley race course east of the captured colonial capital, Victoria, and one British strong point after another in the towering hills of Hongkong is being smashed.

The fortifications, according to these reports, are being pounded by closely coöperating air and artillery forces and about half of 100 trapped British vessels have been sunk in Japanese controled waters around the island.

Japanese planes, it was stated, bombed Mount Davis, a stronghold at the western end of the island; Mount Cameron, which flanks Victoria peak on the other side to the east, and the settlement of Aberdeen on the south side. Artillery, aided by naval guns, shelled British shore batteries and fortifications.

Belated Communiques Arrive.

The story of the struggle, which has been waged in part behind a barrier of long distance silence, was filled in for Britons today by three belated Hongkong communiques and exultant Japanese predictions that the island's downfall was imminent. They follow:

"10:30 a. m. Hongkong time: The enemy shelled the resident area of Victoria [the capital city] at dusk yesterday [Thursday] evening and did some damage to property. After dark they increased the severity of their bombardment on the eastern sector of the north shore of the island, and some enemy troops succeeded in landing in the neighborhood of the north point of Taikoo during the night. The enemy is now being engaged by our forces.'

"2:30 p. m. local time: Countermeasures against the Japanese landing parties continue. The governor has sent the following message to all ing parties continue. [The governor's message followed.]

"5:30 p. m. local time: Operations against the enemy landing party on the island are proceeding."

Report Heavy Fighting.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 21 (AP).—The British embassy in Chungking said its latest advice from Hongkong was that fighting still was heavy there at midday today and that while the situation was serious the enemy apparently had failed to disorganize the colony's defenses.

Chinese reports said a considerable Japanese force has been moved from Canton to try to dislodge Chinese who have wrested strategic points along the Canton-Kowloon railroad. However, there was no evidence that the Chinese attempts to relieve the pressure on Hongkong could succeed.

Fierce fighting was in progress around Shumchun, on the outer mainland border of Hongkong colony, as Japanese forces counterattacked the Chinese armies.

MOROS SHARPEN BOLOS AND POUND DRUMS AS THEY PLEDGE LOYALTY

MANILA, Dec. 21 (AP).—The Philippines' bolo-swinging Moros, among the world's fiercest fighters, today renewed their oath of loyalty to the United States and stressed thru one of their high Mohammedan officials that they are ready for all-out defense of democracy.

"All Zamboanga Mohammedan elements are with me in the defense of democracy," the Moros' headman, Datto Tabujur, told Francis B. Sayre, United States high commissioner for the Philippines.

The war drums are throbbing and the bolos are being made razor sharp by these fierce tribesmen for a war to the death against the Japanese.

BRITISH FORCES IN MALAYA FALL BACK 45 MILES

Withdraw on East Coast, Repulse Drive in West.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 21 (AP). — The British forces defending Singapore have retreated 45 miles thru the jungles on the eastern side of the Malay peninsula but have beaten off an attack on the western side, the British announced tonight.

A communique said forces in northeastern Malaya had been successfully withdrawn from the area of Kelantan state between Kota Bharu, where the Japanese made their initial landing Dec. 8, and Kuala Krai, 45 miles to the south.

Kuala Krai is situated inland on the central Malayan railroad about 300 miles north of Singapore.

"Loss of airdrome facilities in northern Kelantan and the vulnerability of communications" prompted a decision some days ago to execute a withdrawal, it was stated.

Save Major Part of Force.

The retreat involved a series of coördinated night movements which resulted in "bringing out the greater part of the British force and the majority of stores and equipment" despite attempted Japanese interference on land and in the air, the British said.

Shortly before, another communique had announced the repulse of a Japanese attack in the Lenggong area, in northwest Malaya. Lenggong is about 30 miles southwest of Grik, or 48 miles south of the Thailand frontier, and is on the eastern bank of the Krian river where the British were last reported organizing strong defense positions after surrendering Perak state, Wellesley province and the off shore tin smelting island of Penang.

Defense Line Spans Peninsula.

The British positions tonight thus were almost in a straight line across the Malay peninsula about 300 miles north of this far eastern fortress.

During the day the Japanese raided the Kuala Lumpur area on the railway 180 miles north of Singapore. One of the planes was shot down, and another probably destroyed, the British said. Kuantan on the eastern coast was attacked from the air Saturday.

Some quarters thought that Japan might launch a major drive for Ipoh, an important tin mining center 25 miles south of Lenggong at almost any hour. The Japanese apparently were already beginning to feel their way along the road from Grik.

Another communique announced the loss of the small 623-ton converted merchantman Banka.

TOKIO, Dec. 21 [Official Radio Recorded by (AP)].—Japanese forces in Malaya were reported today to be pressing southward thru jungle country toward Singapore.

Dutch Sink 3 Troopships.

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—A British broadcast quoted Batavia reports today that Netherlands forces had sunk three more Japanese troopships off Borneo. It said two were sunk by naval forces and a third by a Dutch torpedo bomber.

The transports were said to have been en route to Borneo from Corea, on the mainland of Asia facing Japan, indicating that Japanese invasion forces in the South China sea islands may have been drawn from Manchukuo.

Dutch and United States forces in the far east thus have announced the sinking altogether of 13 Japanese transports.

RESCUE OF 30 ON TORPEDOED TANKER IS TOLD

Five Injured in Attack on American Ship.

Capt. F. B. Goncalves.

It was feared five of the Emidio's crew were lost. At least 30 were rescued after the attack. Five were injured.

When last seen the tanker was afloat but was wallowing and riding low. The torpedo struck her in the stern.

Planes Scout Area.

The attacks were made within five hours yesterday. The scenes of action are about 300 miles apart, indicating that at least two enemy submarines were operating off the coast. Reports to the navy said planes were scouting the area.

The 13th district naval headquarters said the Emidio was attacked 20 miles off the coast, 200 miles north of San Francisco. The submarine fired several shots and then torpedoed the tanker as she sought to flee.

[In Washington, the navy department issued a communique which said three lifeboats of the Emidio were shattered by submarine gunfire, not revealing whether the boats were fired upon while still in their davits or after the crew had abandoned ship. The navy listed 32 rescued and 22 missing of a total crew of 54, but the owners of the Emidio said that no more than 37 were aboard, and only five were missing.]

Boats put out from nearby Blunt's reef lightship rescued the survivors, including Capt. C. A. Farrow, the Emidio's skipper. Those missing are Stuart McGillivray of Seattle, R. W. Pennington of Los Angeles, Fred W. Pitts Jr. of Pomona, Cal., and B. A. Winters and Kenneth Kimes, both of San Pedro, Cal.

Tanker Races Toward Shore.

The Agwiworld also was 20 miles off shore, 100 miles south of San Francisco, when a submarine came to the surface and started firing her deck gun, according to her captain, F. B. Goncalves.

The Agwiworld escaped by turning from her course and racing shoreward. It was said her only damage was a severed hawser, which was cut by a shell from the submarine. Eight or nine shots were said to have been fired at her. She kept close to shore and made her way to San Francisco.

The Emidio, a 6,912 ton boat owned by Socony Vacuum Oil company, was reported to have been going southward without cargo. Details of the itinerary of the Agwiworld were not available. The Agwiworld, a 6,771 ton ship, is operated by the Richfield Oil company.

HOW SUB SHELLED SHIP

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 21 (AP).—The American tanker Agwiworld outmaneuvered an attacking enemy submarine after attempting to ram it, Capt. F. B. Goncalves, the tanker's skipper, reported when he brought his ship into port today.

Capt. Goncalves said his ship was 20 miles due west of Santa Cruz, Cal., when the submarine fired without warning or hailing the ship.

"The first thing I knew there was the explosion of a shell over our stern," he said. "I was in my room. I ran to the bridge.

"The submarine was about 500 yards due west of us in the path of the sun. I put the helm hard to port and headed straight for the sub.

"When the second shot came I put the helm hard over to starboard and then presented the stern to the sub. There was a heavy ground swell which kept the sub's gun deck awash.

"The next six shots missed us, but some of them came awful close.

"If we had only had a gun that sub would never shoot at another ship! It was a beautiful target for us."

The only arms aboard the Agwiworld consisted of two small caliber pistols in the ship locker, Capt. Goncalves revealed.

Encounter Lasts Half Hour.

Edward Crabtree, the tanker's first mate, said the encounter lasted about half an hour.

"At the first shot we radioed a warning to the navy and all other ships," Crabtree said. "All hands rushed to their boat stations. I was in my room when the first shot came and I ran to the deck.

"There was a heavy northwest ground swell. The submarine was faster than we are, but she couldn't use her speed.

"Her gun deck was about surface level. If she had tried to make any speed in that swell her gun crew would have been washed overboard.

"She kept running with us about 500 yards off. Her aim was bad because of the swell.

Afraid of Being Rammed.

"I think she didn't try to close with us for two reasons: She was afraid of being rammed and she had heard our warning to the navy and had to be ready to get out of the vicinity fast."

D. F. Gosney, third mate of the tanker, who served six years in the United States navy submarine branch, said he was on the poop deck of the tanker when the submarine opened fire.

"I fell down on my face and stayed there until we had swung and were heading directly at the sub," he said. "Then I got up and manned my station.

"There was no panic aboard. The sub kept in the sun. We headed north. I believe the sub used a 5 inch gun on us. It's too bad we didn't have a gun."

The Agwiworld raced toward the shore and its crew could not tell exactly when the submarine submerged. The tanker hovered close to shore several hours and then headed to safety.

During the attack, five or six men were visible on the submarine's gun platform, manipulating the weapon, Gosney said.

Goncalves is no stranger to sea warfare or submarines. A graduate of the Brazilian naval academy, he served in the last war as second officer on a Norwegian freighter, and was torpedoed in the North sea.

"We were given a warning that time, however," he said.

Most of the crew were sleeping in their bunks below when the tanker reached harbor today.

"They've had a long watch," said First Mate Crabtree, who explained that crewmen had remained up thru the night, maintaining a vigil against a second attack.

JAPS CLAIM NINE SUBS SUNK AND 4 PROBABLY DESTROYED IN SEA WAR

TOKIO, Dec. 21 [Official Radio Recorded by Associated Press].—A Japanese naval communique announced today the sinking of nine enemy submarines and declared that an additional four were attacked and possibly destroyed. [The communique failed to say whether the submarines were British or American and did not specify when or where the sinkings took place.]

A Japanese destroyer, credited with the sinking of one submarine Saturday, was said to have rescued 32 members of the crew.

40 LONG RANGE SUBS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 (AP).—Japan is believed to have approximately 40 submarines with a range permitting operations off the United States west coast where attacks have been made on American vessels.

Reports by the navy to congress and information in naval publications indicate the total known Japanese submarine fleet is in excess of 70, with more than half that number capable of traveling from 14,000 to 16,000 miles without refueling.

With Seattle only 4,257 miles from Yokohama, this range would make it possible for the submarines to put out from bases in the far east, reach the American west coast, remain there for some time to operate against shipping, and return to their ports.

Island Bases Available.

Use of existing Japanese bases in the Caroline or Marshall Islands or refueling from mother ships at sea would shorten the voyage and make possible a longer stay in American coastal waters.

Records indicate the Japanese have some submarines as large as 2,700 tons, this group containing minelayers able to carry and sow as many as 60 mines each in shipping lanes.

Japanese undersea vessels generally are copies of the German U-boats. The crews of the biggest submarines are composed of approximately 90 men and officers.

Among larger Japanese submarines are craft of 2,180 tons, known as the I-16 class, with surface speeds of 20 knots or better [superior to that of the majority of merchant ships] and with submerged speed of about 9 knots.

First Launched in 1933.

The first of this class was launched in 1933 and the publication Jane's Fighting Ships, a manual of naval strength, lists five of them completed up to last year. This class is armed with six 21 inch torpedo tubes and one or more deck guns of about 5 inch bore.

The long range fleet also is known to include 10 of the improved I-5 class and 4 Kawasaki boats, both classes of about 1,900 tons and with armament similar to that of the I-16 class.

Latest available records also show 18 Kaigun type boats, with displacements running upwards from 1,400 tons and the same torpedo equipment as the bigger classes but somewhat lighter deck guns.

Hangar for Seaplane.

The balance of the Japanese submarine fleet is believed to be made up of coastal types, minelayers of moderate range, and experimental vessels. At least one of the latter group was built with a hangar for a seaplane with folding wings.

Submarine statistics which the navy gave to congress and reported in naval publications did not include the two-man type which appeared for the first time in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

While the possibility may not be ruled out completely, presumably the raiders along the west coast do not include any of the two-man submarines. These 41 foot craft, with ranges of not more than 200 miles, are put overside by mother ships, a method that would make their use as commerce raiders vulnerable to observation and attack.

JAPS AND THAIS SIGN DEFENSIVE, OFFENSIVE PACT

TOKIO, Dec. 21 [Official radio recorded by Associated Press].—Conclusion of an offensive and defense alliance between Thailand and Japan was announced today. Domei news agency said it was the first step in a series of such treaties designed to weaken the ABCD [America, British, China, Dutch] alignment.

14 ENEMY SUBS HIT IN ATLANTIC, NAVY ASSERTS

Japanese Boats Also Dealt With, Says Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—American naval forces have "probably sunk or damaged" at least 14 enemy submarines in the Atlantic and have "effectively dealt with several Japanese submarines" in the Pacific, the navy department announced tonight.

The statement did not say within what period the losses had been inflicted upon the enemy, but it was believed to have been since President Roosevelt's "shoot on sight" order of Sept. 11.

The Navy's Statement.

Following is the text of the statement as issued under the signature of Secretary Frank Knox at 7 p. m., Chicago time:

"1. The navy has been aware for some time that enemy submarine activity in the near American waters was impending and naturally has already taken appropriate countermeasures.

"2. The release of information of attacks on our shipping, unaccompanied by information as to what we are doing to protect it, must not be construed by the public as an indication that the navy has done nothing about it.

Assures Public of Steps.

"I can assure the public that the navy has already adequately dealt with more than one submarine which has sought to make attacks on our naval and merchant vessels. Immediate announcement of the strength and disposition of the United States naval forces which are combating enemy submarines, the methods that we have used, and the place and time of our attacks upon them, would provide the enemy with military information which he would dearly love to obtain.

"3. Therefore, I do not propose now, or in the future, to make immediate announcements of the destruction of enemy forces unless I am satisfied that the enemy himself is fully informed on this subject. From time to time I shall give a summary of the losses we have inflicted on the enemy and shall indicate the general locality of these actions.

Atlantic Action Described.

"4. For example, after careful weighing of the evidence I can now state that in the Atlantic ocean United States naval forces have up to the present time probably sunk or damaged at least 14 enemy submarines. This probability, as well as the prevalence of the bitter North Atlantic winter weather which the Germans do not seem to like, may account for the recent comparative security of the North Atlantic convoy routes.

"5. In the Pacific our naval forces have already effectively dealt with several Japanese submarines."

HITLER ASSUMES SOLE COMMAND OF GERMAN ARMY

Hears 'Inward Call'; Von Brauchitsch Shelved.

and more confirmed recognition of this fact, but it was fully shown only when the campaign in the east [Russia] assumed proportions which exceeded all past notions."

Mentioning Japan as a "comrade in arms," Hitler said:

"With the lightning destruction of the American Pacific fleet and the British forces at Singapore, with the occupation of numerous British and American bases in western Asia by Japanese forces, the present war is now entering upon a new and favorable stage for us. We are now facing a decision of world-wide importance."

Brought to Stationary Front.

The armies in Russia "after their immortal victories without parallel in world history" must now be brought from "mobile progress into a stationary front" because of the sudden onset of winter, he said.

Then he promised that "apart from this, however, fresh units will be formed, and above all new and better weapons will be issued as they were last winter. The defense of the front in the west will be strengthened from Kirkenes [Norway] to the Spanish frontier."

"The difficulties of organizing communications on this front today, extending over the whole continent and stretching as far as North Africa, must be overcome," Hitler declared.

"I know war from four years of mighty conflict in the west from 1914 to 1918," said Hitler in the closing words of his personal appeal to his soldiers to have heart.

Tells of "15 Years Success."

"I alone, after four years of war, never for a second doubted the resurrection of my people. With my fanatical will, I, a simple German soldier, succeeded after more than 15 years of work in uniting once more the whole German nation and in freeing it from the death sentence of the Versailles.

"My soldiers, you will therefore understand my heart solely belongs to you, that my will and my work serve unflinchingly the greatness of my people, that my mind and my resolution are directed only toward the destruction of the enemy—that is toward a victorious conclusion of this war."

Desperate or Feinting?

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Adolf Hitler, in taking over personal direction of the Nazi land forces, either is desperate or feinting, in the opinion of observers here. It seemed he either feared trouble on the home front or was planning some big new move against his enemies, the democracies—perhaps both.

Hitler's dramatic announcements today contained the harsh admission that the great Russian offensive of recent weeks has been hurting Germany to the core.

Some quarters here suggested Hitler's move might indicate the first tangible sign of a split between the Nazi party and the German army leaders. They noted that such a split might also have been considered evident from the fact that the army in Russia has been commanded from two headquarters—the general staff headquarters and the Fuehrer's own headquarters.

Generals Knew the Risks.

The military correspondent of the British Press association wrote:

"Hitler's generals probably forced him to assume all responsibility, for none knew better than they what risks were involved in attacking Russia so late in the year.

"Hitler has ordered a retreat. It may be the generals who impressed upon him the necessity of saving the army from complete annihilation. Whether he has cut adrift from the generals and whether assumption of supreme command means he will proceed with his own ideals of strategy remains to be seen. A wholesale purge might follow the dismissal of Von Brauchitsch."

Another British observer noted that Von Brauchitsch twice had disagreed with Hitler on the dissemination of political doctrines within the army.

Strengthen His Own Hand.

One observer said that the twin German setbacks on the Russian and Libyan fronts might have led Hitler to strengthen as far as possible his personal hold on the civil population thru the sufferings of winter.

The Germans have made no secret of their preparations for a spring offensive, as mentioned by Hitler today, but it was not immediately clear whether the new change in command of the German army means that an effort would be made to hasten that offensive. Some thought it probable.

Hitler Assumes Sole Command

VON BRAUCHITSCH ONE OF BIG THREE IN NAZI STRATEGY

Loses Post He Gained by Previous Shakeup.

Gen. Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch became commander in chief of the German army as the result of a shake-up by Adolf Hitler on Feb. 4, 1938. Until yesterday's announcement of his displacement by Hitler, it was expected that Von Brauchitsch would take his place alongside Moltke, Schlieffen, and Ludendorff as one of Germany's great military leaders.

The 1938 shake-up culminated in the resignations of the minister of war, Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg and of Col. Gen. Baron Werner von Fritsch, who was destined to die on the battlefield outside Warsaw in September, 1939.

Had Powerful Influence.

As a member of Hitler's secret cabinet Von Brauchitsch had a powerful influence on all military decisions. He had long been a sympathizer with the National Socialist [Nazi] movement and his appointment was in recognition of his services to the cause.

Von Brauchitsch came of an old aristocratic family. Born in Berlin on Oct. 4, 1881, he began his career at 19 as a lieutenant in the third grade grenadier regiment. Up to 1938 his rise was the normal one of a German officer. His service during the World war was uneventful.

The bloodless purge of February, 1938, brought him to the rank of colonel general and gave him command of the whole German army as successor to Von Fritsch. Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, for the air force; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, for the navy, and Von Brauchitsch made up a triumvirate that guided Germany's military destinies until yesterday.

"Soldier All 'he Time."

Those who have known Von Brauchitsch describe him as "a soldier first, last, and all the time." Self-effacing, not fond of publicity, he was the essence of the German military plan—a profound student of military affairs and an excellent officer. The planning of the invasion of the Low Countries and France was attributed to him. It was in that campaign that he won promotion to the rank of general field marshal.

Few details of the marshal's personal life have been published in the German press. He never permitted himself to become a colorful or popular military figure, as Ludendorff did.

Reports that Von Brauchitsch was on the way out gained currency last week when the marshal was seen in Vienna in civilian attire. Gen. Alfred Jodl, artillery expert on Hitler's personal supreme command, was mentioned as a possible successor.

Keitel Close to Hitler.

Others who have been close to Hitler are Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, and Gen. Franz von Halder, chief of the general staff, but Berlin made no official mention of them or Jodl in the announcement of the ouster of Von Brauchitsch.

Keitel also was elevated by the 1938 shakeup and Hitler delegated him as his deputy and personal representative in military affairs. As a member of Hitler's secret war council, he had a leading rôle in the drama in Compiegne Forest in June, 1940, when France surrendered. Keitel read to the French emissaries the preamble outlining Hitler's peace proposals.

Keitel seldom was absent from any important international event affecting German military interests. He is 59 years old.

BRITAIN'S REDS SALUTE STALIN FOR LEADERSHIP

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—"All mankind is indebted to your genius for leadership," the central committee of the British communist party told Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin today in a telegram felicitating him on his 62d birthday. "In sending you our loving good wishes we declare how proud we are to be members of the great international party of which you are the leader, and we pledge ourselves to be worthy of this honor," the message said.

Greeted by Hitler in 1939.

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—Two years ago today Adolf Hitler messaged Joseph Stalin: "Accept my most sincere congratulations on your 60th birthday, my best wishes for your personal well-being and a happy future for the Soviet people."

The British radio recalled that message today in announcing that in honor of the Russian leader's 62d birthday a special concert would be broadcast.

REDS GET BIG BOX OF IRON CROSSES AND A BIG LAUGH

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—The British radio quoted a correspondent of Tass, Russian news agency, as reporting today that among the German booty taken in the Russian counter-offensive was a big box of iron crosses, second class, which bore the tag:

"To be handed out for the capture of Moscow."

The Tass dispatch said that the medals were found in a large staff car seized in the Russian drive beyond Klin, northwest of Moscow. The Tass broadcast was recorded here.

CLAIM GERMANS IN RUSSIA UNABLE TO HALT RETREAT

Reds Drive Wedges Deep Into Nazi Lines.

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—The Russians have driven wedges into German positions which have made it impossible for the Germans to halt their retreat and have demolished the Hitler pretense that the Nazis are executing an orderly withdrawal to straighten their line, an authoritative military commentator said today.

This interpretation was placed on a soviet communique, broadcast on the Moscow radio today announcing that the Red army had recovered Plavsk, important junction on the highway between Tula and Orel, 100 and 200 miles south of Moscow, respectively.

Press Attacks to the West.

Other points mentioned in Russian reports indicated that westward bulges were being made in the German front, the commentator said.

[Moscow said Russian troops on Sunday occupied "a number of important localities" in continued advances in the Leningrad sector and on the fronts west, northwest, and southwest of Moscow. Bodgotsch, southwest of Tikhvin on the Leningrad front, Gruzino, on the same front, and Krapivno, southwest of Tula on the southwestern Moscow front were mentioned as places taken by the Russians.]

A Moscow broadcast said Red army troops which on Friday captured Rusa, 60 miles due west of Moscow, broke thru the German defenses yesterday and were continuing a swift advance.

Air Force Blasts Germans.

At least 127 villages were captured in the sector on Saturday, the broadcast said, and the Red air force is continuously blasting at the Germans rolled back by the thrust.

The soviet communique reported the capture of 40 tanks, 135 trucks, 8 guns, and other war booty in the same sector.

The soviet communique also told of the occupation of a point in the Leningrad sector identified only as "K," and said much valuable materiel had been captured.

The newspaper Izvestia's special correspondent in that sector said the Germans had now been driven back 45 miles from Tikhvin, the point of deepest German penetration southeast of Leningrad, and that more than 100 villages had been freed from German occupation.

Four Divisions Lose Heavily.

Giving details of the recapture of Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of Moscow, which was announced on Saturday, Izvestia declared four German divisions, the 35th, 106th, and 5th infantry divisions and the 11th tank division, lost more than three-fourth of their men. The Russians are pursuing the remaining fourth, which is suffering badly from the cold, to the southwest of Volokolamsk.

[The British radio reported successful counterattacks by the soviet defenders of the port of Sevastopol in the Crimea. The broadcast said: "In the Crimea soviet troops have counterattacked before Sevastopol and have driven the Germans out of positions gained when they started their latest offensive. Violent and bloody engagements are raging."]

Heavy Fighting Continues.

BERLIN, Dec. 21 [Official broadcast recorded by (AP)].—The German high command said today that many strong Russian attacks on the eastern front were beaten back in fighting which continued with "undiminished vigor." The Russians made violent attempts to break German lines holding Leningrad encircled, but their tanks and soldiers were repelled with heavy losses, the communique said.

Nazi Engineers Arrive at Tunisia Base, British Hear

New York, Dec. 21.—The British radio said yesterday a number of German engineers have arrived in Bizerte, the French naval base in Tunisia. The broadcast, recorded by CBS, said some of them were transported in Italian submarines.

FIRE DRIVES 25 TO STREET.

Damage of approximately $25,000 was done by fire early yesterday to the Eugenie apartments, 2920 North Lincoln avenue. Twenty-five occupants were driven to the street in their night clothes.

BATTLEFIELD NOW A GRAVEYARD OF NAZI TANKS, MEN

Hulks of Ruined Machines Seen on Moscow Front.

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY.

WITH THE RED ARMY ON THE MOSCOW FRONT, Dec. 21 (AP).—The steel skeletons of two German tank divisions lie along the Klin-Volokolamsk road, a narrow, tunnel-like path winding thru a frosted pine forest, where they were overtaken and smashed by the Red army. [The area is about 60 miles northwest of Moscow.]

The ghastly graveyard of the Nazi armored forces was marked by masses of charred machines, piles of frozen bodies, and a litter of personal belongings.

The German 6th and 7th tank divisions had passed this way. The vengeance visited on them by the Russians indicated that what had started as an orderly withdrawal on the northern flank of the Moscow front was turned into panicky flight and final disaster.

I have just traveled this road thru the cemetery of once proud German armored columns.

It was a trip thru a chamber of horrors depicting in panorama the tragic results of winter battle.

Nearly 1,000 Wrecked Tanks.

Riding over 25 miles of twisting road, I counted nearly 1,000 wrecked tanks, armored cars, troop carriers, trucks, automobiles, and motorcycles.

More than 100 soldiers who once manned those machines lay dead. Other hundreds were buried beneath the snowdrifts under white birch crosses marking mass graves.

Approaching Klin from the east, there already were signs of the German retreat after their defeat in the battle of Moscow at the Volga canal. Tanks had been left at intervals on rises and turns in the road to conduct a rearguard action. Blackened groups of tanks and trucks indicated the spot where the machines stalled or were overtaken.

Civilians were returning to their homes there, digging in the ruins of burned houses and cleaning villages which had escaped the flames of war. Laundry hung from clotheslines. Children played about the hulks of German machines in back yards.

RUSSIAN SPIRITS RISE

BY EDDY GILMORE.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Dec. 21 (AP).—With the Red army on the offensive on a 1,600 mile front and supplies rolling up to the battle line from newly reorganized industries, the end of six months of war finds a wave of high optimism sweeping soviet Russia. Russia's successes made today a happy birthday for Josef Stalin, his 62d.

The lift in morale first became evident with the Russian counter-offensive which drove the Germans out of Rostov-on-Don on Nov. 29. Spirits have mounted steadily everywhere since then, fed by continuous reports of soviet successes and the gradual easing of pressure on Moscow.

Day in and day out radio loud speakers shout news of fresh triumphs. Grim looks are giving way to smiles and laughter.

His Home Town Recaptured.

Long lines form in snowy streets in subzero weather to buy newspapers as they arrive from the presses. One sees a middle aged man scan a paper eagerly, shout with joy, and then hurry away.

"His home town has just been recaptured from the Germans," a friend explains. "He's going to pack."

In six months the Russians have learned much about the art of modern war. American observers here say that Red army leaders not only have learned how to meet Nazi tactics but how to improve upon them and turn the tables on the invaders.

With the weather becoming more severe, soviet ski troops and Cossacks are playing an increasingly important rôle in the campaign. In some quarters they are regarded as more effective than tanks.

Russian guerrillas never have been more active than now. Stories from the front tell of audacious activities of men armed with odd weapons, women wielding pitchforks and boys hurling stolen German grenades.

Estimate Foe's Losses.

Latest Russian estimates put the German dead, wounded, and missing since the start of the war at 7,200,000. They say the Nazis have lost 18,000 tanks, 15,600 planes, and 22,000 big guns.

The Russians acknowledge losses of 2,546,000 in dead, wounded, and missing. They also admit the loss of 9,500 tanks, 7,680 planes, and 15,480 guns.

But to combat the Russian losses in equipment more and more factories are being put into operation far from the battle front. I have seen dozens of factories operating east of the Volga river, and their productive capacity is rising daily.

The Russians violently deny German claims that three-fourths of the country's industry has been destroyed.

The Russian woman has been playing an important rôle both in industry and agriculture. More and more are driving trucks and tractors, taking their places at machines and preparing to handle the spring planting.

SWEDES JOYOUSLY GREET 800 HOME FROM FINN FRONT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 21.—Observers here today declared Sweden's enthusiastic welcome of the 800 Swedish volunteers who aided the Finns in their successful siege of Hango [on the southwest coast of Finland] has reawakened Sweden's interest in Finland's second defensive war against Russia.

The presence of King Gustaf V. and the royal family at the service held at the church in Stockholm yesterday, and the impromptu review of the Swedish fighters in the castle courtyard after the service by the crown prince, Gustaf Adolf, and the commander in chief of the Swedish army, Gen. Tornell, are regarded as an official demonstration of Swedish regard and friendship for Finland.

There was a public demonstration all along the line of march between the royal castle and the Stockholm city hall, where the mayor welcomed the soldiers home for Christmas and treated them to a banquet.

BRITISH IN AFRICA PUSH ON; PREDICT FALL OF BENGAZI

Assert Foe Can't Reform Ranks for Defense.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 21 (AP).—The axis' shattered army in Libya, split and in headlong flight, was pictured by British headquarters tonight as too disorganized to collect its strength for an effective defense of Bengazi, the enemy's last major position east of Tripoli.

Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel's remaining armored forces had been driven to Soluch, about 35 miles south of Bengazi, and Italian infantry was declared virtually isolated northeast of the port.

[Some units of German Gen. Erwin Rommel's African forces are abandoning Bengazi and retreating toward Tripoli, the British radio declared yesterday.]

The rapid pace of the British pursuit, pressed despite severe dust storms, was indicated by the fact that Soluch, inland terminal of a spur railroad from Bengazi, is 160 miles southwest of Derna, whose capture the British announced only yesterday, and 280 miles west of the Egyptian frontier, starting point of the British offensive on Nov. 18.

Silent on Actual Fighting.

Thus, almost overnight, the British had more than doubled the depth of their penetration into Libya. But destruction of the axis forces rather than conquest of ground remained their prime objective.

Exactly how far advanced British patrols had pushed or whether there had been any further major contact with the retreating Germans and Italians was not disclosed.

The only hint of an encounter was the announcement in a singularly brief communique that "in the course of the present phase of our advance 12 German tanks were destroyed and 8 Italian medium tanks captured intact."

It appeared that the pursuit had become such a race there was no time to get messages back reporting its progress step by step.

Transport Lines Raked.

Again, both the general headquarters and RAF communiques stressed the havoc inflicted on long exposed lines of axis motorized transport by incessant air attack.

The loss of 11 British planes was acknowledged but the RAF said that besides taking a heavy toll of machines and troops imperial air forces had struck far behind the fighting zone in air assaults on air bases, railroads, and transports in the far western Libyan province of Tripolitania.

[British air superiority in North Africa is so firm, an air ministry news service report in London said, that bombers and fighters raked an axis motor transport column 10 miles long with bombs and machine gun fire without interruption thruout yesterday.]

The British said that 10,000 prisoners, including 4,000 Germans, have reached prison camps in the Nile valley from the Libyan battlefields.

Suspend Willkie Clubs for Duration of the War

New York, Dec. 21 [Special].—Oren Root Jr., founder of the Associated Willkie clubs, which supported Wendell L. Willkie, defeated candidate for President, and which subsequently became the Independent Clubs of America, announced today the suspension of the organization for the duration of the war. It was said this action had been taken with the approval of Willkie and did not mean that after the emergency the organization would not be revived.

Lost Son in Last War, Two in This, Offers Four More

Humboldt, Tenn., Dec. 21 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Kennington lost one son in the first World war and lost two in the first attack on Pearl Harbor. But the father said today: "I have four more sons. I would give all of them and I, too, would fight to put down such sneaking and deadly enemies as the Japs, Hitler, and Mussolini."

TELLS OF BRITISH RACE AFTER AXIS TROOPS IN LIBYA

Take Few Prisoners; Little Fighting.

BY PRESTON GROVER.

WITH ADVANCED BRITISH AND ALLIED FORCES AT DERNA, Libya, Dec. 19 [Delayed] (AP).—In a month of battle, British forces have reached this halfway point on a victorious march toward Bengazi and have rolled on thru at full speed, trying to reach Germans and Italians retreating in haste.

The dribble of prisoners continues to come from forward patrols a few miles west of the city, but the British have no idea yet as to where the enemy plans to make a stand. In two days of pressing across the desert west of Tobruk only advanced patrols came in touch with the axis forces.

The German withdrawal, while fast, is extremely orderly and only at the airport on the plateau above this little Mediterranean city of white buildings were the Nazis overtaken.

Junkers Crews Taken.

At that point a battery of British artillery reached the edge of the airport just as a number of big Junkers troop transports landed. The artillery immediately opened fire. None of the planes seemed to have been carrying troops, but their crews were killed or captured.

The mixed population of Derna lined the streets as the allies entered, trying to give the proper salute, but, having been overrun three times in this war, the people hardly knew whether to hail Hitler or cheer Churchill.

Prisoners Are Few.

The Germans retreated about 550 miles in two days. No sizable supply dumps were left and only a few scattered Italian prisoners have been taken. The British would much rather capture Germans.

The Germans are very careful in their retirement. They are unrelenting in precautions against raiding parties which in times past have proved so deadly. They allow no campfires before sunrise nor after sunset. They keep a small armored patrol, even with command units, relatively to the rear.

Two hundred miles back when planes were heard overhead it could be assumed that they were British. But today more German planes than British were seen. They passed without gunning or bombing us, however.

Hope for Bengazi Christmas.

The British now speak of spending Christmas at Bengazi.

The first British offensive into Libya went past Bengazi and was turned back only when the Germans put fast tank units across the Mediterranean to help the Italians.

At present the British have the advantage in tank strength but they are looking with anxious eyes on the possibility that Vichy may permit the Germans to land troops in French North Africa. That might put a whole new face on this show.

Planes Circle Church

Madison, Fla., Dec. 21 (AP).—In a simple one hour memorial service, Madison paid tribute today to its home town boy who became America's No. 1 hero of the second World war, Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr.

"His praise will be sung as long as liberty lasts," said the Rev H. R. Latham, while three army planes circled overhead in a special salute to the 27 year old army pilot whose bomber sent the Japanese battleship Haruna to the bottom Dec. 8.

Hundreds were present at the services held in the little Presbyterian church where Kelly worshiped.

His widow, the former Marian Wick, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colin P. Kelly Sr., were among those who heard the Rev. Mr. Latham also say that Capt. Kelly "died that liberty and Christianity might live."

Medals Presented.

MANILA, Dec. 22 [Monday] (AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur personally presented the Distinguished Service cross today to 2d Lieut. Jack K. D. Dale of Willoughby, O., and Capt. Jesus A. Villamor of the Philippine air corps, who won the decoration for daring exploits against the Japs. The general also read a citation to Capt. Colin P. Kelly, who fell to his death after sinking a Japanese battleship. Visibly affected as he read the citation, Gen. MacArthur declared Capt. Kelly's sacrifice would live forever in the memory of the American people.

BRITISH LOSE 2 DESTROYERS IN BATTLE—ROME

Battleship Also Is Hit by Shellfire, Claim.

BERLIN, Dec. 21 [Official broadcast recorded by (AP)].—Italian sources said tonight that two British destroyers were sunk, a battleship hit by shellfire, and several other ships hit by bombs and torpedoes in a clash last Wednesday night with an Italian naval force in the Gulf of Sirte.

They added that the British fled behind a smoke screen.

As a result, the dispatches said, an important convoy was forced thru to its destination.

Battle was Foreseen.

Reporting the action mentioned in Rome's Saturday communique, these sources said the Italian high command had foreseen that the British would attempt to prevent passage of the convoy.

Accordingly, the Italians sent out a naval squadron, posted submarines to watch British naval movements from Malta and Alexandria, and detached all the airplanes which could be spared from African operations.

The naval units intercepted a strong British naval squadron, escorted by air squadrons, about sunset, it was said.

Claim Italian Ships Undamaged.

With Italian warships and planes joining in the action, the two British destroyers were declared to have been sunk by shell fire. The battleship, too, was hit by shells, while bombs and torpedoes from the planes hit several more British ships.

After a few minutes, it was said, the British squadron changed course and withdrew under the protection of falling dusk and an artificial fog.

Not a single Italian ship was damaged, it was reported.

[The Italian communique Saturday said a light British naval unit was sunk and another hit, probably fatally, and a large ship damaged. A British communique from Cairo said two transports, one of 8,000 tons and another of 2,000 tons, were sunk from a heavily guarded convoy near Tripoli on Tuesday when naval aircraft shot torpedoes at four ships.]

Tokio Denies Jap Planes Sank Russian Freighter

TOKIO, Dec. 21 [Official Radio Recorded by Associated Press.].—Both naval and army authorities denied vehemently today that there was any foundation to reports from the Netherlands East Indies yesterday that 17 Japanese planes sank the soviet steamer Perekop, plying between Vladivostok in Siberia and Surabaya in the Indies. Authorities said the report was coined to estrange Japan and Russia.

Revolvers and Police Stars Uncovered When River Falls

Two rusted revolvers and five special police stars were found on the Chicago river wall near the Washington street bridge yesterday by Policeman Stephen Langadora of the Des Plaines street station. The objects were uncovered when the level of the river was lowered four feet. Police were attempting to identify them. At the locks at the mouth of the river workmen said the drop in the level was an experiment and that the stream will be back at its normal height today.

Three bandits in a Checker taxicab last night curbed the auto of Paul Manaster, 424 South Hamlin avenue, in the west drive of Humboldt park. Two of them forced him to drive to 2948 Thomas street where they robbed him of $230, then all three fled in the cab, which had followed. Manaster operates a filling station at 3500 North Halsted street.

Two little girls, 3 months and 5 years old, were found abandoned yesterday in a rooming house at 2204 Orchard street and taken to St. Vincent's orphanage. Their mother, believed to be a Mrs. Ellie Dye, was last seen Saturday night.

The landlady, Mrs. Rosine Brucker, told police she had found the children alone in the apartment, which had been occupied for two weeks by a couple giving the name of "Mr. and Mrs. Best." A note in the apartment, signed with the initials E. D., said "Please call orphanage."

The older child said her name is Donna Dye and the baby is Josephine, her sister. She said her father's name is Henry Jager. Mrs. Brucker said Best had not been in the room for about a week. She last saw the mother Saturday. She said the children's crying woke her early yesterday and she investigated.

ALLIES FACE BIG DECISION: WHAT'S MOST VITAL WAR?

It's Russian Front vs. Far East in Priorities.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Problems of strategy to be decided by the supreme allied war council, now said to be in process of formation, were discussed in newspapers here today. The big question is whether the Russian or the Japanese front should be given priority in war supplies.

"You can shake your head as much as you like about events in the Pacific and China sea, but there in Russia the decisive development of the war is taking place," writes John R. Gordon, editor of the Sunday Express.

Far Eastern "Blitz" Feared.

But J. L. Garvin, editor of the Sunday Observer, asserts: "It is impossible to overstate the gravity of the far east crisis for the British empire and the United States." As a result of Pacific developments, he points out, "the Japanese blitzkrieg is progressing in a manner and at a rate that no one of us in Britain or America conceived to be possible before the Hawaiian coup was effected on one side of the Pacific, and two British capital ships went down on the other."

Garvin believes long term factors are overwhelmingly against the axis powers only if the cumulative development of British and American resources is undisturbed. He regards the Japanese invasion of the vast archipelagoes of the East Indies and the mainland of Asia as a dangerous threat to vital raw materials which the allies could replace only with difficuty. He contends "Japan's advances must be stopped in Malaya," which would necessitate large reinforcements.

Says Singapore Must Be Held.

Singapore, too, he says, "must be held at all costs" pending "great joint action of American with British ships in far eastern waters." Only "thru the restored supremacy of English speaking powers in Asiatic seas" can Japan be defeated, and unless this is done, he argues, "military agencies of Russia and China cannot be brought into full play for the total allied offensive."

More and more newspapers have been demanding a radical shakeup in the British high command. "Kick out the failures," demands Gordon, whose paper is one of those belonging to Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply. "The British empire has reached a crisis in its history when we can no longer afford the luxury of promoting our duds to still dizzier heights, instead of kicking them out."

Crete Lesson Forgotten.

The Sunday Graphic denounces events in the far east as "not misfortune, but blunders," pointing out that lack of air protection caused serious naval losses in Crete and also was responsible for the sinking of the battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse by the Japanese planes off Malaya.

Most military experts for newspapers are now demanding that the air force be put directly under the navy and army, and not be a separate fighting service, as at present. The Sunday Graphic says it would be "inexcusable" to continue the system whereby the army fights without direct control of the air force.

Casualties

Three Chicagoland names were added yesterday to the toll of dead and missing in the war of the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lounsbury, Woodstock, were notified by the navy that their son, Thomas William, 20 year old seaman, was "missing following action in the performance of his duty." Young Lounsbury enlisted 14 months ago.

Arthur Russett, a naval warrant officer, formerly of Chicago, was killed in action in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He was 46 years old, and had been in the navy 17 years. He attended Lane Technical High school.

Word that Eugene Fitzsimmons, 20 years old, 613 Gates street, Aurora, was "missing and probably dead" was telegraphed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fitzsimmons, by the navy.

George B. Jacobson, Seymour and Park avenues, Grayslake, was notified last night by the navy department that his son, Herbert B. Jacobson, 21 years old, was officially missing since the attack on Honolulu. Young Jacobson was a fireman third class, last known to have been serving aboard the battleship Oklahoma, reported capsized.

Another Aurora family, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dumdle, 414 Front street, received a cablegram from their son, Herbert, 21, a sailor in the Pacific battle zone. With the cable, which read, "Merry Christmas—all's well," came a $100 draft as a Christmas gift.

Mr. and Mrs. John Risting, 1247 North Springfield avenue, received a phone call yesterday from their son, John, 20 years old, who is a soldier in Hawaii. "Everybody's fine," he said, "and boy! what we won't do to those Japs."

TIMOR FACED JAP MENACE, BRITAIN TELLS PORTUGAL

Defends Occupation of Far East Island.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 21.—As tho to mollify the Portuguese government for the occupation of its half of the Island of Timor, off the Australian coast, an official statement was released by the British government tonight.

After referring to exchanges of British and Portuguese views regarding the "danger of hostile action by the Japanese against Timor in the event of hostilities between the British empire and Japan," the statement said Japanese submarines appeared off the island Dec. 15 and made necessary immediate steps by allied military commanders. Occupation by Australian and Dutch forces ensued.

"Jap Treachery" Blasts Hopes.

It had been hoped, the statement added, that there would be time to work out detailed plans for British assistance in defending Timor—assistance which had been offered and which the Portuguese government was willing to accept.

"Unfortunately, however, before these plans could be completed," the statement averred, "a fundamental change in the situation was brought about by Japan's sudden act of treachery on Dec. 7."

The statement reiterates the pledge previously given the Portuguese government, that "troops which have entered Timor will be withdrawn as soon as the emergency with which they came to deal is past."

[In some circles the British statement was regarded as an answer to Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar who told the national assembly in Lisbon last Friday that the Portuguese territory in the far east had been occupied before any threat of attack appeared and while Portugal was discussing a common defense.]

Hitler Eyes Atlantic Isles.

Meanwhile, London heard Adolf Hitler was exerting pressure on both Portugal and Spain in connection with their islands in the Atlantic. Hitler was said to be demanding use of Spain's Canary Islands as sea and air bases and Reynolds News asserted "Nazi engineers and ground staffs already have arrived on the Spanish islands."

Pressure on Portugal, it was stated, seeks to forestall possible British occupation of the Azores.

The Reynolds News declares the axis is planning a dual attack on Africa by way of Spain, Portugal, and the Straits of Gibraltar, and on Turkey, the latter "as a by-pass bid for the Caucasus and Iran oil fields."

According to this paper, Sukru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, already has informed the Turkish cabinet of German plans. These plans are said to provide for a combined German, Bulgarian, and Italian attack on Turkey thru Bulgaria and Greece, with the Italian fleet assisting in a two sided sea attack in the Aegean and Black seas.

Take Action in Cape Verde Isles.

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 21 (AP).—It was announced today without elaboration that the Portuguese colonial minister had arrived at the Cape Verde Islands to put into effect plans for "coöperation" between Portuguese Guinea, on the west coast of Africa, and Portugal's Cape Verde Islands, lying off that coast. [The Portuguese have been consistently reinforcing their garrisons in these strategically placed colonial possessions.]

Diario de Noticias followed up Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar's Friday address on the Dutch-Australian occupation of Portuguese Timor in the far east by emphasizing his statement that "the question is not finished and must be." The newspaper said that "the universal conscience" would protest against the action taken against "neutral, unarmed territory."

JAPS IN NEW GUINEA, ROME REPORTS; CALL IT AN ANSWER TO TIMOR

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—The Rome radio was heard here tonight declaring that "it is confirmed from many sources that Japanese troops have carried out a landing in New Guinea, which is of great strategic importance." New Guinea, half Dutch and half under an Australian mandate, is directly north of Australia.

"The occupation of New Guinea has the substance of a direct answer to the British invasion of the island of Timor," the Rome radio said.

"The only difference is that, while the Japanese landed on enemy soil, the British took possession of territory belonging to a neutral country to which Great Britain is bound by an alliance."

The Italian announcement of the reported New Guinea landing has not been substantiated by any Tokio broadcast.

Five Persons, One a Baby, Die as Home Burns Down

Burlington, N. J., Dec. 21 [Special].—Five persons, including a 10 weeks old infant, died today in a fire that destroyed a three room frame bungalow in Burlington township, about three miles from this city. Firemen recovered the bodies from the ruins only after flames had completely razed the flimsy structure. James J. Tomes, county coroner, said the five bodies were found in bed, and that they apparently were suffocated by the fumes of an overheated cabinet oil stove before they were burned.

Canadian Student, Teacher Killed in Crash of Plane

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 21 (AP).—Pilot Officer R. McCree of De Soto, Minn., a student, and Pilot Officer F. N. Hilton of Belleville, instructor, were killed yesterday when their royal Canadian air force training plane crashed apparently while attempting a forced landing. They were from the nearby Trenton air base.

Anti-Aircraft Fire Heard on Thames; No Bombs Fall

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Heavy anti-aircraft fire and the sound of machine guns was heard tonight in the Thames estuary, but no bombing was reported. Bombs dropped in northeast England last night caused some damage and injured one person. Some coastal districts also were bombed.

NEWFOUNDLAND CUSTOMS DUTIES IRK AMERICANS

British Colony Asks Tax on USO Goods.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Passed by United States army and navy censors and British imperial censor.]

[Third Article.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F. [By Mail].—The greatest argument between local authorities and the American nationals, who began pouring into this British colony a year ago to set up defense bases, is over the question of customs duties.

Newfoundland's government is proposing to levy the regular customs duties and war taxes on goods sold in the new United Service organizations recreational building, a handsome $185,000 structure the American army is erecting in the heart of St. John's, the capital city.

What this means to the USO and the soldiers and sailors who will frequent the building when on leave, may be brought home by the fact that a package of standard brand American cigarets, with heavy duties piled on it, costs 32 cents in the stores of this city.

Army Defends USO.

Army authorities argued that the USO building comes within the provisions of the defense bases agreement setting forth that all goods imported into the areas leased by the United States should be duty free.

Just as strongly, the Newfoundland government insisted the American servicemen would not be carrying out military functions on the USO premises and therefore the duties applied. They pointed out that the Canadian hostels, the local Caribou hut, and other recreation centers paid duties on articles they sold.

The peppy little American Legion post organized among the Americans employed on the base projects up here was forced to alter its plans for a Christmas party for the poor children of St. John's when the colonial government refused to permit the toys to enter duty free.

Own Citizens Pay Duty.

Goods and articles in the army posts, naval quarters and base construction camps are sold free of duty, with one odd quirk, American skilled workmen and the common laborers from Newfoundland are segregated into separate mess halls because the local government charges duty on the food its own people eat.

Customs duties account for about 80 per cent of the country's revenue. They are imposed to raise money to run the government rather than on the theory of protecting any local industries. Collections are soaring.

According to the official estimates made public by the Newfoundland government, import tax collections are expected to bound from $9,238,040 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, to $12,524,540 this current fiscal year, a leap of 26 per cent. They may go even higher.

Newfoundland's Best Customer.

During the last fiscal year the United States became Newfoundland's best customer, taking $13,493,080 worth of the colony's exports, while the United Kingdom absorbed products valued at $11,170,637. In the previous year Newfoundland's exports to the United States amounted to $9,786,481, while the United Kingdom's share was $11,001,234.

There is a preferential tariff for British goods. By way of example, a duty of 30 per cent is levied on the importation of an American made automobile while the tax drops to 20 per cent on a British motor car. An additional 7½ per cent war tax is piled on each.

Mounting prices are falling most heavily upon persons of small income. Hardest hit are the fishermen from the quaint little outport hamlets dotting the rugged coastline who come into St. John's to lay in their winter supply of salt pork, salt beef, hard bread, and canned goods. Flour, for political reasons, has never been taxed.

"Midwest" Eggs 90c a Dozen.

A stroll along Water street, the main shopping thorofare, tells the tale. To mention a few prices in the store windows—eggs, cold storage and advertised as "middle western," 90 cents a dozen; oranges, 60 cents a dozen; bituminous coal from Nova Scotia, $20 a ton, and Pennsylvania anthracite, $24; celery, 60 cents a stalk; cauliflower, 60 cents a head.

Members of the American colony, when they are off the bases and in the city, protest at the prices.

INDO-CHINA RULER NAMED PACIFIC COMMISSIONER

VICHY, Dec. 21.—Adm. Jean Decoux, governor general of Indo-China, has assumed the office of French high commissioner in the Pacific, it was announced officially today. He assumes direction of the various French possessions in the Pacific which early in the conflict passed under control of the British and the De Gaullists. They include New Caledonia, French Oceania, the French territories in India, and the French portion of the New Hebrides.

The purpose, it is explained, is principally to safeguard French rights to the Pacific possessions much in the same way as Gen. Henri Dentz remains in the office of high commissioner for Syria and the Lebanon, in order to make plain that France has not renounced her rights to the near east mandate.

Plane Crash Fatal

[Air Corps Photo.]

RULE AIR CADET APPLICANTS CAN STAY IN COLLEGE

Lieut. Carl G. Olson of the naval aviation cadet selective board yesterday announced enlistment modifications that will permit naval air applicants to finish their current school years before entering active service.

The naval air service requires a minimum of two years of college. Under the new arrangements juniors and seniors, who automatically meet that minimum, may sign up now and if they wish, may defer their start of active duty until after the end of their present year's studies.

Sophomores, or second year students, also will be granted that privilege, but with stricter requirements. First they must produce letters from registrars indicating that they show reasonable expectancy of successfully finishing their second year.

Then they may sign up, but once having done so it is up to them to meet the scholastic requirements of their second year. If they fail they are barred from the air service, but are still in the navy, and subject to general naval duty. Efforts will be made however, to fit them into suitable services, allied with the air branch. Applicants must have reached their 20th birthday but not their 27th, and be unmarried.

BISHOP SAYS AXIS CAN'T KEEP U. S. SUCCESS SECRET

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman asserted today he did not believe axis leaders could squelch the thought among their peoples that America was "on the level and on the square" or that they could "suppress the knowledge that America has been invariably victorious."

"And we shall be victorious again," he said, "cost what it may, in blood, tears, and sweat."

Archbishop Spellman, military vicar of the nation's armed forces, spoke in connection with his blessing of the National Catholic Community Service clubhouse here.

"The chief responsibility for victory is still on our soldiers, sailors, marines, and flying men, but essential responsibility is also on all the rest of us," Archbishop Spellman said.

"We shall not forget the blood that has been spilt but we shall forget the irremediable past and the 15 month loss of our 24,000,000 man-days of defense effort and the 10 thousand unproduced planes. We shall forget everything else but our honored dead and the peace with justice after victory."

FIVE DIE AS ARMY PLANE CRASHES; ONE A CHICAGOAN

Believe Engine Failure Probable Cause.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 21 (AP).—An army B-26 bomber crashed, exploded, and burned near the Jackson airbase today, killing its crew of five. Col. J. H. Houghton, airbase commander, said the dead, with their home addresses and next of kin, where known, were:

Second Lieut. Leslie M. Shimeall, 3629 West 64th street, Chicago, Ill., mother and widow.

First Lieut. John E. Doer, married and living in Jackson, formerly of Orchard Place, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Second Lieut. Claude A. Knight, R. F. D. No. 2, Ocala, Fla., mother, Mrs. T. D. Knight.

Second Lieut. Robert A Saner, 528 North Jackson street, Fremont, O.

Staff Sergt. Harold A. Wissinger, R F. D. No. 2, Indiana, Pa.

Col. Houghton said the cause of the crash had not been determined, but that apparently it was engine failure.

"The plane had just taken off," he said. "It made a turn, apparently trying to get back to the airport, then crashed."

Residents nearby said the plane first struck a telephone line near a railroad track, then smashed into the track, snapping one steel rail. It fell finally to a gravel road paralleling the track, exploded and burned. The blast shook houses nearly a mile away.

City police and troops immediately surrounded the area, barring civilians from approaching nearer than a quarter mile.

CHICAGOAN EX-LINDBLOM BOY.

Second Lieut. Leslie M. Shimeall, 25 years old, was a graduate of Lindblom High school and attended the University of Illinois for two years. He had been a member of the Black Horse troop and enlisted in the air corps early this year. He was sent to Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., for training and was graduated Sept. 26. In a letter to his mother last Saturday he wrote he had been transferred to Jackson for "intensive training." Surviving is his mother, Mrs. Mabel Shimeall, a widow, of 3629 West 64th street, two brothers and four sisters.

PARENTS ARE ADVISED TO SPEAK CALMLY IN COMMENTING ON WAR

Parents should talk frankly but calmly about the war as the best means of avoiding harmful psychological effects on the young, three educators agreed yesterday on the Northwestern University Reviewing Stand over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The one hour discussion and audience question period was led by Dr. Paul J. Misner, superintendent of Glencoe public schools; Dr. Kenneth Heaton, research associate and lecturer in higher education at Northwestern university, and Miss Helen Ross, research associate of the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis.

Speaking on the question, "What shall we teach our children about war this Christmas?" the speakers laid down the following rules for parents and teachers:

Don't avoid talking about the war in front of your children, but don't harp on it too much.

Don't disarm them of their war toys; they'll play at war with broomsticks and makeshift toys anyway.

Treat all war subjects calmly and realistically, but don't scare them with horror stories.

SAILOR ON SUB SAYS IT'S SAFER THAN IN MANILA

MANILA, Dec. 21 (AP).—"It's tougher'n hell out there, but we can take it," said a big unshaven American bluejacket, ashore from a submarine for the first time in two weeks.

His submarine for 11 days and nights was busy combing far eastern waters for enemy ships. "We played hide and seek with Jap ships and planes for 11 days," he related. "We threw lots of fish [torpedoes] at them. We got caught short on water and didn't have a face wash for 11 days, but there was enough for drinking and cooking."

The big sailor's conversation halted abruptly as an air raid alarm sounded. Then he said:

"Damned if it isn't dangerous around here. Believe you me, I don't like these air raids. I'm going back to my ship and hope we shove off pronto. I feel safer at sea than bottled up here where Jap airmen can get a crack at me."

3 BROTHERS LOST WHEN OKLAHOMA SANK IN HAWAII

New London, Wis., Dec. 21 (AP).—The war department today notified Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barber that three of their five sons had been reported missing in action after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

The sons who presumably lost their lives were Malcolm, 22 years old, Leroy, 21, and Randolph, 19. The father, a mink farmer, said all had been serving as firemen on the former battleship Oklahoma, which was reported to have capsized.

They had been stationed at Pearl Harbor for a year, going there shortly after enlistment. The Barbers have two other sons, Clayton, 16, and Robert, 9.

SANTA PREPARED FOR BIG DAY AT SERVICE CAMPS

Not Even a War Can Keep Jolly Fellow Away.

Santa Claus may be wearing a blitz-proof helmet, but he has ways of getting around war obstacles to warm the hearts of soldiers and sailors spending their first Christmas away from home.

At Scott Field near Belleville the jolly Mr. Whiskers will swoop down in one of the army's newest warplanes. At Camp Grant he plans to make his entrance in a rugged jeep buggy. These plans indicate the lengths to which officers as well as men are going to welcome Santa.

There is nothing perfunctory about the programs the armed services will have to carry on Christmas in the American way. Behind the khaki and blue uniforms are men, and behind the men are their boyhoods with all that the holiday means to them.

Fort Sheridan Program.

At Fort Sheridan, where 75 per cent of the men must remain on duty, no efforts have been spared by Col. Fredrick C. Rogers, commanding officer. Receptions from 6 to 9 p. m. by the United Service Organizations in Highland Park and Highwood on Christmas eve will be followed by a movie and stage show in the Alcyon theater in Highland Park. From 4 to 6 p. m. there will be entertainment at the Highland Park community center.

Children of Fort Sheridan will have their own Christmas celebration at 3 p. m. in the theater at the post.

At 7 p. m. Wednesday, 35 soldiers and wives will gather about a 30 foot Yule tree near the Service club and sing carols. Later in the evening a dance at the post will compete with the entertainment in nearby towns for the presence of the soldiers.

Chanute Field at Rantoul is ready for the biggest Christmas in the history of this air corps technical training school. Only 25 per cent of the men are eligible for special 36 hour passes.

Christmas Trees Twinkle.

Twinkling Christmas trees are mounted in mess halls, recreation centers, and officers' homes. All squadrons have decorated their day rooms with the accent on originality. Around the big community tree on the field there will be caroling at 6:30 p. m. Christmas eve, after which soldiers will stroll from barracks to barracks singing all the old Yuletide songs.

Post chapels and nearby churches are planning special services for Christmas eve. Chanute Field's new Air Force band will make its formal debut with a Christmas day concert.

A 31 item menu, featuring roast turkey and all the trimmings of civilian life will be served in decorated mess halls. Equally bounteous feasts will be served at all other army posts, it has been announced.

Almost 1,000 Chanute field soldiers however have accepted invitations to have Christmas dinner with families in nearby communities.

Soldiers Remember Needy.

At Scott field, officers and men have collected funds to purchase food and clothing for the needy in nearby towns. Other parties for underprivileged children are being planned at which youngsters will receive toys, candy, and fruit and be entertained by the soldiers.

Here, as at Camp Grant, Fort Brady, and several other posts, there will be carol singing and religious services. The USO is arranging dances and other entertainment.

Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, commanding the 6th corps area, expressed his thanks to the thousands of families in the area who have opened their homes to receive soldiers as holiday guests.

Chicago high school workshops have turned out more than 10,000 games for men at Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes Naval Training station. These include darts, ring toss, checkers, chess, backgammon, jigsaw, wire, and block puzzles, shuffleboard, and cribbage boards.

Must Remain at Posts.

The 10,500 sailors and marines in the 9th naval district will have to spend Christmas at their posts. At Fort Sheridan, a full program was arranged early for Great Lakes.

However, it was an urgent plea from Capt. W. W. Elder, chaplain at the Navy Pier Training school, which resulted in bringing plans for 1,500 men at this post up to the mark, according to Jeffrey R. Short, president of the Chicago USO.

Entertainment at the Navy pier auditorium from 6:30 to 9 p. m. Christmas eve will include a movie, group singing of Christmas carols, and distribution of gift packages. Chicago business firms have contributed to place in each package, among other items, cigarets, soap, tooth paste, razor blades, shaving cream, shoe polish, chewing gum, hard candies, and address books.

Bundles for Bluejackets, a women's organization, is determined to fill gift stockings for all of the 10,500 sailors and marines in this district.

THE TRIBUNE'S "Adopt a Yank for Christmas" movement caught hold at once and more than 16,000 citizens volunteered to send gifts to boys they never knew.

These gifts will go to men of Illinois' own 33d division at Camp Forrest, Tullahoma, Tenn., the 106th cavalry at Camp Livingston, Alexandria, La., and to the sailors at Great Lakes and Navy pier.

THE QUESTION.

Do you have a white elephant in your home?

WHERE ASKED.

Postoffice building, Canal and Van Buren.

THE ANSWERS.

Weston Pannier, army private, Chippewa Falls, Wis.—Yes, we have a piece of furniture up in our attic that's so absolutely worthless that I bet we'd have a hard time getting rid of it if we put it out on the street. It's one of those low, hard seated, high backed sofas that's been around our house as long as I can remember. I know no one's used it for at least 20 years.

Herbert L. Spitzer, cosmetician, 406 Washington avenue, Wilmette—For 15 years we've had one of those old-fashioned cabinet radios in the corner of our living room. It isn't nice to look at and hasn't played a tune for years. It hasn't a bit of sentimental value and I don't know why we don't toss it out. But we haven't and I don't suppose we ever will.

Aphrodite Papajohn, clerk, 6133 Marshfield avenue—A few years ago that pink dressmaker's model was a reasonable facsmile of my own figure, but now time has changed all that and it's really a white elephant! It takes up too much space in my closet and so gets moved from place to place. I don't think I'll ever use it again and it's something that can't be sold these days.

Madeline Renella, file clerk, 2023 West Harrison street—Whenever you buy one of those modern time and space saver gadgets they sooner or later seem to land in the white elephant class. We have one of those fan shaped clothes racks with the prongs sticking out in every direction that no one ever uses. People bump into it once in awhile in the closet but otherwise it seems to have no purpose.

Thomas Hanley, salesman, 147 West 72d place—The white elephant in our house used to have a prominent place in the living room until we got hard hearted and moved it to the basement. Now I'm afraid we'll still have to put up with it for all time. Years ago my wife used to play it but now it's a piano with not a tune left in it.

Frank Hall, investigator for gas company, 4812 Main street, Evanston,—We have two of them in our house. Two old-fashioned big clocks that haven't ticked for ages. My father and mother bought them long ago and now we keep giving them space in the living room and the closet. Bet we couldn't give them away.

ST. PETER'S AGAIN DEPICTS AGE OLD NATIVITY SCENE

Except for the modern neon lights which blaze out the words "Glory to God and Peace to Men," above an outdoor crib completed yesterday at St. Peter's church, 816 South Clark street, which depicts the scene of the Nativity, the replica has changed little from the year 1223 when St. Francis, the founder of the Franciscan order of which members of St. Peter's rectory are members, built his conception of the manger at Bethlehem in a forest near Greccio, Italy. Thru the centuries, St. Francis' conception of the crib has been followed. Each year since 1935 when St. Peter's became the first church in the city to erect an outdoor crib, the replica has grown larger. This year it is 72 feet long, 30 feet high, and 10 feet deep, according to the Rev. Leander Conley, pastor.

CHICAGO DEFEATS ITS WORST FOE, HYSTERIA: KELLY

Emotion Quickly Yields to Action, He Says.

Chicago, a 24 hour a day defense center, has defeated the worst enemy—hysteria. Mayor Kelly, as defense coördinator for the metropolitan area, claimed this accomplishment yesterday in a radio broadcast in which he sought to quiet possible fears.

"Emotion has given place to action," the mayor said. "Facts are what we want now. We have no time for idle rumor. We have a job to do and we will let nothing distract us from it. Because Chicago has accepted the challenge calmly and with resolve, our worst enemy—hysteria—is already licked."

He spoke from the new headquarters of the Chicago commission on national defense at 23 North Wacker drive, into microphones of W-G-N and other local stations. He did not give specific instructions as to how citizens should deal with various emergencies, saying that these will be issued soon in printed form.

Blackouts Unlikely Now.

"Let's not be frightened by talk of that bogey-man called blackouts," he said. "It is even possible that Chicago will not be called upon in the near future to impose a blackout.

"And in no case will blackouts be regularly scheduled or of long duration. Experience and study have determined that the 'light up' method also can be used effectively. This and camouflage or both may be used."

Many countries have found that by brightly lighting cities, but in such manner as to conceal or disguise vital targets, better results are obtained than by blackouts. The mayor added that such plans are within the province of the army.

"A complete air raid signal system will be installed," he said, adding that it was at his order that the police and fire departments and other operators of emergency vehicles are replacing sirens with gongs. Sirens will be used only for air raid alarms.

No Spying Tactics Here.

In describing his plan for 20,000 block air raid wardens, the mayor dealt with the suspicion of some observers that these men might constitute a petty spy system prying into personal affairs and interfering with American freedom.

"I want to say right now that there will be no Hitler spy tactics permitted," said the defense coördinator. "This will be a friendly, neighborly, helpful group of American people, working with one common thought and purpose—the defense of home and family.

"There will be no orders issued unless, and until, they are absolutely necessary. This is a democratic country. We get results thru coöperative effort, not force. And I want to say this: Follow only official instructions."

Medals will be issued for civilian valor in home defense, as has been done in Great Britain, he said.

Air Raid Precautions.

William F. Waugh, appointed by Gov. Green to organize the state-wide air raid precautions service in cooperation with Mayor Kelly, said he will confer today with Maj. Raymond Kelly, regional director of civilian defense about starting his task. Curtis N. Cation, state commander of the American Legion, promised the governor the enlistment of as many of the 92,000 Legion members in Illinois as are needed for defense duty.

A Lake county group of private plane pilots began practice observation flights to select men best qualified to accompany pilots on such ventures. Nine planes covered 4,000 square miles and the observers filed competitive reports on what they had seen. Wayne Carpenter, manager of the Waukegan airport, said there are 39 members whom he will seek to affiliate with the official air patrols now being organized by the federal and state governments.

DRUMS STOLEN FROM AUTO.

Drums and accessories were taken early yesterday from an automobile in a garage behind 5918 South Marshfield avenue, the owner, Kenneth Dobes, 21 years old, 5858 South Ashland avenue, reported to police.

STIMSON RELIES ON BOMBERS TO DEFEND FAR EAST

Reveals Faith in Report Before Jap Attack.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson hinted today in one of his annual reports drafted on the eve of the Japanese attack that "revolutionary" reliance was being placed on American long range bombers for defense in the far east.

Noting that the vast expansion of the aviation industry was "now making possible a striking arm of extreme mobility and phenomenal range," the war secretary said:

"The recently demonstrated effectiveness of air power as against sea power in the confined limits of the Mediterranean has suggested revolutionary possibilities for the defense of American interests in the similar seas of the southwestern Pacific.

Check Attacks Far Off Coast.

"It has also suggested the enormous powers of a hemispheric defense which, radiating from the manufacturers and training grounds of the United States and taking advantage of our now existing ocean and continental bases, may strike at and ward off aggressive hostile sea power long before it is able to approach our shores."

[Since Stimson's report was drafted war has broken out. Japanese airmen have scored notable successes against surface vessels. American pilots have sunk an enemy battleship and other craft. The United States' bomber production program has been doubled.]

Covering the nation's efforts to reenforce military defenses mainly during the 12 months up to last June 30, Stimson reported that the mounting importance of air power had "powerfully affected our plans and organizations."

Opposes Independent Air Force.

With the admonition that "this is no time for the intervention of arbitrary or ill-advised experiments," he opposed such reorganization proposals as the creation of an independent air force. The experience of this war, he said, has demonstrated that a unity of command is necessary.

The acquisition of a new string of offshore Atlantic bases, the lend-lease arrangement, and expansion of the army to more than 1,800,000 men, Stimson asserted, constituted a consistent, harmonious program of defense.

The army was expanded, he said, for the primary purposes of preparing to beat off by air power any naval attack from overseas, to cope with any hostile expeditionary forces threatening the western continent, and to save the United States from conquest by a mass invasion.

Planes, Ships Not Enough.

"Uninformed critics have suggested that the country could be protected by a naval and air effort alone," he said. "This is far from the fact.

"The garrisons alone of our foreign outposts and possessions require an aggregate of over 200,000 men; and this disregards entirely the mobile forces which must be immediately necessary to reënforce those garrisons or to defeat the possible blows of the veteran axis armies aimed at us thru other approaches to our continent."

And—writing his report before the Japanese attack—he asserted:

"Portions of the African and Asiatic continents have suddenly become possible bases from which landings may be made upon South America or Alaska or the Philippines. These last places are areas which we are under obligation, morally or legally, to defend, and an attack on any one would be a heavy blow at our continental safety and vital interests."

16 American Missionaries Safe After Fleeing Japs

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 21 (AP).—Sixteen American missionaries headed by Dr. Ralph A. Ward of Lorain, O., who has been serving as Methodist bishop of West China, have arrived safely in the interior from Shanghai and Wuhu, friends were informed in telegrams today. The party which headed for the interior when the Pacific war started was believed making its way to Chungking.

Milwaukee Recovers 13,300 Tons of Rails for Defense

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 21 [Special].—Steel rails weighing more than 13,300 tons of 2,240 pounds have been recovered from abandoned street car tracks in Milwaukee and suburbs and sold to industry for defense purposes, E. J. Archambault, engineer of way for the Milwaukee Transport company, said today. He said there are still 4,500 long tons of steel embedded in pavements where street car service has been replaced by buses and trackless trolleys, but it would be uneconomical to repave the streets just to get the scrap rails.

MARTIN PLEDGES G. O. P. SUPPORT 'TO A MAN IN WAR'

Insists Elections Be Held, Seeks to Win.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—The Republican party "will support President Roosevelt to a man in the war effort", but it expects national and state elections to be held next year and will fight to win, Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., chairman of the Republican national committee, said tonight.

Jos. W. Martin Jr.

Martin's statement on G. O. P. policy was contained in a letter to all Republican state chairmen and vice chairmen notifying them that a meeting called for Jan. 22 in Washington, D. C., has been postponed because of the war.

Ridicules End of Elections.

The congressman from Massachusetts ridiculed reports that congressional elections may not be held next fall or that the two-party system may be abandoned. He also urged that Lincoln day celebrations be held in every state and made great patriotic demonstrations.

"Let us publicly proclaim our support of the administration in an irresistible effort to win the war," Martin wrote. "We can at the same time with full consistency uphold the great principles for which our party stands.

"The entrance of the United States in the World war has altered the political picture," he said. "We are, first of all, Americans. We will, of course, give the President our complete coöperation and support in winning the war. Nothing must be allowed to interfere in the vigorous, efficient prosecution of the battle to preserve American freedom.

Will Do Full Part.

"I have informed the President we stand ready, as a party, to respond to any call for war or defense service he may make. We will do our full part to help unite this great nation in its struggle against aggression.

"It has been repeatedly asked if unity in the war effort means the 1942 elections will be set aside and the two-party system abandoned.

"The answer is no. The constitution requires congressional elections to be held every two years. We can not as a nation set aside these elections without amending the constitution. If we dispensed with the elections we would be discontinuing our American form of government. Once discontinued, it might be impossible to restore. It must not be forgotten the war is for the preservation of our system of government and our way of life.

Must Keep Two-Party System.

"The Republican party will support President Roosevelt to a man in the war effort, but it expects senatorial, congressional, and state elections to be held next year and it will fight to win.

"We must retain the two-party system. This is essential to protect the liberties of the people and to maintain the American form of government.

Martin added that the country needs a strong, patriotic Republican organization to aid in the prosecution of the war and in solving the great problems which will come with victory and peace.

SEEK TO BUILD RESERVE STORE OF AMBULANCES

A large reserve of ambulances for use in America or abroad is wanted by the British American Ambulance corps, according to announcement made yesterday by William V. C. Ruxton, national president, and released thru Edward R. Lewis, acting midwest chairman.

American cities will continue to be supplied with ambulances as necessity may dictate, Ruxton said. In general, however, he said, vehicles will be sent where the greatest need may arise, whether at home or abroad.

The practice of accepting ambulances for any designated area cannot be followed any longer, inasmuch as America is in the war, Ruxton said. Funds are sought to build up the reserve supply. Each ambulance costs $2,000.

Margaret Carter (left) and Phyllis McGinnis at the detective bureau yesterday.

Carl Kracher, 21 years old, 3859 North Ashland avenue, was picked out of a detective bureau showup yesterday as a bandit less than 12 hours after he and a companion had been routed in the act of holding up a hotel at 5016 Winthrop avenue and his companion had been shot by a policeman.

Carl Kracher.

The companion is Syd Olken, 21, of 4418 North Drake avenue, who was recognized by the hotel's night clerk, John Feuring, as the man who had held up the hotel five times before.

Michael Kerrigan, a policeman from Summerdale station, was waiting when the pair tried the stickup early yesterday. He shot Olken, but Kracher escaped, only to surrender to police a few minutes later. In a car outside the hotel were two girl companions who were arrested. They were Phyllis McGinnis, 18, of 3746 Wayne avenue, and Margaret Carter, 25, of 954 Cuyler avenue.

Jack LaVern, cashier of a hotel at 1205 North La Salle street, and Sarah Reynolds, "26" girl at 5016 Winthrop, identified Kracher.

SPECIAL SESSION RESUMES WORK; DEADLOCK SEEN

Expectations of a deadlock in Gov. Green's first special session of the Illinois general assembly were expressed yesterday by members as they contemplated the resumption of work by both houses at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

It is the unanimous opinion that two of the Green bills already passed by the senate — one appropriating $5,000,000 to the reserve militia and the other appropriating $750,000 to the state council of defense—will be advanced to third reading in the house today and given final passage tomorrow. There operations may come to a standstill with the possibility of a recess until after the holidays.

Downstate cities are said to have started lining up with Chicago's contention that the municipalities should be authorized to spend their share of the gasoline tax to cover unavoidable defense costs. A second special session would be necessary for the enactment of such legislation. Downstate Democrats also are said to have taken a determined stand against a permanent increase of 650 jobs on the state police force.

FOUR LABORITES ARE MADE PEERS; PARTY IS AIDED

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—King George conferred peerages today upon four members of the Labor party in a move which authorities said was designed to strengthen workingmen's representation in the house of lords.

William Wedgewood Benn, a member of parliament, and now an RAF squadron leader, was made a viscount. Benn, 64 years old, served in the last war in Palestine, Gallipoli, and on the Italian front. Baronies were conferred on Reginald Fletcher, Charles Latham, and Josiah Wedgwood.

An informed source said the government wanted the Labor position strengthened in the house of lords at a time when a coalition of three parties—Conservative, Labor, and Liberal—is running the government.

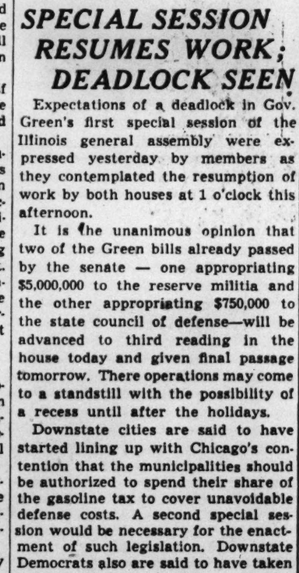
Mrs. Rose Oscaik, 55 years old, 1848 Superior street, a cleaning woman, was fatally injured yesterday when she fell 15 feet down an elevator shaft at 166 West Jackson boulevard.



M'HALE INTEREST IN FAT WAR DEAL STIRS INDIANANS

Gates Denunciation May Bring Quick Reply.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 21 [Special].—Indiana political circles seethed with excitement today as they awaited a reply from Frank McHale, Indiana Democratic national committeeman, to the blistering denunciation of his activities issued yesterday by Ralph E. Gates, chairman of the Republican state committee.

Gates' criticism was based on the testimony before a senate investigating committee Friday of Frank Cohen, president of the Empire Ordnace company, who said that McHale had invested $25,000 for a 5 per cent stock interest in the company. The Empire firm has shipping and munitions contracts totaling $38,000,000 with the American and British governments.

Reply to Be Demanded.

Gates made it plain today that his statement in regard to McHale was written after consultation with party leaders and was given out by him in his official capacity as Republican chairman.

Political observers said that under the circumstances a reply by McHale would be demanded by Republicans and Democrats alike and that the Democratic organization in Indiana would probably feel called upon to announce its attitude in the situation. Gov. Henry F. Schricker, a Democrat who has been cool toward the McHale faction of the party, had no comment to make, altho it was thought possible he might state his views later in the week.

Answers Called "Brazen."

"All Americans will decry the mockery of the testimony," Gates asserted in his official statement. "Unselfishly, Americans are paying their pay rolls and savings into defense bonds without hesitation or guaranty of large profits."

The Gates statement said that the testimony shows McHale made the $25,000 investment in Empire Ordnance after receiving the assurance he would get a "five per cent cut." It called attention to the "sure thing" character of the investment as revealed by the fact only $150,000 was used to launch the endeavor.

"The fact that Frank McHale, New Deal national committeeman; Charles West, former liaison man for the President; Tommy Corcoran, New Deal advisor, and Frank Cohen, also an 'inside man' of the New Deal, have been openly permitted to receive fat war profits thru the Empire Ordnance corporation is repugnant to all patriotic redblooded Americans," Gates' statement said.

"These pampered stooges have been utilizing their administrative and political influence to fatten their bank rolls by knowingly entering into contracts to supply war materials for the purpose of feathering their own nests. The findings of the investigations of these and other Get-Rich-Quick Wallingfords should and must be prosecuted to the limit."

Leyden Township to Vote on Relief Bill Bond Issue

Leyden township residents will vote tomorrow in a special bond issue election to pay relief bills held by local merchants. The township board seeks to raise $145,000 in funding bonds to pay off storekeepers in the community who sold merchandise to persons on the relief rolls.

RADIO STATIONS WARNED NOT TO EXAGGERATE WAR

Long List of 'Do Nots' Is Expounded.

New York, Dec. 21 [Special].—American radio broadcasters today were warned against sensationalism, carelessness, "second guessing" and commercialization of news in a wartime guide distributed by the National Association of Broadcasters. The guide is described as the result of consultation with the military and other branches of the government.

The association warns against "production trappings" tending to increase tension, unjustified interruption of broadcast schedules to stimulate listening audiences, and the broadcasting of unconfirmed reports.

In particular, the association says enemy communiques should not be used unless coupled with an official statement from the United States government on the same subject.

List of "Do Nots" Given.

To an already announced ban on the broadcasting of weather reports, casualties and movement of troops and naval vessels, the broadcasting association adds a series of "do nots." These include the use by sponsors of news as a springboard for advertising "commercials," the second guessing of military officials, and the overestimating of American military power or the underestimating of enemy strength.

Broadcasters are also cautioned against "ad lib broadcasts on the street or in the studio." The guide continues:

Thoro Checking Advised.

"An open microphone accessible to the general public constitutes a very real hazard in times of war. Questions should be prepared and approved in advance, and extreme care should be exercised to avoid the asking of questions which would draw out information of value to the enemy. Any questions regarding the war or war production might make trouble."

All news other than that gathered from recognized press services, the guide says, must be "thoroly checked and verified before broadcasting."

It is suggested also that during all operating hours every studio should designate a responsible staff member to determine the advisability of breaking into programs with news bulletins and "flashes."

The National Association of Broadcasters is a trade organization embracing the majority of the country's radio stations.

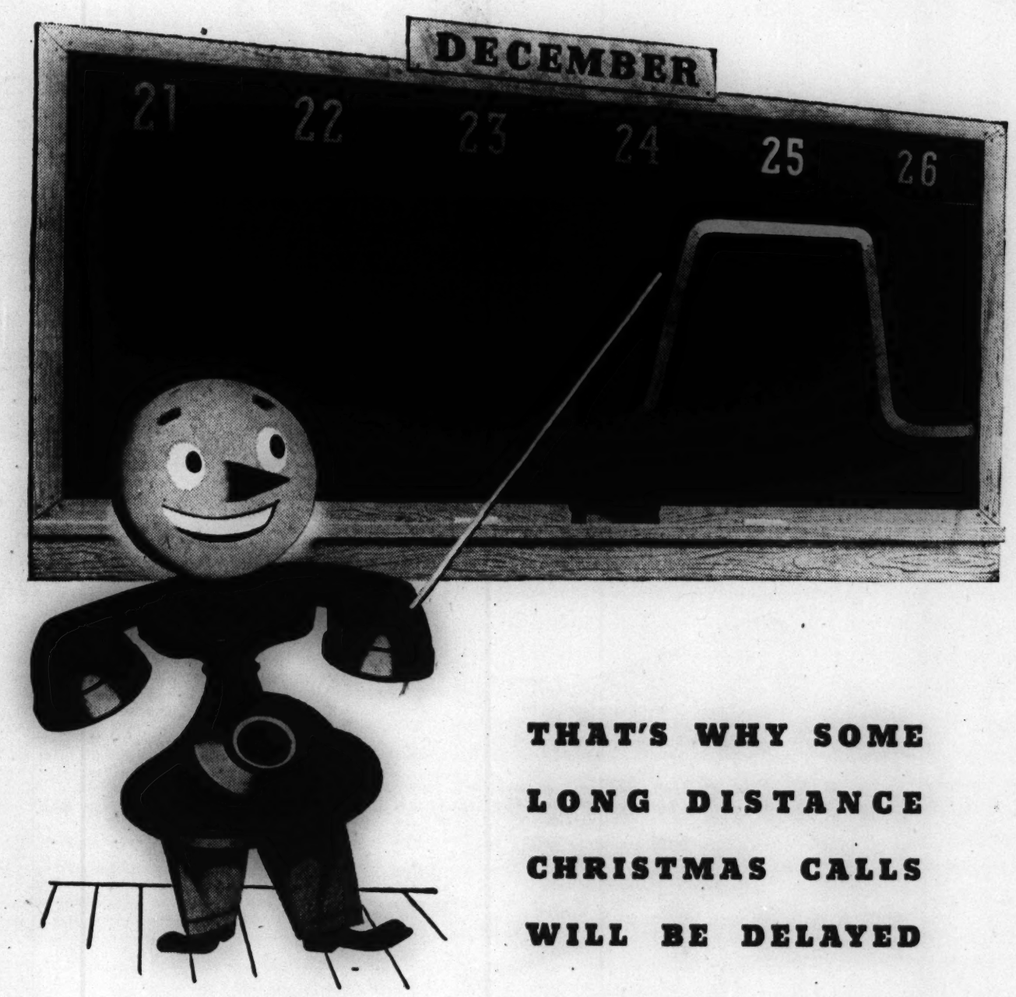
This CHRISTMAS will be our BUSIEST



THAT'S WHY SOME LONG DISTANCE CHRISTMAS CALLS WILL BE DELAYED

THE mountain peak on the chart represents last Christmas. Calls from many points were five, six — even EIGHT times normal.

• This coming Christmas will be busier still. We'll do all we can to handle the rush with every available circuit in service and hundreds of extra operators on duty.

• But no amount of stretching can expand a telephone system to five times its size, just for one day in the year. And we know that you are aware of the necessity of keeping adequate lines open for the big job of winning the war.

• We hope you'll understand, and we hope you'll accept any delays in the same friendly spirit that moves you to call at Christmas time.

RAPIST NAMED BY 23 UNFOLDS BIZARRE STORY

Philosophy His Ruling Passion, He Says.

Twenty-three women and girls last night pointed out a handsome young student of Wilbur Wright Junior college as the rapist whose crimes have terrorized a large section of the northwest side since last July.

He is David R. Steffey III., 18 years old, 4818 North Kostner avenue. As his victims passed before him in the Albany Park police station he readily admitted each rape or attempted rape attributed to him. Frequently and with considerable animation he refreshed the victim's memory on details she had forgotten.

Unfolds Complex Psychology.

And between appearances of the women he had attacked, young Steffey unfolded the tenets of a bizarre and complex psychology that astounded police and state's attorney's investigators. His intelligence and impersonal analysis of his actions mark him as one of the most amazing young criminals in a generation, authorities said.

Steffey said his philosophy, which he described as his ruling passion for more than two years, is based on reading of John Dewey.

Steffey likens himself to the German Nietzsche, whose writings were protests against conditions as they were when he lived. Nietzsche's philosophies, especially his superman theory, were embraced by Nathan Leopold and the late Richard Loeb, the murderers of Bobby Franks in 1923.

Steffey is thoroly conversant with the Loeb-Leopold case and has just completed a thoro study of the crime itself and the philosophies of the slayers. He had planned to spend his Christmas holidays digesting Clarence Darrow's defense of the two.

Says Revenge Will Be Demanded.

"Society will demand revenge for what I have done," he said. "I will have to endure it, however, I may disagree with the system that imposes it upon me."

In the lobby of the police station, a few feet from the cell room where Steffey was identified, a crowd of more than 100 waited. Many of these were stern faced men, relatives of his victims. After an outburst by an angry mother, which was followed by a rumble from the men, authorities warned against violence such as threatened Saturday night shortly after Steffey's arrest.

"This man is in the hands of the law," the crowd was told. "We are building a case against him that appears airtight. Any attack upon this pretty blond boy would prejudice that case. We ask that you let the law take its course."

Victims Tell Stories.

As questioning of Steffey continued and his women victims told their stories, police became more and more convinced he is not the slugger and purse snatcher being sought as the murderer on Dec. 13 of Mrs. Bergit Kyvik, 43, mother of twin children. Her body was found in a lot at East Ravenswood and Thome avenues. She had been robbed, her head battered with a brick and her legs bound.

Steffey's father, David R. Steffey Jr., a commission merchant, told police his son was at home from 3 p. m. on the day of the murder. This was corroborated by the mother. Both statements were made before the parents knew their son was under arrest.

Further, Steffey's victims were in agreement that he never had tried to rob them. One told of a savage attack during which the young rapist knocked out five of her teeth, but the others asserted he had not struck them.

Despite this, however, Steffey is expected to be given the lie detector test today in connection with the Kyvik murder. He will be taken to the police sex offense bureau this morning and then interviewed by Dr. Harry Hoffman, state alienist.

After this Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, will review the evidence given by the 23 women who identified Steffey. It is possible his case will go before the December grand jury before nightfall.

The statements of the women, augmented by Steffey's own, disclosed that almost invariably he followed the same technique in his attacks. Cruising on a bicycle, he would look for a woman or girl walking alone. He then would ride ahead and find a parked automobile that was unlocked.

Secreting the bicycle, Steffey would lie in wait and approach the victim as she reached the car he had selected. He had a pleasant and disarming manner, they all agreed.

After a brief conversation, during which he would ask directions or ask if they hadn't met previously, Steffey would force the victim into the car and attack her, pretending to have a gun in his coat pocket.

Forces Women into Own Homes.

Twice he waited in apartment hallways and forced the women into their own homes.

The reason for these crimes, he told police, was one of two fears that dominated him; fear of the future and fear of abnormality. His analysis of himself and of his conviction that only thru violent sex crimes could he overcome abnormality were contained in an amazing 21 page essay which he had written as a lesson in English at Wright Junior college.

In it, he debunked to his own satisfaction, the moral standards and conventionalities. Happiness, he wrote, is a harmonious round of satisfaction.

Steffey told police he was haunted by the fear he never could win the complete love of any woman and that this fear acted as a barrier to his progress.

"One of the things that alarmed me was that I didn't like to go on dates. I never could find a girl I could talk to. I didn't like the girls I met because I didn't think their wills were free."

Steffey said he hoped that believers in religion would not conclude that his unorthodox beliefs were caused by science. He said his goal in life simply was to develop a psychological system that would explain all existence.

Of his early life, Steffey said his parents did not believe in corporal punishment, but that they had adhered to old fashioned methods of child rearing with the result, he said, that he had been inhibited and found himself immature psychologically and emotionally.

Parents Are Shocked.

Steffey's parents were grief stricken and expressed shocked disbelief when details of his confession were communicated to them. They said they had been moderately strict with him, but had intended it for his own good. It was for this reason they restricted his use of the family car, the father said. The family is highly regarded by neighbors, who also thought well of the son.

The young rapist was seized Saturday night by Detectives John Carlson and Edward Schumacher, who were summoned when Steffey was recognized on a street by Mrs. Mary Benjamin, 20, of 4604 North Kildare avenue, who was attacked on the night of Nov. 28. With her husband, Allen, she trailed Steffey to a store, then pointed him out to the detectives.

GEORG F. REDLICH, YOUNG ARTIST, IS KILLED IN WRECK

Automobile Crashes Into Light Pole.

Georg F. Redlich, young artist whose paintings hang in the Art institute and several other Chicago galleries, was killed yesterday, and his companion seriously injured when their car struck a light pole at Commercial avenue and 83d street. The injured companion, John J. Petrie, 22 years old, 6541 Drexel boulevard, is in a serious condition in South Shore hospital. Redlich, also 22, lived at 1460 East 57th street.

John Grines, 49, of 6855 South Talman avenue; a tailor, was fatally injured by an automobile at Cicero avenue and 67th street. The car driver was David Broune, 10333 Wood street.

Fred C. Fisher, 29, of 2238 Honore avenue, North Chicago, was killed at Grand avenue and Jackson street, in Waukegan, when his cab collided with an auto driven by Ralph Gartley, 720 Hickory street, Waukegan. Gartley was injured.

Dies of Injuries.

August Funk, 59, of 6719 Imlay street, who was struck by a car at Irving Park road and Cicero avenue, died soon afterward in Belmont hospital. William Daniels, 4103 North Oriole avenue, was the driver.

Carl Lindell, 63, of 15239 Lexington avenue, Harvey, died in Ingalls Memorial hospital of injuries suffered when he was hit by a car at 155th street and Lexington avenue. The driver was John Hobancak, 15741 Willard avenue, Harvey.

Injuries suffered Dec. 15 resulted in the death of Joseph Kosloff, 66, of 2126 South Halsted street, in County hospital. Police said he walked into the side of a car being driven by Clayton M. McHugh, 5707 Erie street. The accident occurred in front of Kosloff's home.

Charles Lathus, 60, of 3601 Union avenue, died in St. Paul's hospital of injuries suffered Dec. 8 when he was struck by an automobile in front of 3606 Union avenue.

Investigate Death of Two.

Hammond police are investigating the deaths of Herbert Harmon, 41, of 1635 LaPorte avenue, and Stanley Szymczak, 50, of 2428 Schrage avenue, both of Whiting, who were trapped and drowned in the cab of their garbage truck in Wolf lake, Robertsdale. The lake is being filled in and Harmon and Szymczak, both Whiting street employés, had just dumped a load of refuse into the lake. It is believed that their truck rolled down or sank thru the soft embankment into the water.

Charles Pipiras, 44, of 3117 South Union avenue, was killed last night in front of 4406 South Western avenue when he was struck by an automobile driven by Edwin Klock, 18, of 4341 South Whipple street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 938 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 661 were killed in Chicago, where 25,625 were injured in the same period.

STAY ON THE JOB, AWAIT CALL, MEN TOLD BY HERSHEY

Emotionalism Shouldn't Be Guide, He Says.

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, yesterday urged men who are now employed to stay at their jobs until they are called for service with the armed forces. Gen. Hershey spoke from Washington, D. C., during the University of Chicago's radio round table discussion on "Man Power: The Key to Victory."

"With the declaration of war, men have been placed in an emotional state of mind," Gen. Hershey said. "It should not be left up to these men as to when to leave for service. Rather, they should leave it in the hands of the selective service. Let us as American citizens stay on our jobs until the country calls us."

Others in Discussion.

Leo M. Cherne, executive secretary of the Research Institute of America, and Prof. Hugh M. Cole, director of history at the University of Chicago, also participated in the discussion. Cherne said that it takes from 14 to 25 men in industry to provide for one man in uniform.

Gen. Hershey said that in obtaining men for military service the country must protect those 14 to 25 men, who are as vital to defense as those in the armed forces.

The selective service head also directed his advice to students and agricultural workers. He warned them against war hysteria, which "adds up and grows like a snowball rolling down a hill." To students he said, "Don't neglect your studies nor quit school to volunteer. We will come for you when we need you."

"Agricultural labor," he continued, "is difficult to replace and before you take those workers you must first think where replacements are coming from."

Foresees Labor Shortage.

Cherne said that before the end of 1942 there will be a labor shortage more serious than the United States has ever known before. He urged employers to train replacements for jobs.

Prof. Cole asserted that the immediate job is to place the right man in the right job. This, he said, can best be done by having workers wait until they are called for service and in the meantime intensifying their efforts at their individual jobs.

VETOES PLAN TO DELAY MASARYK MONUMENT WORK

A suggestion that the erection of a monument honoring Thomas G. Masaryk, liberator and former president of Czecho-Slovakia, be temporarily postponed and the 8 tons of bronze purchased for the memorial be turned over for war purposes, was vetoed yesterday by John Toman, Cook county treasurer and head of the Masaryk Memorial association. Toman said the bronze was acquired a year ago and that $30,000 already has been expended for the monument's base at the east end of the central parkway of the Midway at the University of Chicago.

ELISSA LANDI.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 21 [Special].—Under a decree for final distribution of the estate of her late mother, Elissa Landi, screen actress, will receive one-third of the property.

The decree was signed by Superior Judge Jesse E. Stephens in accordance with provisions made by the mother, Countess Caroline Frances Mari Zannardi-Landi, 63, who died Nov. 17.

Another third will go to the Countess Caroline's widower, Count Charles Zanardi-Landi of Kingston, N. Y., while the remaining third will be given to her son, Count Anthony Zanardi-Landi.

While the value of the estate has not been finally determined, it will exceed $2,500, according to attorneys.

Count Charles Zanardi-Landi is a member of an Austrian family.

5 Jews Executed for New Attacks on Nazis in France

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—The Vichy radio said today that as a result of "renewed attacks" on the German army in occupied France five Jews have been executed.

TOO OLD TO FIGHT, THOUSANDS ASK HOW THEY CAN AID

Veterans of World War Want Back in Army.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—Keeping pace with the flood of enlistments in the armed forces since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, thousands of Americans—beyond the military age, but eager to serve the country in the present emergency — are besieging government bureaus and members of congress with offers of help.

Hundreds of letters from these citizens are delivered each day at the senate and house office buildings, the writers explaining in most cases that they do not want to wait to be conscripted, even for noncombat service, when they may be needed right away.

Many are veterans of the last war. Even tho too old for combat, they believe their experiences a quarter of a century ago should be of some value to the government today.

Some Need Aid for Families.

In some instances, those offering their services add that they will need compensation to enable them to support families; others state they would like to serve while continuing to live in their home communities.

However, most of the volunteers do not attempt to lay down any conditions, but ask merely for advice on where to apply for posts suited to their particular background and training.

"The majority of members of congress have gotten such requests," said Rep. George A. Paddock [R., Ill.]. "Some of us have been getting them by the bundle ever since the war started. It seems that the bulk of these patriotic offers are coming from the middle west.

"A chance to serve their country is all they ask, and while at this stage it is too early to determine just what the needs of the government will be, I am sure that every application will be considered carefully by various bureaus and agencies.

Most of Them in Draft.

Members of congress have been referring these requests for information to the civil service commission, and to the war and navy departments. Of course, after the new draft legislation takes effect, most of these persons will be registered and the government will be able to call them as they are needed."

The draft bill, which was approved Friday by congress, requires all men in the United States, past their 18th birthday, but not yet 65 years old, to register. Those from 20 to 44, inclusive, will be liable for military training and combat service, while the others are to be eligible for conscription into civilian defense work or arms industries.

PIONEER GAS DEALER DIES.

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 21 [Special].—Dr. David Eugene Sunderland, 83, lifelong resident of Freeport, died last night. He was a son of the late David H. Sunderland, a former mayor of Freeport and state senator. Retiring from the practice of dentistry in 1910, he established the first gasoline service station here.

BRITAIN TO PREPARE 16 YEAR OLD BOYS FOR LATER ARMY SERVICE

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Plans for giving youths from 16 to 18 their share in Britain's new maximum mobilization scheme were announced tonight by the board of education. Preservice units will fit boys to step directly into the army, navy, and air force when they reach the age minimum.

The minimum for the home guard will be lowered in some areas to 16, and boys will be assigned to special noncombatant duties.

Others will be guided toward the air training corps, which already has 160,000 and needs a steady stream of entrants to maintain its strength, still others to the sea cadets.

SHOWDOWN SEEN IN CANADA OVER OVERSEAS DRAFT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 21.—A resolution passed by the Manitoba legislature asking Canada's federal government at Ottawa for an all-out war effort and supporting the conscription of man power was declared here today to be a step toward the breaking point in the dominion's political crisis over compulsory war service.

The situation is that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King's Liberal government feels bound by a prewar pledge never to conscript Canadians for overseas duty, but has instituted compulsory military service for home defense. Led by a large and influential section of the Canadian press, half the country is calling for conscription for overseas service. The Manitoba legislature's move probably is the forerunner of other similar resolutions in other legislatures. Such a resolution, it is believed, is certain to be approved by the Ontario legislature.

Canadian cabinet ministers from the Maritime provinces, British Columbia, and Ontario are now said to be convinced that Canada should have compulsory selective service immediately. Cabinet ministers from Quebec are opposed to it, and, with less unanimity, cabinet ministers from the prairies reputedly are opposed. The issue cannot hang fire very long. Some observers believe that out of it may come a new national government to enact a conscription law.

A recent study of Canadian man power showed that 609,000 men of military age are available in Canada.

There is every indication that early in the new year Canadian women will be called for industrial war work under a compulsory selective plan. War Services Minister Joseph Thorson has intimated that women may compose at least half of the 150,000 new workers whom war industries will require within a year.

EVERY OUNCE OF RUBBER IS A SACRED TRUST

AT 7:35 A. M., SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1941 as the first Japanese bomb fell on Pearl Harbor, every ounce of rubber in the United States of America became a sacred trust.

Every ounce of rubber in this nation's great reserve stock pile... every ounce of rubber in the nation's factories, mills and mines... every ounce of rubber in the nation's passenger car, tractor, plane and truck tires...in its conveyor and transmission belts...in its oil, air, water, steam, chemical and gasoline hose...in its boots, shoes and heels...was dedicated to our victory.

And now, we pledge you and the Army and Navy that into the processing of every ounce of rubber entrusted to our care will go the full knowledge, skill, ingenuity, and practical genius developed by our chemists, engineers and factory craftsmen in the 99 years of our experience.

For America's muscles, nerves and arteries are built of these basic tissues—metal, wood, rock and rubber. And the most precious of these is rubber.

IN TIRES—Rubber speeds army guns, tanks and planes into action . . . transports the essentials of life to and from farm and factory, warehouse, store and home . . . brings each day to bench and lathe and drill the millions of skilled men on whom production for victory depends.

IN INSULATED WIRE—Rubber carries commands and information on the battle field and in the battle fleet . . . transmits billions of horsepower from generating plants to machine rooms . . . sparks every town and street and home into life and warmth and action.

IN BELTS—Rubber turns the wheels of industry . . . supplies the tough and lasting fibres that lift and lug the nation's loads of raw materials and finished products . . . provides the sinews for machines that make machines and shells and bullets.

IN HOSE—Rubber air hose, oil hose, water hose, steam hose, acid hose, gasoline hose are the veins and arteries and capillaries through which flows the life blood of American war industries.

IN FOOTWEAR—Rubber protects the health of millions of men on the way to and from home and bench and desk . . . rubber waterproof footwear guards the health of millions of mothers and children at home and school.

IN CLOTHING—Rubber waterproof clothing is essential equipment for the Army and Navy . . . for policemen and firemen and watchmen and air raid wardens . . . for every man, woman and child working to win this war.

IN DRUG PRODUCTS—Rubber hot water bottles . . . surgeons' gloves . . . rubber sheeting . . . rubber syringes . . . rubber bandages . . . and thousands of other rubber drug products are vital to the maintenance of the health of the nation.

IN SYNTHETICS—Supplementing America's stock pile of natural rubber is the increasing output of great synthetic rubber factories for self-sealing gasoline tanks and fuel hose, boots, shoes, aprons, linings and hundreds of other products.

"—and take a memo to myself"

DEAR GEORGE—Do you think it wise to put off any longer this business of finding a good, late-model car? Frankly I do not see the sense in delaying. Now is undoubtedly the time to get yourself a good backlog of miles which may not be available later, certainly not on such excellent terms. To find a large selection of good-looking late-models, follow the Tribune want ad section which prints more Used Autos for Sale want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper. I feel sure that you will see the reasonableness of this position and that I may expect some action from you, but soon! Thanks and regards, Yours, George.

You can buy him a successful future!

To a large extent your son's future pivots on the opportunities you are able to give him. But advantages for the young take money. If you want to make more money in your present job or in a better one, specialized training can help you. To get ahead faster, start now on one of the regular or short courses of training offered in the Trade Schools, Instruction, Musical and Dramatic, and Dressmaking and Millinery Schools columns of the Tribune want ad section.

Gold in your belfry?

Well—attic, then. And if not gold, something just as good. What about the bicycle Junior outgrew? And the electric train? Or the old porch furniture? Or that highboy you no longer use? Lots of people want them and will pay for them with cash or other useful articles. Investigate at once! And review the offers in the Barter & Exchange column.

Because want ad users get better results, they place more total want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

THE RETAILERS' OUTLOOK.

Retail trade slackened during the first two weeks of this war. Several large merchandising establishments have reported that their business was down sharply from last year, whereas a gain of 10 per cent had commonly been expected. Caution has affected the charge customers more than the cash customers. The popular priced stores appear to have done better than the quality shops.

The drop in sales was an expectable emotional reaction to the outbreak of war. A careful observer in Chicago, who has kept a record of business changes over many years, wrote in his diary that the sale of groceries took a bad slump here after the Iroquois fire. Again, for three weeks after the Eastland turned over in the Chicago river the people of this city did not consume as much food as usual. A month after the United States entered the World war in 1917 the Commercial and Financial Chronicle made the following report and forecast:

"Thruout the dry goods trade a feeling of conservatism is steadily gaining ground, both on the part of consumers and manufacturers. Business has been quiet in almost all branches of trade, with the principal buying coming from the government. Buyers as a rule are disposed to await developments as . . . they are unable to forecast the future. It is generally believed that the policy of economy which is being adopted thruout the country will greatly curtail consumption. As the country becomes more actively engaged in the war . . . the heavy financial needs of the government are expected to further restrict the buying power of the public."

All available figures for 1917-'18 show that the shock of our entrance into the World war wore off rather quickly. The sales of stores which have published their figures soared almost without interruption. The volume of newspaper advertising, which is a dependable index to retail sales, expanded until the supply of newsprint ran short. Sales of retail stores having dipped during the last two weeks, following precedent, will, if they continue to follow precedent, soon recover.

However, something besides our emotions will affect sales at retail next year. The severity of the new income tax is bound to influence the buying habits of certain groups. That can be seen by taking a hypothetical case. Suppose that a man has been so fortunate that over the years he has been receiving a salary of $40,000 per year, with a bonus of equal amount at the end of the year. He has made commitments over the years on the assumption that he was going to earn about $80,000 a year right along. When the bonus came at the end of the year, there was a place already provided for it. Next year every nickel of his salary and a little more will be required to pay his income tax. This man will have to live next year on capital. His purchases and those of his family are going to be severely cut. And he may not have seen anything like the worst, for congress has announced that it will go to work on a new tax law on Jan. 15.

Others are going to be severely affected, too. The $5,000 man with two children who paid $68 in taxes in 1940, and $75 in 1941, will pay $219 in 1942. The $10,000 man has had his tax raised from $383 and $440 to $1,033. And the $20,000 man has had his tax already advanced from $1,525 in 1940, and $2,240 in 1941 to $4,131 in 1942.

Meanwhile more people than ever before are going to be earning at the rate of from $2,500 to $3,000 per year. Hours of labor have been cut in recent years from 48, 50, and 54 per week to 40 and even to 36 in many shops. Hourly rates have been advanced enough to enable workers to earn as much in the short week as they used to make in the long week. Now, because of the demand for the materials of war and the shortage of skilled labor, many establishments are again working 48, 54, and even 60 hours a week, with pay at the advanced rates for 40 hours of work and punitive rates for an unprecedented amount of overtime.

Those who will be enjoying this greatly increased income will be taxed lightly. On an income of $2,500 a married man with dependents will have to pay an income tax of $12 next year, or $1 a month. The tax won't keep him from buying what he wants.

The national income in 1942 is going to reach 100 billion dollars, but the distribution of it is going to be different. There will actually be less spending money for most corporation executives, owners of successful small businesses, professional men, bankers, and distributors of automobiles and other consumer durable goods—the people with incomes of $5,000 and above. The fortunately situated groups are going to be the factory hands and foremen, particularly those employed in making products for war. These are the people the stores will have to look to for extra business in 1942.

WASHINGTON DISCOVERS AMERICA.

War pressure has forced the decentralization of federal agencies in Washington, a step which THE TRIBUNE has long recommended, purely on grounds of increased governmental efficiency. Out of the first 10,000 employés ordered to transfer their activities to other cities in order that essential defense agencies may find office space in the capital, 2,950, distributed among five bureaus and commissions, are coming to Chicago. This probably is, and certainly should be, only the beginning of a much more drastic retreat from Washington.

The bureaus sent out of Washington are, for the most part, minor arms of the government. As we have said before, the country would be better served if some of the major departments were also moved. Chicago, the railroad center of the nation, has been recognized as the proper place for the Railroad Retirement board, which administrates rail workers' pensions. It is also the proper place for the Interstate Commerce commission, which regulates the transportation services of the country. The department of agriculture does not belong in Washington. It should be located in the center of the nation's agricultural region. Mr. Ickes' department of interior has few useful duties to perform in or about the capital. It also ought to be in the interior where its duties lie. The list can be extended considerably.

For a good many years THE TRIBUNE has pointed out to industry the fallacy of "head office in New York." Because industrial executives' wives wanted to live on Park avenue their husbands have had to go to work in the financial district and the efficiency of their factories has suffered from remote control. Head office in Washington is, if anything, even worse than head office in New York. Not only does it hamper the efficiency of the agencies which have no proper duties in that area but it surrounds congress with thousands and thousands of political lobbyists, all working to the single end of mulcting the taxpayers and multiplying their activities far beyond any useful return to the country.

The removal of some few federal establishments should not obscure the fact that a still greater necessity than decentralization is demobilization of nonessential governmental bureaus. Some of the agencies that are being sent out of Washington are not only nonessential to the defense effort, they are also nonessential to the welfare of the people. They should not be allowed to remain as a haven for slackers. Their activities should be terminated and their employés turned out to find more useful work.

The necessary burdens of the war will be tremendous. The burdens of a swollen and inefficient peacetime establishment must not be added. The demobilization at Washington has not started yet.

BRAVE HEARTS AND COOL HEADS.

The early reports that Capt. Colin Kelly and Lieut. Samuel H. Marrett had died in suicide attacks on the Japanese ships which they sank did not ring true to the traditions of the American army. Detailed reports of the heroic deaths show that the earlier accounts were not true.

After Capt. Kelly and his bomber crew had placed the bombs that destroyed the battleship Haruna, their plane was attacked and set afire by hostile fighters. Capt. Kelly stayed at the controls until his six crewmen had bailed out. It was too late for him then to follow them to safety, and he died in the crash. His death was not suicide, but the calculated heroism of a leader who gave his life to save the lives of his men. Lieut. Marrett did not deliberately dive his plane into the transport that he destroyed. Against furious opposition he took a calculated chance to place his bombs, and his plane was destroyed by their blast.

The full story of their deaths enhances rather than detracts from their reputations. Americans assume that there are no cowards in their armed forces, and suicidal tactics are unnecessary to fortify that assumption. Courage is by no means the rarest military virtue, but rather the commonest, and other qualities are equally necessary to victory. We want our heroes to survive danger and return to the attack. If, as will often happen, the risks accepted so gallantly prove insurmountable, it will be a satisfaction to know that our men fight not only with brave hearts but with cool heads as well.

WHY KNOX MUST GO.

The case for the removal of Secretary Knox is the obvious one that he has failed again. He has been secretary of the navy now for nearly two years. During that time revolutionary changes in sea warfare have occurred. The supremacy of the airplane over the battleship, which many students of naval affairs had regarded as absurd, was established. New methods of surprise were introduced in the sea warfare off Norway, Crete, and elsewhere.

Mr. Knox evidently has not learned these lessons. He had ample opportunity in his two years to become acquainted with the higher officers in the navy but gave the command to one who, when the test came at Pearl Harbor, proved himself unfit. The navy was therefore unready for the enemy and the result was the worst defeat and the heaviest loss in ships and lives ever suffered by our fleet in all its history.

In his annual report, made public the very day of the Pearl Harbor tragedy, Mr. Knox assured the American people that their navy was alert and ready. "I am proud to report," he wrote, "that the American people may feel fully confident in their navy." No doubt Mr. Knox thought he was telling the truth. What he said is the measure of his incompetence for the position he holds.

It should be unnecessary to add that Mr. Knox's failure as a cabinet officer was preceded by failures as a candidate for office and as a publisher. Indeed, his appointment to the cabinet was calculated to cover up his previous lapses. That kind of face-saving can be tolerated in time of peace but not in time of national danger. The same considerations which led to the removal of Adm. Kimmel and of his colleagues in command of the army in Hawaii demand the prompt replacement of Secretary Knox.

THE STEEL MAKERS' CHRISTMAS.

Thousands of workers in the steel plants of the Chicago area are going to view their Christmas cheer thru the ports of open hearth furnaces or in the glow of scale pits. As an official of one of their companies said, the question no longer is how much steel America can make, but instead how fast we can make it. To the men who will eat their Christmas dinners out of lunch buckets in order to keep production flowing, all the rest of us wish a particularly merry Christmas. They are setting an example of devotion to duty which the rest of us, each in his particular job, can imitate with profit to ourselves and our country.

THE DUTCH DO THEIR BIT.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The announcement that Dutch East Indian submarines have sent four Jap troop transports and about 4,000 soldiers to the bottom, together with sharply increased resistance everywhere in the far-flung zone of operations, must be convincing proof to Tokio that this war is anything but the one-sided thing it started out to be. And this action, off southern Thailand, is just a sample of the combined strength that is beginning to be brought into play against the rash attackers of Pearl Harbor.

In Washington and London, on the other hand, news of the Dutch success must have been doubly welcome. Quite naturally, there was a feeling there that the immensely valuable East Indian colonial empire would have to be protected by the British and American fleets. In spite of a miniature modern defense establishment, the islands were expected to make their contribution to victory largely in the form of essential raw materials. The Japanese losses, however, show that the Dutch forces may also be counted on in the heat of battle. The blow they struck was a solid and resounding one.

CUPS OF GOOD CHEER.

Watch out for eggnog traps on Christmas eve. They are numerous and insidious. Moreover, a pair of fifth columnists named Tom and Jerry are usually lurking beside the flowing bowl.

* * *

It is pleasant, indeed, to assemble with friends around a Christmas tree, in the early evening hours when the carols are echoing across town and the mood of relaxation from all pre-holiday hurries and worries is in the air. But to awake on the Sacred Day with a hangover founded on eggnog, Tom and Jerry, and highballs, which usually follow to take the taste of the sticky sweet stuff out of the throat, is a desolating experience.

* * *

Among the old Swedish customs for holiday cheer is a tipple called "glögg" [pronounced "glug"], about which a word of warning is advisable. The Linemaster observed the preparation of a batch of "glögg" for a party of stalwart Swedish-American citizens the other night, and shrank from it as if it were the potion brewed by the witches in "Macbeth." It was composed of mulled red wine and young whisky in nearly equal quantities, with an infusion of spices. The finishing touch comes when the alcohol floating on top is ignited. There are recipes for milder "glögg," but this was All-American stuff. We are sure that after a few "skoals," the Valkyrs will swoop down upon that party and carry the assembled heroes away to Valhalla.

* * *

Buttered rum is another old-fashioned atrocity that is occasionally encountered at recherché holiday parties. It comes out of the dark past of New England and was popularized a few years ago by Kenneth Roberts' historical novel, "Northwest Passage." . . . Beware of all folklorish and period drinking in the holidays, we suggest. It will bring you to a full stop.

THE CHRISTMAS WITHIN.

Not the gay lights and shining gifts, the stars
Of silver and gilt, the carols ages old,
The strains of music and song, the sparkling cars
At curb and door, the Bethlehem story told
In all its poignant beauty of Love's birth,
The dear, sweet privacies of hearth and home,
And long-missed faces greeted with sad mirth,
Remembering how they soon must leave and roam—
Not these are the lovely inwardness of Yule;
But what they sow, for the ennobled heart to reap
And keep when grim routine resumes its rule,
And wreath and tree have joined time's rubbish heap:
Candles of kindness, parcels of hope and cheer,
And angels within that whisper, "God is near!"

What Omar Really Said.

Here are the most frequently-quoted verses from Edward Fitzgerald's version of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. You may remember that they provided Eugene O'Neill with the title of a play—"Ah, Wilderness":

A book of verses underneath the bough,
A jug of wine, a loaf of bread—and thou
Beside me singing in the wilderness—
Ah, wilderness were paradise enow!

Now for a literal translation of the Persian text: "If I were so lucky as to have bread made with kernels of wheat, and a gourd of wine, and a leg of mutton, and beside me one whose face is as beautiful as the full moon, that would be paradise."

Fitzgerald was, indeed, a magician. He turned a leg of mutton into food for thought.

WINTER NOCTURNE.

She came in negligee of deepest blue
And dignity; so finely simplified
That somehow, all who watched her passing thru
Grew weary of the charm she could not hide.
A great white pearl upon her cold, full breast
Was set in clustered stars of crystalline,
And supple shoulders were as lightly dressed
In shawl of wispy clouds and odd design.
Magnificent and silently she passed
While slept the world nor dreamed she kissed its face,
But grew in wanting when she left at last
And Dawn had taken up her sister's place.

A Tragedy Among the Pioneers.

My great-grandmother had rosy cheeks until the day she died. Mother laid it to the fact she never used soap on her face—only alcohol. Me, I lay it to the good red wine they drank. After they'd been over here a year or two, great-grandfather wrote back to his folks in the province of Haut-Saon, France, for them to send him a hogshead. It came to New Orleans by sail, then up the Mississippi and the Illinois by flatboats propelled with sweeps, and finally arrived at Beard's Ferry—now Beardstown.

Word somehow got around that it was there, so great-grandfather yoked up his ox team and trudged the long nine miles from their log cabin in the clearing to the river. When they'd got the big cask loaded, he made his way back thru the swamps to the bluff. The trail led up Coal Creek Hill, which was even steeper then than now. Going up the hill that durn cask broke loose from its fastenings, rolled back off the cart, and smashed to smithereens. Just imagine!

When the Streets Burned Up.

During the Chicago fire the intense heat of the conflagration ignited the tar in many of the pavements and burned the wooden paving blocks to irregular depths. An eyewitness told me that he saw the south end of La Salle street a sea of flame from curb to curb, looking south from Randolph street, and I saw many burned pavements in the years subsequent to the fire.

MAKE CHRISTMAS GADGETS SAFE.

SCORES of youngsters will be made happy on Christmas morning with a galaxy of new toys. In a very real sense, this is childhood's gala season. As a nation, we spend millions of dollars for their amusement. Let us make certain that our gifts are not dangerous.

Children like action and noise, otherwise the gadget will fail to retain interest. We need not deprive them of the pleasure of playing with these "going" appliances if supervision is adequate. With but a modicum of care we can prevent injury from sharp cornered playthings or wheels that whir. Arrows, even those equipped with vacuum rubber tips, may be responsible for an eye mishap should a tot dash suddenly into range.

When it comes to electrical devices, we are on even more hazardous ground. Cords have a fashion of becoming twisted and broken. This may mean a short circuit, and the ensuing spark may be responsible for a burn—if nothing worse.

Metal boxes and play kitchen equipment may present thin or jagged edges for gouges and cuts. Pointed scissors are a definite menace. Glass containers of all sorts may break, while celluloid pieces may burn readily if brought near a flame. Purchasers of dolls should be cautious when garments are held in place with common pins which are easily removed by little fingers, forming a source of peril. The running gears of wagons and carts should be inspected for projecting bits of steel [cotter pins], while the portions made of wood may be checked for slivers.

Many a case of lead poisoning has resulted because babies will taste anything and everything within reach. Lead paint is not supposed to be used and reputable manufacturers have long since adopted vegetable instead of mineral colors.

When it comes to the Christmas tree, a firm base is necessary and iron receptacles can be purchased which will hold the trunk securely. Realistic snow is made of noninflammable asbestos. Lighted candles have long been tabooed. For illuminating purposes, electric bulbs are now universal. The string of lights should not be plugged into a lamp. A wall socket is best.

Whenever the family is away or when the day is over, "lights out" is the rule. Locate the tree far enough from the fireplace so that a spark cannot possibly reach it. We must recall that the leaves are so full of pitch that they will burst into flame easily. If outdoor decorations call for lights, waterproof sockets and wiring should be employed.

Every member of the family has a grand time when it comes to decorating the graceful branches. But let's be careful about tumbles. A firm stepladder is better than a pile of books placed on a kitchen chair. Then, when the day for dismantling arrives, why risk a conflagration by throwing twigs or wreaths into an open hearth? A gust of wind may cause the flame to surge outward into the room.

A safe Christmas is certain to be a happy one.

FLASH.

G. H. writes: Is it unusual to have hot flashes every 40 to 45 minutes regularly, by the clock?

REPLY.

Quite. Most episodes of this character follow neither rhyme nor reason. A few doses of a sex hormone will break the habit.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE TRUE SPIRIT OF ST. NICHOLAS.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Why has the true story of St. Nicholas been lost? As it was told to me as a child, Nicholas was a good man who went about giving gifts, but not letting any one know who was the giver. If gifts were given anonymously it would provide the surprise and mystery which children get and which grownups try in vain to catch—the lost delight of Christmas and the true spirit of giving. LILLIS HAMILTON.

SAVING WASTE PAPER.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—We have been strongly urged to save waste paper. I live in a house and find that I can save, and do save, newspapers and magazines. However there is still a lot of paper wasted around my home, such as advertising matter, paper in which meat is wrapped, empty cartons which formerly contained breakfast food, etc. No doubt thousands of other people wish to save waste paper, but there is no practical way of doing it. I do not have a paper press or baler and I do not wish to have this waste paper accumulate in my home, as it creates a fire hazard.

I suggest that certain territories be allocated for junkmen to cover once a week. The junkman would have a small compressor or baler on his truck so that he can bale the waste paper as he picks it up. Not enough of the paper would accumulate to create a fire hazard, and at the same time it would enable us to save paper that is now going to waste.

PAUL R. PAPE.

THE NURSE'S CAP.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Among my friends in the nursing profession there has been comment on the fact that the Red Cross aids are outfitted in a uniform which includes a cap almost identical with those worn by nurses. This was portrayed in the picture appearing in THE TRIBUNE of this date.

I cast no aspersions on these young women who are spending their time and efforts in emergency work, but in my opinion they could work as well without adopting one of the most significant emblems of my profession. To a nurse the cap is more than a folded strip of linen. It is the symbol of service, and for the privilege to wear this symbol she has arduously studied, worked, and practiced nursing for three years. It is not something that is handed out at the end of six weeks! AUDREY JANE BARRETT, R. N.

COLOR MAPS.

Zion, Ill., Dec. 17.—Your maps are wonderful, if I may add my appreciation to those of thousands of others of your readers.

I hope you will have occasion to give us a map of French Indo-China that will be equal in detail to those of the East Indies in today's TRIBUNE.

WHO WAS TO BLAME?

Chicago, Dec. 19.—It seems to me that Adm. Kimmel, Lieut. Gen. Short, and Maj. Gen. Martin, out in the Pacific, are the unfortunate victims of Secretary Knox's and Stimson's face saving show. These three competent and highly trained men have been made the fall guys for a couple of politicians. Secretaries Knox and Stimson were in a much better position to have anticipated the Japanese attack than the Pacific commanders because of their high position in the government.

Isn't it about time that men from the army and navy, who are thoroly trained in their fields, be appointed to these highly important jobs instead of untrained men? MILTON J. MILLER.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 17.—Communism is still just as insidious as it always was; but the propaganda agents are hard at work to make hay while the sun shines.

The dean of Canterbury, the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson's defense of the soviet in "The Soviet Power," is being pushed to the fore at this time and the clergy is being given his effort in a 5 cent edition with the plea to buy the complete edition.

Communism laughs at the turn of events and visualizes the achievement of its aims; the clergy visionaries, flowing over with the milk of human kindness and just too innocent to be realists, are easily used now to help fool the people. It is disgusting. Getting behind the government now and standing together for a speedy victory and a just peace does not mean nor dare not mean acquiescence in the vices and vicious philosophies of those fighting with us against the axis.

N. P. UHLIG,
Pastor, Holy Cross Lutheran Church for the Deaf.

HYSTERIA OVER MUSIC.

Briggsville, Wis., Dec. 18.—When Orson Welles had his so-called Mars broadcast people became hysterical.

Now that we are at war the same mass hysteria seems to grip some unbalanced minds. Conductor Walter Damrosch, giving Haydn's "Gott Erhalte Franz den Kaiser" as an example of the theme and variations form of music, was choked off the radio because telephone calls were received mentioning the fact that "German" music was played. If we want to be consistent "Silent Night" should be banned because it was written by the German priest, Father Joseph Mohr, and the music composed by the organist, Franz Gruber. This is not patriotism. It is chauvinism! FRANK b. KRAUS.

ORR'S TRIBUTE.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—I wish to express my thanks for the beautiful, inspiring tribute paid by your cartoonist, Mr. Orr, to the immortal courage of an American boy—Capt. Colin P. Kelly.

This cartoon, rendered in color and displayed in the home, would hearten all of us to the greater tasks that lie ahead.

RAILROAD PENSIONERS.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—In the recent wage increase given railroad employés, pensioned employés were not considered. Sometime ago when a general reduction was made, pensioners were included.

PENSIONER.

PLAUDITS FROM PLUMBERS.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Your paper deserves special commendation for the fine article featured in your Sunday Graphic section on Dec. 14, entitled, "The Tale of the Tub—A Story That Starts 5,000 Years Ago," written by John A. Menaugh.

During my many years as a journeyman and master plumber I have seen this subject—and it seems to be a favorite one with newspaper and magazine article writers—misrepresented and poorly handled too often. As a former president of the National Association of Master Plumbers, I know how the master plumber feels about misrepresentation of himself or of his trade. Honest research and faithful adherence to fact is evidenced in Mr. Menaugh's work. JOHN J. CALNAN.

FLYING CADETS' AGE.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Why, in time of war, when we so desperately need flyers for training, do the army and navy cling to their 20-26 age requirements for cadets? Why is a college man with 60 credit hours [possibly in philosophy] any more qualified to fight in the air for America than the high school graduate who may be more inclined to flying but who went to work instead of to college after his prep days?

Wouldn't it be feasible at this time to adopt a more sensible and more personal method of choosing our pilots? If a man can fly, the Japs aren't going to stop to ask how old he is. 27-YEAR-OLD.

THANKS FROM A BLUEJACKET.

Great Lakes, Ill., Dec. 18.—Just a line from the boys in the navy to have you tell the people of this country many thanks for their thought of us men at Christmas time. W. K. B.

MOTORISTS TOLD TO SAVE ON CARS OR DO WITHOUT

Henry Sees Complete Lack of Autos.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—Accustomed to buying new automobiles and tires at will, motorists are today faced with the stark reality that unless they prolong the life of present cars and tires thru careful driving and lowered speeds they will eventually be without individual transportation at a time when it is sorely needed for essential civilian activities.

T. P. Henry.

This statement was made today by Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile Association, who declared that the country's 27 million passenger car owners should not take lightly the serious implications of the demand for metals and rubber in war production.

Not Like Gasoline Shortage.

With new car production to reach a low of 25 per cent of normal output in January and prospects of a further cut plus a complete ban on the sale of tires until Jan. 4, when federal agencies propose to start rationing of tires, Henry declared that these shortages must not be likened to the gasoline scare some months ago.

"From the standpoint of cars and motor fuels, the war impacts will not fall on motorists very quickly," Henry said. "The reserve of used cars can be called upon. There can be more doubling up in use. Maintenance of a heavy volume of gasoline production is necessary to assure aviation fuels under our present refining system.

Tire Outlook Is Poor.

"But the outlook as regards tires is not bright. Rubber comes from the far east where sources of supply are threatened with seizure by the Japanese or destruction to prevent such seizure. This would affect rubber supplies for many years to come. In working out rationing plans, federal agencies are giving a great deal of thought to synthetic rubber, and also equitable use of reclaimed rubber. Retreading of tires will become increasingly important.

"Today, every one is looking for a way to give war help. Conservation of metals and rubber, absolutely essential for our mechanized fighting forces, is one sure way. It involves better car maintenance, slower driving, and avoiding careless driving practices which wear out and injure cars and tires. Good driving is now patriotic driving."

FIND MISSING PLANE, PILOT, 2 PASSENGERS ON LAKE IN ALASKA

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 21 (AP).—The disabled plane of Archie Ferguson, missing since Thursday with two passengers, was located yesterday on a frozen lake just inside the arctic circle between Kotzebue sound and Fairbanks.

Because the lake was too small for the large rescue planes to alight supplies were dropped to the marooned men, none of whom was reported injured. Smaller planes will take them off the ice.

Dr. David Hoehn, Fairbanks, and Norman Anthony, attorney, of Kotzebue, were with Ferguson. The plane, endangered by ice on the wings, made a forced landing on the frozen lake while en route here.

ARMY A CAPPELLA CHOIR TO CAROL ON W-G-N TODAY

Red Cross to Have Hour Christmas Night.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The brisk, businesslike atmosphere that regularly surrounds army activities will vanish for 15 minutes today when the Fort Sheridan a cappella chorus presents a program of Christmas carols and other holiday music over W-G-N. The program will be part of "Your Army" from 2:15 to 2:30 p. m.

The chorus is made up of 35 officers, enlisted men, and wives of soldiers. It was organized by Lieut. Lynn Fairbanks. Private Stuart Cooper is the director. Ranking officers from Fort Sheridan and 6th corps area headquarters will be studio guests during the broadcast.

Eddie Cantor is giving up his half hour Christmas evening as are the sponsors of Mr. District Attorney. Time costs of these two half hours will be given by the sponsors to the Red Cross. During this hour from 8 to 9 on WMAQ-NBC the Red Cross will present a special Christmas program.

Fibber McGee and Molly will be cut in from Hollywood. The Aldrich family cast will give a sketch about the Red Cross and Eddie Cantor will be master of ceremonies. Dinah Shore, Bert Gordon, and others of his company will contribute to the show.

Jeanne Pidgeon, a student at Iowa State college, is getting a fine Christmas present—a free trip to New York, a chance to sing on the Fred Allen show and $200 in cash. Miss Pidgeon lives in Des Moines, Ia.

Norman Ross who is conducting a Cake for Charity drive thru his program on WBBM reports that he is near his goal of 6,000 cakes. Many women's clubs are contributing a dozen cakes or more. All the baked goods received will be distributed to needy families thru the United Charities organization.

Christmas presents for radio stars: Mary Martin, movie and radio songstress who took a vacation recently to have a baby, has been signed to sing regularly on the Bing Crosby show. . . . Betty Hutton, irrepressible jitterbug songstress, has been engaged by Bob Hope as a regular on his show. . . . Jan Peerce, who will be guest soloist on W-G-N's Theater of the Air presentation of "Eileen" Jan. 3, has been signed to sing the lead in a new series titled "Great Moments in Great Music" starting on CBS on Jan. 7. . . . Phil Baker takes over the Take It or Leave It program and will ask his first $64 question Dec. 28.

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Waugh, who when a small boy, saw his father ambushed and murdered in Santa Rita, returns there 20 years later, determined to bring the murderers to justice. He rescues Mary Lane from a holdup and finds she is the stepdaughter of Corbett Carey, his father's friend. He talks to Corbett's son, Carl, and learns that Jim Fallon, who was the first to arrive on the scene after the murder, has been employed by the Clintons since that time. Young Abner Clinton III, is Mary's suitor, but his grandfather, old Ab, instigated the murder. He visits Fallon, but his visit is interrupted by Warren Tracy and Ike Parker, who work on the Clinton ranch, run by Brad Clinton, son of old Ab. Old Ab, still living, owns controling interest in the ranch. Tracy, trying to keep Fallon from telling Jack everything, starts a fight, but Jack gives him a terrific beating. Jack hires Fallon to protect him from the Clintons. Fallon tells him he saw Brad and Tracy leave the scene of the Waugh murder. Jack also learns that old Ab robbed his father of his money belt after the murder. A shot fired from ambush narrowly misses Jack and he realizes the Clinton gang is out to get him. He meets Parker with Clem Peake, also employed by Brad, and recognizes them as the two men who held up Mary. He informs young Abner of this and is assured they will be arrested. Abner talks to his grandfather, who promises to turn the men over to the police, but instead old Ab offers Parker $500 to get rid of Jack. A note, supposedly from Carl, summons Jack to the Carey ranch. En route Jack rescues a man who, being mistaken for Jack, has been shot. He captures the assailants, who turn out to be Tracy, Parker, and Peake, takes them to the Carey ranch where Mary identifies Parker and Peake as the holdup men, and then he delivers them to the sheriff, who is at the Clinton ranch. The sheriff arrests Mary's holdup men but let's Tracy go free. Tracy and Brad hold up the sheriff and let Parker and Peake escape to a hideout in the mountains. In the meantime Paul Dillon, a small lad, is lost in the mountains and a posse of men is made up to search for him. Jack, one of the

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Wasted Courtesy.

One place where courtesy is wasted is in saying, "Thank you" to the girl at Cathedral 8000 who says musically, "At the next tone signal the time will be 8:36 and one quarter." She can't hear you.

The girls work on half hour shifts —48 in all. They are regular telephone operators and when not assigned to the "tone signal" department, do various other kinds of work.

The Cathedral 8000 girl is in a little, air conditioned, soundproof room where there are two clocks. The time is given every quarter minute and the service is so regulated that the tone signal comes one second after the operator finishes speaking. A light flashes showing when she is to speak.

Sometimes the tone signal girls are assigned to Weather 1212. This is a recording device, done every hour. The girl records the weather report as supplied thru a teletypewriter connected with the United States weather bureau. The record is played back to be sure it is correct and then broadcast from a recording device. The same report is broadcast until a new recording is made from the weather report the next hour.

Whether government censorship will affect this sort of weather forecasting is not known at present.

The Way of a Man.

"Why does a man let you sit, pencil in hand, ready to take dictation, while he talks endlessly on the telephone, and then, at the end of the day, when you're rushing like mad to get the letters out, say: 'Well, young woman, you've had a pretty easy day, haven't you?'"

This query from a secretary officially opens a new file. Let's see now . . . R . . . S . . . T . . . U . . . V . . . W . . . here we are: What We Don't Like About Men.

Town Topics.

They're telling about: The good looking brunette who takes an early morning I. C. train, her hair in wire curlers under a snood. Each morning, as she nears Randolph street, she removes the curlers and steps forth, as tho from a bandbox. . . . The preparations for some 12,000 airplane workers expected within a month or so in Wichita, Kas., many of them women. In England 80 per cent of the aircraft workers are women. . . . The doctor who dictated a medical textbook to his secretary without notes or reference books—a remarkable achievement on the part of each. . . . The "Sock-it-away" bank for your pennies, made from the kind of sock the kids in the neighborhood used to tease you about. . . . The waitress who brought the "overstuffed" lady a half grapefruit instead of the rich pastry she ordered, and the lady didn't say "boo." . . . The letter received by a Chicago business woman from a draftee saying that on the day the United States declared war on Japan he saw, in the army camp, a young Japanese soldier in United States uniform, leaning against a tree, alone and weeping. . . . The susceptible employer who clipped the paragraphs describing the ideal secretary, and left the clipping on her desk with the added words "All This and Heaven, Too."

Mars and Venus Make Yuletide Busy for Cupid

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE gods of love and war are alike responsible for the deluge of romantic announcements this morning. The Christmas holiday season always is a favorite for announcing engagements, and when there's a war every young person's thoughts turn to romance, apparently.

The housewarming that Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Northrop gave yesterday afternoon in their new home at 286 Ridge avenue, Winnetka, turned out to be an announcement party, for the friends who were there were told that Anne Thornton Northrop is engaged to Edward Trueblood Martin. Miss Northrop just returned on Saturday from Vassar, where she is a sophomore. She made her debut at a tea-dance at the Indian Hill club on Sept. 5. She was prepared for college at the Baldwin school in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Mr. Martin, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin of Winnetka, will be graduated from the University of Michigan in February. He went to the Asheville school before going to college. He has been president of the National Intercollegiate Flying club and intends to become an aeronautical engineer after leaving college. No date for the wedding has been set.

Larue Palmer Ford and D. C. Alton to Wed.

An announcement made on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Montague Palmer Ford of Newton Center, Mass., of the engagement of their daughter, Larue Palmer, to Douglas Campbell Alton, son of Mrs. Henry Winston Slaughter of Dartmouth, Mass., and W. Carol Wilson Alton of Evanston, is of intgrest here. Miss Ford is the granddaughter of Mrs. Katheryn L. Whitfield and the late Mr. Whitfield of Chicago, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Smith Thomas Ford and the late Rev. Mr. Ford of Chicago. Mr. Alton is the great-grandson of the late Milton H. Wilson of Evanston.

Miss Ford was graduated from the Choate school in Brookline, Mass., and now is studying at Stoneleigh college in Rye Beach, N. H. Mr. Alton was graduated from the Choate school in Wallingford, Conn., and attended Dartmouth college. He is serving in the naval reserve.

Of interest in Chicago and Geneva, where the Milton Johnston Blair family lived until they moved to New York, is an announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Blair made yesterday of the engagement of their only daughter, Jane, to Alleyne C. Howell Jr. The wedding is planned for the latter part of January. Miss Blair was educated at the Girls' Latin school in Chicago and Vassar college.

Mr. Howell, son of the Rev. A. C. Howell of New York and Cooperstown, N. Y., prepared for Yale at St. Paul's. He was graduated from Yale in 1934 and took his law degree at the University of Virginia in 1939. He now is practicing law in New York.

Katharine Johnston's Engagement Announced.

Announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Katharine Johnston to Allan Campbell Dewey at a tea given on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Johnston of Highland Park for their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams Johnston. Mr. Dewey and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Dewey of Detroit, were here for the party.

Both Miss Johnston and her fiancé are graduates of the University of Michigan. Miss Johnston, a fifth generation, Chicago, is a member of the Service club and the Infant Welfare society. Mr. Dewey is stationed at Fort Sheridan.

At a cocktail party at their home in Evanston yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick Falley made known that their daughter, Katharine, is engaged to David Cook Phillips, son of Charles A. Phillips and the late Mrs. Phillips, also of Evanston. Miss Falley returned on Saturday from Vassar, where she is a junior. She is a graduate of the Roycemore school.

Mr. Phillips, who practices law in Chicago, attended Williams college, the University of Wisconsin, and the Kent College of Law. He is a grandson of the late Ira Barton Cook.

Thomas W. Mather to Wed Shawano, Wis., Girl.

When Thomas Wylie Mather, Mrs. Edward F. Swift Jr.'s son, arrives tomorrow from Wisconsin, it will be as an officially engaged young man. Today in Shawano, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Adams are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Mr. Mather. Both are juniors at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Mather has been in Shawano visiting his fiancée's family, and Miss Adams will come to Chicago shortly after Christmas to be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Swift in their Lake Forest home. No date has been set for the wedding as Mr. Mather expects to be called into service shortly.

At a small Christmas wassail party on Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Reid of Ellis avenue announced the engagement of their daughter, Courtney Ann, to James H. Ingersoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Ingersoll of Winnetka. The engagement is doubly interesting to friends of the two families, since Miss Reid's sister, Eleanor, is married to James Ingersoll's brother, Robert S. Ingersoll of Flossmoor.

Young Mr. Ingersoll arrived at home on Friday from Dartmouth college, bringing a classmate, Rumsey Ewing of St. Louis, Mo. A graduate of the Choate school, he is in his senior year in college. Miss Reid attended Smith college.

Fork-McLaughlin Engagement Revealed.

Relatives and close friends of the Alexander G. McLaughlins who attended a small buffet supper last night in their Lake Shore drive apartment were told of the engagement of Mr. McLaughlin's daughter, Nancy, to Donald Fork.

Miss McLaughlin was graduated from the Hathaway Browne school in Cleveland, O., and attended Wellesley college for three years, leaving there last June to enter the Garland School of Homemaking in Boston, Mass. Young Mr. Fork, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Fork of Flossmoor, will be graduated in June from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Miss McLaughlin's first party since her engagement will be a dinner which the Peter C. Krupps and their sons, Peter Jr. and Edwin, will give for her tonight in their East Elm street home. Mrs. Krupp and Mrs. McLaughlin are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ladue Woolhiser of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Marion Clarke, to Robert Case Bennett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett of Highland Park. To celebrate the engagement the Woolhisers will give a small luncheon at home tomorrow for their daughter's friends.

Both young people are outstanding in amateur sports, Miss Woolhiser held the western junior tennis title for two years, and her fiancé is on the varsity swimming team at Yale university. He arrived home yesterday from his sophomore year at Yale. Miss Woolhiser, a former student at Leland Stanford university, is attending Northwestern university this winter.

From Scarsdale, N. Y., comes word of the engagement of Miss Gracia Tuttle, daughter of Robert E. Tuttle of Scarsdale, formerly of Glencoe, to J. Bower Corwin, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Last minute stocking stuffers

Since in most households Father's stocking is hung up too, why not fill it with small things he will really enjoy—instead of just anything that comes to hand? Ties, socks and gloves go in handily—while pipes, desk lighters or bottles of cologne make interesting bulges.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

Quiet, Please.

The office, for once, was quiet. Some one inevitably said: "You could hear a pin drop." One minute later a girl dropped a half pound box of pins.

Hog Caller.

We always understood Harpo Marx didn't talk, but it seems he does. Anyhow, he met a big, strapping girl at a Hollywood party. Impressed by her booming voice, as well as by her size, unusual among movie girls, he asked her what, if anything, was her profession. The young woman told him she was the champion hog caller of her class at Nebraska Agricultural college. Mr. Marx was skeptical, so the girl offered to prove her proficiency. They went to the nearest butcher shop, the girl did her stuff, and a pork chop moved. . . . Ernie Byfield takes full responsibility for this miracle.

Wrong Number.

When Theophila dialed what she thought was the telephone number of the Rosehill cemetery to inquire about the perpetual care of graves, she was startled to hear a man's voice say: "Do you mean you want the brakes adjusted?" Turned out she had dialed the number of the Rosehill Auto Repair company.

Explanation.

Johnny, age 9, gets an allowance of 25 cents a week. Of that he is supposed to put 10 cents in the Sunday school collection. The other day he asked for an increase. His mother inquired what he wanted it for. Johnny, pouting a little, said: "Every boy at school has more defense stamps than I have. Bobby and his sister EACH have a Red Cross button and window sticker. Donnie bought new toys to give away instead of his old madeover ones. What do you want me to be, the class pauper?"

Merry, What?

New note in Christmas cards: The reproduction of a painting of Henri Rousseau's called "The Sleeping Gypsy." It shows a dark, white robed figure prostrate, with a guitar and a bottle by his side. A full moon is shining dully in the sky and sniffing at the sleeping man is an enormous lion, with his tail alertly twitching.

Dry Humor.

A letter from Honolulu, dated Dec. 9, reads in part: "Rained practically all day yesterday, so mama did not get her washing out. Jap laundress did not show up yesterday. Perhaps because of the rain."

Green Coat.

The topcoat was made by a Chicago tailor from some bright green material brought home by friends from Bermuda. It was so very green that it hung in the closet most of the time. One cold day Larry Adler borrowed it from the owner and was urged to keep it for the week he was in town. At the end of the week he returned it, with a poem of thanks and 20 theater tickets in the pocket. The green coat remained in its owner's car. A few days later Robert Craven, appearing here in "Claudia," rode in the car, and being cold, put it on. He was urged to wear it to his hotel and send it back later. Mr. Craven meticulously did—the very next day. The owner is now planning to start a green coat loan service.

Thousands of Gift Stockings Are Filled to Cheer Navy Men

Three thousand Christmas stockings in three days!

This was the goal announced yesterday by Mrs. John P. Cohane, Chicago chairman of Bundles for Bluejackets, as the organization's Christmas stocking campaign for navy men in the Chicago area neared a close with 7,000 stockings filled and ready for distribution.

"I am sure that we will get 3,000 stockings before Wednesday, but it would be wonderful if we exceeded our goal," Mrs. Cohane said. "We will give the stockings to the men at Navy pier, Great Lakes Naval Training station, and the Naval armory some time Wednesday and we will have a big celebration for every one later in the evening."

Coöperating in the Bluejacket Christmas campaign are Woolworth's and Kresge's novelty stores; Liggetts', Walgreen's and Steinway drug stores, and Marshall Field and Carson, Pirie & Scott department stores. A person wishing to fill a stocking for a navy man may obtain the stocking free at any of these stores.

Four thousand Christmas stockings also will be given out Wednesday by the Service Men's center, Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, wife of the mayor, announced yesterday.

Holiday defense festivities began yesterday with the first of a series of parties for marines stationed in Chicago in the Camellia house of the Drake hotel. The party was sponsored by Mrs. L. Bauer Hall, the official "mother" of the marines in Chicago.

Swedish Choral Club Excels in 'The Messiah'

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Handel's "Messiah" was flung onto paper in 24 days. The composer was aflame with faith and felt that a divine hand was guilding his pen. The fire which passed from him into his score, and which makes the "Messiah" one of the most ardent of all assertions of the Christian hope, is still burning today—200 years after the oratorio's completion.

It enkindled a stageful of performers at Orchestra hall yesterday and turned a performance that threatened to be merely perfunctory into something sublime.

The first proof that the singers had been reached by the music came in the airs, "He Shall Feed His Flock" and "Come Unto Him," and the chorus, "His Yoke Is Easy." Here technical difficulties were transcended and the music became superspeech—direct, passionate, and infinitely moving.

This was the annual "Messiah" performance by the Swedish Choral club under Harry T. Carlson's direction. The women soloists—whose purity and simplicity and lack of mawkishness made the two airs mentioned above so extraordinary—were the soprano, Esther Hart, and the contralto, Ruth Slater.

The tenor was Charles Sears. His singing of the air, "But Thou Didst Not Leave His Soul in Hell," was distinguished for smoothness of texture and dignity of style.

The bass, Raymund Koch, struggled hopelessly with a cold. He gave up at the intermission, and Mark Love, who was in the audience, took his place. Mr. Love's powerful performance of "Why Do the Nations?" brought on an ovation.

The tone of the Swedish Choral club is still one of the miracles of this city. It has been said that the sound of massed sopranos is the most glorious this side of paradise, and Mr. Carlson seems to have been especially fortunate in this section of the chorus. This is not to be considered a reflection on the club's sturdy men's voices nor on its warm, tho not always perfectly smooth, alto section.

When the club's incredible tone material is used in conjunction with other musical resources for the highest artistic ends the results constitute nothing less than a revelation. Yesterday's performances of "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs" and the "Hallelujah" chorus were expressive and exalted beyond anything that we normally expect in the concert hall. Listeners were suddenly made sharers of a whole new world of thought and feeling.

Instrumental parts were supplied by a part of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and by the organist, Stanley Martin.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the Toronto Symphony orchestra and dean of the faculty of music of the University of Toronto, has a writing which reflects his years of education and specialized training. Some people go thru life absorbing so little of what they see and hear that mentally they remain as children. Sir Ernest's mind has been disciplined, shaped, refined, and matured by his experiences and studies. His handwriting reflects the chiseled perfection of his mind.

The letters of his writing have become simplified with the simplification which can only come thru culture. The forms are simple, short sharp strokes, yet to the expert these abbreviated strokes tell the story of years of mental application.

Note the "t" in the first name. See the triangular stroke across the middle of the stem? That type of formation reveals persistence. And that i-dot he uses, which resembles two sides of a triangle, indicates his keen, critical mind.

Dance - Music Program Tepid, Critic Asserts

BY CECIL SMITH.

A program bearing the grandiose title of "Synchrony of Music and the Dance" was presented in the Goodman theater last night, and will be repeated there on Tuesday evening. Far from shedding any new light upon the aesthetic problem of the relationship of music to dancing, the program merely offered a rather lukewarm and conventional alternation of musical selections and dance compositions.

So far as the "synchrony" went, it consisted of six dance compositions, of which five were choereographed by Leyah Lucatsky and one by Madge Friedman. In various ensembles these two dancers were joined by Eloise Moore and a group of six girls; and Miss Lucastsky and Miss Friedman each danced a rather rambling solo toward the end of the evening.

The most pretentious dance work, called "Hexapoda," was danced to five movements by Robert Russell Bennett. Hexapoda, in case you did not know, are six legged insects, and by a long stretch of her imagination Miss Lucatsky and Miss Friedman bug in this zoölogical species. The composition, without satisfactory climax or coördination, attempted to fuse a bit of mild rug cutting with standard Martha Graham and Hanya Holm devices.

More than half the evening was devoted to rather unilluminating performances of chamber music by Haydn, Schubert, and H. Waldo Warner, played by a string quartet composed of Oscar Chausow, David Moll, Harold Sher, and Richard Beidel. Verna Trine was the accompanying pianist. The program was sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 21.—Sunday—It is no longer news that Los Angeles is the craziest town, and one should expect to encounter anything. But I must tell you about the new kind of pitch my wife found downtown yesterday—a veritable honey of a carnival pitch right in the middle of the holiday shopping crowd. The pitchman had a stool and a big chart, and he was wearing a white jacket. One his forehead was one of those reflectors the throat doctor uses when he looks down your gozzle. The reflector was simple show business and had no connection with what he was doing. He was taking people's blood pressure for a dime—and doing a fine trade.

Monday—Hither and yon. Another oddment of crazytown: There's an Earl Carroll chorus girl named Jacqueline Potato. So Jetsi Posthuma drops to second billing in my name collection . . . The war has given Richard Arlen a financial sock. Uncle Sam has grounded his 24 commercial planes, representing a large investment. Just to make sure the planes wouldn't be used, Uncle took all the propellers. . . . Overheard—A young girl babbling: "He looks just like Cary Grant only he wears glasses." . . . One of the characters in Gregory La Cava's "The Sheltered Side" will be a sort of female Death Valley Scotty. The rôle falls to Queenie Vassar, Joseph Cawthorn's wife, whose last screen appearance was as Grandma in La Cava's "The Primrose Path."

Tuesday—To RKO, and from a window I see Michele Morgan, in black velvet beret, jacket and slacks, trying to back her big convertible into the parking lot. She has a heck of a time but no gallant offers to help her. . . . June Havoc, the studio's new clown, is endangering many lives by riding a bicycle around the lot. "Look out!" she yells. "I'm deadly on this thing." . . . At lunch, Eyre Powell, press man for the chamber of commerce, says there's confusion about newspapermen's and cameramen's passes. Nobody knows yet what pass will be good during a war emergency. It's likely that sheriff's and state identifications won't work, but the army may issue a real one.

Wednesday—Early to the Beverly Hills city hall, the civilian defense organization having called me to come in for classification. When I applied the day after Pearl Harbor I was given a questionnaire asking what I was fitted for and it made me feel foolish. Most citizens I've talked to say they felt the same way—that they suddenly had to look at themselves and discover they were good for very little. They had no special knowledge and were fit only for being car drivers or air raid wardens—and the latter only after special instruction. Sir Cedric Hardwicke told me he felt baffled, but when he made it known that he was a bombing officer in the last war the city hall workers greeted him warmly. He knew explosives, so he was immediately assigned to a demolition squad.

Thursday—Lunch with Van Heflin, Broadway player who is going places in the MGM contract list following his performances in "H. M. Pulham Esq." and "Johnny Eager." . . . A deal of calling around. Claire Trevor gets a good part in the Cary Grant-Ronald Colman-Jean Arthur film Columbia is making. First titled "Mr. Twilight" and now known as "The Gentleman Misbehaves," the thing will have a new title soon.

Friday—An advance view of the Warners' "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and it's immensely funny. Funnier, I think, than the play. Its pace is so rapid you don't notice its length, thanks to sagacious directing and cutting by Bill Keighley. . . . Monty Woolley, leaping at the camera like a trout after a May fly, is superbly devilish.

Saturday—To Universal, hoping to catch Lon Chaney Jr. working as the ghost of Frankenstein. But Lon is out for a few days. His horrific make-up has burned the skin of his forehead and they're shooting around him.

Good Morning!

KIND—War drama.
LOCALE—London.
TIME—1940.

ACTING—Excellent. . . . Roddy McDowall has the most sympathetic rôle and he plays it like a seasoned trouper. He is a young boy and portrays an unsung hero who meets death from enemy bombs atop a roof where he has insisted on keeping vigil—watching for carrier pigeons, due home with important messages. . . . Don Ameche is seen as an American newspaper man with the Consolidated Press. . . . Joan Bennett [unflatteringly photographed] depicts a girl worker whom he meets during a blackout. . . . Fine bit work by John Loder as a censor, Eric Blore and Billy Bevan.

DIRECTION—Capable.
PHOTOGRAPHY—Unremarkable.
SUSPENSE—Lots of it.
AUDIENCE APPEAL—Plenty for those who having read war, listened to war, talked war, seen war in news reels, want more war dished up to them in their feature pictures.

See you soon.

Mystery Lends Enchantment, So Don't Tell All

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

There's one fault about women, according to our masculine informants, which makes men tired of them. That fault is telling all their troubles and innermost feelings.

Women usually are so mixed up emotionally that, when they get into one of those little heart to heart talks that frequently occur between a man and a woman who have been seeing a great deal of each other, the woman may give her thoughts away so completely that, instead of admiration, the man has nothing but pity left for her.

Often, too, a woman will tell of all her past disappointments in love. The long suffering man listens patiently for the first few times, but gradually he becomes bored, and does not care to see as much of her. Then the woman, who has learned to love this "understanding" man, finds herself suddenly missing those regular telephone calls.

The woman successful with man is she who "keeps them guessing," one of the hardest things for a woman to do, but if she would learn to refrain from "telling all," she would be much more interesting to a man because he never would be quite sure of her thoughts. He would love her because she let him talk and talk and talk about himself, even if it's only about business. And never, never must a woman let on, for an instant, that business talk bores her. Her man will shut up like a clam if she does.

After the time of the Christmas tree is over, don't just throw it away. . . . Use the branches in the fireplace. . . . And if this holiday time it has seemed that too much valuable heat has gone up the chimney, instead of out into the room, check on the possibilities of installing a circulating fireplace right in your existing fireplace. . . . According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

About 25 thousand sets of answers in connection with the recent national examination were sent to me for marking, and the vast amount of labor involved makes a full report impossible at this time. I shall begin reviewing controversial questions at the earliest possible moment. Meanwhile, however, the following announcements are in order:

In question 15, five spade and five heart answers were inadvertently grouped with other preëmptive bids, such as three and four spades. Actually, an opening five spade or five heart bid was not bad. Hence, in marking up papers sent to me, I assessed only a 15 point demerit instead of the 50 point demerit which was indicated. Examinees who kept their own scores should, of course, make the proper adjustment.

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.

North-South vulnerable; 30 part-score.

	NORTH ♠K984 ♥7 ♦QJ873 ♣J65
WEST ♠AQJ102 ♥864 ♦52 ♣832		EAST ♠7· ♥KQJ53 ♦A6 ♣K10974
	SOUTH ♠653 ♥A1092 ♦K1094 ♣AQ

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	2 diamonds	2 hearts
Pass	Pass	3 diamonds	3 hearts
Double	Pass	4 diamonds	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

I cannot say why South chose to open with one diamond instead of the more logical, orthodox, heart bid. However, from that point on the bidding was more or less normal.

West, surprisingly enough, chose to open the spade ace and, when his partner played the seven, continued with the spade queen. East ruffed dummy's king and now, holding on to his singleton ace of trumps for reasons known only to himself, shifted to a low club. This was really two mistakes in one play. It was bad enough to keep the diamond ace, but doubly bad to lead a club from the K-10-9. [If declarer had held the A-Q and a small club instead of the A-Q blank, East's club lead would have made it possible for the declarer to avoid any losers in the suit.] As it was, declarer won with the club queen, cashed the heart ace, and ruffed a heart. He reëntered his hand with the club ace to ruff another heart, and then ruffed the club jack to ruff his last heart in dummy.

Now, with clubs and hearts stripped from both the North and South hands, declarer, praying that East had made a mistake and was now down to the blank ace of diamonds, exited from dummy with a trump. Declarer's prayer was answered. East, indeed, had the blank ace and now had to return either a club or heart. On either declarer could discard his remaining spade while ruffing in dummy, then could return to his own hand by ruffing a spade and draw West's remaining trump, for the fulfilling trick.

The moral is that a defender should not hold on to a singleton high trump unless he can see an excellent and specific reason for doing so.

Adviser Gives Noel Graces and Prayers

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

There always are some requests from the readers of this column for suitable poems which the younger children might recite for the family gathering around the tree, after dinner is over and every one is ready to play games and be entertained. If the selection is to tie up definitely with Christmas, our choice is not very wide. At various times I have gone over anthologies compiled with this very idea in mind, but without much result. Then I find myself going back to the time-proved words of the old carols.

Of these, one of the simplest and loveliest for reciting is "Away in a Manger," written long years ago by Martin Luther for his own child. If your little boy or girl could sing it, it would be that much sweeter. If you haven't the music, you could teach it to your child to the melody of "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," which is really what the tune resembles.

Away in a manger,
No crib for His bed,
The little Lord Jesus
Laid down His sweet head.
The stars in the sky,
Looking down where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus
Asleep in the hay.
The cattle are lowing,
The poor baby wakes,
But little Lord Jesus,
No crying He makes.
I love Thee, Lord Jesus,
Look down from the sky,
And stay by my cradle
Till morning is nigh.

Another gentle old Christmas poem is Emilie Poulsson's "While Stars of Christmas Shine":

While stars of Christmas shine
Lighting the skies,
Let only loving looks
Beam from your eyes.
While bells of Christmas ring
Joyous and clear,
Speak only loving words
All mirth and cheer.
Give only loving gifts
And in love take;
Gladden the poor and sad
For love's dear sake.

Of the other carols with words simple enough and in correct rhythm to be spoken are all or part of the following, but not necessarily for the very youngest children:

"Silent Night."

"Shepherds! Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep."

"Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem."

"It Came upon the Midnight Clear."

If you want your child to say the grace at Christmas dinner, here are a few taken from our collection:

Father, we thank Thee for Thy love
Shown in such lovely ways;
For food to eat, both plain and sweet,
Accept our grateful praise.

* *

Little Jesus, come, and be our guest.

* *

We thank Thee, Lord, for the world so sweet,
We thank Thee, Lord for the food we eat.
We thank Thee, Lord, for the birds that sing.
We thank Thee, Lord, for everything.

Sally Appeals for DC Radio for Blind Girl

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

We find that radios which can be used on direct current are rather difficult to obtain, and because some of our most urgent requests come from persons living in districts in which only that type of instrument can be used, we are making a special appeal for them.

Mrs. C. has requested a radio for a girl who is totally blind and confined to her room most of the time. She lives on the near north side, and if a direct current radio is available, a friend will be glad to call for and deliver it to her.

Mr. S. is elderly and has wanted a radio for a long time. He has an arrested case of tuberculosis and is unable to work. Living on a meager relief allowance, he has little money for luxuries of any kind. In severe weather it is necessary that he remain indoors much of the time, and a radio would help to pass many lonely hours for him. He, too, lives on the near north side where only direct current is available.

Miss B, a social service worker, has requested a small radio for one of her cases—a man who has been a shut-in for the last 30 years. He was afflicted with infantile paralysis, and since his life is now limited and dull, he would be most happy and grateful if some reader could provide a radio for him. The worker will be glad to arrange delivery. Alternating current is used in the district in which he lives.

Mrs. M. would also be grateful for a radio, since she is ill and on relief. Because of an eye condition, she can no longer pass the time in reading. Seldom able to go outdoors, she is alone much of the time.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Little lovely gifts that won't break you in your final sallies into the crowded shops:

Boxes of exquisite soap in a heavenly shade of blue, the celestial motif carried out still further by the raised imprint of a white soaring angel! It's a pretty angel decorated box, too. You can buy one set of two cakes in the complexion size; one big bath cake or a set composed of one bath and one complexion cake.

Like the scent of apple blossom? Most women do, which means you can be comfortably assured in giving things in this scent to your feminine friends. One charming set in this airy, sweet fragrance consists of cologne, with an atomizer, plus a shaker box of feathery powder in the same scent. For all this bath luxury, $1.75.

The fragrance that permeates the cakes of angel decorated soap is captured in a bath oil, too, one that makes the water soft as rain and six times sweeter smelling. This oil, with a cake of toilet size and one of bath size soap, is assembled in a box blue as the sky and peopled with serene white angels. The set [2 drams of oil in the vial], $1.50.

Or, how about a stocking filler that's fun and useful, too? He's a cheery little red, white, and blue guardsman, or at least that's his disguise. Actually he's a shaker of dusting powder for afterbath use, and his head is a hard, round cake of fragrant soap. He costs $1.

Child's Crocheted Dress

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

When youngsters start on their initial tour of discovery, they must have some serviceable dresses which can stand wear and tear. This crocheted dress is brimming with style and originality. The clever yoke and tiny puffed sleeves are the epitome of daintiness. The ribbons thru the hem of the skirt also are new style points, and they are repeated around the sleeves and in the center front yoke. The pattern is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, and 8.

For instructions in crocheting the child's dress, No. 800, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Refrigerator Rolls Easy on Kitchen Time

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Refrigerator rolls usually contain more sugar than the everyday kind. That's so the little yeast plants will have something to feed upon quietly while they hibernate in the chilly interior of your refrigerator. They do grow some, too, even while they're being chilled, so you can expect that dough to rise a bit.

The beauty about making refrigerator rolls is that you can do all the hard work of kneading and mixing a day, or two, or three, before you want to bake the buns. And you can take just enough for one meal out of your batch of dough, to bake fresh rolls for supper, then leave the remainder to produce fresh, hot bread at a later meal.

Refrigerator Rolls.
[About four dozen small rolls.]

- 1½ cups scalded milk
- ½ cup butter
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 cakes yeast
- 1 egg
- About 5½ cups flour

Add butter and salt to scalded milk, and let cool to lukewarm. Add sugar to yeast, and let stand 10 minutes or longer, until yeast has liquefied. Beat egg and add with liquefied yeast to lukewarm milk mixture. Add to 4 cups of the sifted flour and beat thoroly. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough, turn out onto a floured board, and knead until satiny and elastic, 10 minutes or so. Avoid adding more flour than is absolutely necessary, because feathery rolls come from soft dough. When dough no longer sticks to the board or to the hands, round it up, grease it, and place it in a cold, greased bowl, in which there is room for rising. Cover with a plate, waxed paper, or a clean dish towel and store in the refrigerator until wanted.

Take dough from refrigerator three hours or more before rolls are to be baked. Allow it to warm to room temperature. Punch down dough and shape into rolls. Place rolls in greased pans, brush with butter, and let rise until very light and double in bulk before baking. Bake in a 425 degree oven until brown, about 15 minutes.

Some cooks let refrigerator dough rise once before storing it in the refrigerator. You may find that you get a better texture that way. If you do this, let the mixed dough stand about 2 hours at room temperature, or until it is double in bulk. Then punch down thoroly, shape into a ball, and store, as directed, in the refrigerator.

THE Kitchen Kibitzer

By MARIAN CARTER

A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some novelty to her daily routine.

No, those fruit cakes shouldn't mold. Wrap them very well, keep them in an airtight container (seal the edges with scotch tape) and store in a fairly cool, dry place.

* * *

Why don't you buy yourself a Christmas present of a meat thermometer? Then you'll always know when the beef roast is ready to take out of the oven. You can have it brown on the outside and rarish within, as it should be—always.

* * *

What! ONION with FRUIT! Indeed, yes! Don't forget how good onion dressing is on orange or grapefruit salad. Well, onion rings are good in many fruit salads, too. Orange and onion, avocado, grapefruit and onion, even pineapple and onion will delight you.

* * *

Got some leftover buttered cabbage? Put it into a greased casserole, cover with white sauce, sprinkle with cheese and crumbs and pop into the oven just long enough to heat thru and brown. Good, isn't it?

* * *

Add the tiniest pinch of sugar to your cooking carrots. It will help bring out their best flavor. A smidgen of sugar helps stewed tomatoes, too. But not peas, which have plenty of natural sugar of their own.

* * *

And did you know that you can make hard sauce with brown sugar instead of confectioners' sugar? Makes a nice change, once in a while.

* * *

Bake 'em in a hot oven if you want those potatoes mealy. Set the regulator at 450 degrees.

* * *

Now don't get into a stew because that mayonnaise curdled. Just drop an egg yolk (or whole egg) into a bowl and beat the dressing into it gradually. The reason it curdled was because you added the oil too fast. You'll know better next time!

Pastel Sweater Ideal Gift for College Girls

BY REA SEEGER.

Gifts for a school or college girl just returned for a two week holiday binge of parties and sleeping [few hours devoted to the latter] include such carefully hinted about items as three pastel colored sweaters. These will rejuvenate a slightly jaded wardrobe and provide the right chorus of envious Oh,s and Ah's when she returns to school. Try luscious pastels such as candy pink, heaven blue, and parma violet, or go strong with one scarlet, one black, and one canary yellow, or try the middle choice of cornflower blue, a snowy white, and a stunning bronze green. Of course a single sweater rates almost the same appreciation!

Bows, lace scarves, and tufts of feathers for gala occasions are ready for hairdos. Three tufts of ostrich feathers shimmer with dewdrops of twinkling rhinestones. These ostrich curls are fastened to a wee comb to place at front or back. Red, black, babyblue, turquoise, and white are available. Spangled lengths of veiling are beau catcher items, really veils to wear over the hair to keep it in place.

A lace edged net apron in black is another find. Such an apron will completely revive any dated dress, making it dress parade enough to wear tea-dancing or for Sunday supper parties. Beanies or dinks made of sequins in vivid green, black, white, and red are always tops with these young clothes hounds. Small bags to match complete any party going costume and provide suitable shine and glory for the most festive occasion.

Warm cuddly mittens in angora, alive with sequins, come in all colors and white and black . . . white kid mittens are trimmed with either silver or gold kidskin, black velvet mittens are lined with white and go glamorous with insets of gold kidskin, appliqued designs of birds, stars, or flowery braid motifs.

Shoulder shawls deep with fringe come in fine challislike wool and in silk. They are the most distracting trifles in color contrast imaginable. The fringe is deep and luxurious. Ostrich feather muffs large or small, marabou boleros, lace muffs, evening jackets that shimmer with braid and sequins complete a good list of ideas for the gift boxes destined for this large crowd of most appreciative midwinter vacationists.

WILSON'S Holiday RECIPES

"We're planning a 'home and fireside' holiday season," writes a homemaker. "So, please, in your weekly column, give suggestions (Wilson meat treats) for a New Year's Buffet—something gay but hearty for the young folks home from college and the guests in our midst."

Nothing could please me more! This is the kind of home defense of which I approve.

In center of a round tray, arrange a tomato tulip. Surround this with a ring of "Bull's Eyes." These are open sandwiches made of Wilson's Certified Deviled Tender Made Ham, topped with a thin slice of a hard boiled egg and a slice of stuffed olive.

Arrange two outer circles of cocktail crackers topped with Wilson's Certified Cocktail Frankfurters. Spread crackers first with horseradish sauce. Place a cocktail frankfurter on each. Garnish with pickled onion in the center, held by a colored toothpick. Decorate platter with several American flags.

CERTIFIED Tender Made Ham "1942"

Allow the Ham to come to room temperature. Heat in an open roasting pan 5 minutes per pound. Remove skin, cover the ham with honey, decorate with large cloves spelling "1942." Return ham to the oven to brown. Remember only Wilson & Co. makes genuine Certified Tender Made Ham, the delicious and famous "ham you cut with a fork" and America's finest.

"JIFFY" CHICKEN DISH

Cut the meat from 1 can of Wilson's Certified Lasting Flavour Chicken into large pieces. Use 3 cups Sauce Supreme (a medium thick white sauce, made with chicken stock and cream). Add 2 cups of cooked, diced celery and 3 canned pimientos, diced. Add 2 Clear Brook Eggs beaten and thinned with a little cream. Reheat, but do not boil. Serves 16.

MIDGET BISCUITS

I recommend that you make these with Wilson's BAKE-RITE, a grand, new, all-purpose, *vegetable shortening.

And may friends and family bring you happy holidays.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Goalie Turk Broda of the Toronto Maple Leafs could have made 18,306 hockey fans very happy in Chicago Stadium by simply being a teeny bit less efficient. But Turk was sore because the Hawks beat him and his mates in Toronto Saturday night, 2 to 0, so he acted as main man in the 3 to 0 defeat of the Chicagoans last night. The Leafs scored their last two goals in the last minute and 15 seconds simply because the Hawks were going all out for a tie.

Gordon Drillon scored on a rather fuzzy goal in the second period and thruout the remainder of the second period and all the third period the Hawks operated desperately in the Toronto defense zone until the Leafs did their late scoring, once when Goalie Sammy Lo Presti had been withdrawn and, again, on a breakaway just before the game ended.

Close—But No Goals!

Most frenzied efforts of the Hawks came after the 16 minute mark in the third period when five forwards vied with three Leafs, goalies excepted. The Hawks kept the puck on Broda's upholstery, but nothing they could do was ample for scoring purposes.

After the Leafs were returned to full force, Lo Presti was withdrawn to give the Hawks six forwards. Under these circumstances Billy Taylor got possession of the rubber and, standing on his own blue line, slid it down the rink for the second Toronto goal.

With the Leafs leading, 2 to 0, Lo Presti went back in the nets. The Hawks bore down on Broda again, but the puck squirted to Lorne Carr, who skated solo down the ice to accomplish the third goal. The time of Taylor's counter was 18:45, that of Carr 19:19.

Leafs Even Season's Series.

The outcome was the second defeat in 10 games the Hawks have played in the Stadium. It evened the season's competition with the Leafs. They have whipped the Hawks twice by a 3 to 0 score, and the Hawks have trimmed them 3 to 2 and 2 to 0. The Chicagoans remained in third place, a point ahead of the New York Rangers.

Since the first goal was the one that beat the Hawks, here's some detail about it:

Joe Cooper who had drawn the only Hawk penalty in the first period, without any dire results, was put off for holding, shortly after the start of the second period, and this time his absence was attended by grievous results.

Broda Works Overtime.

In the face-off which attended Cooper's banishment, Nick Metz batted the puck to Bucko McDonald, stationed on his left boards not far inside the blue line. McDonald cut loose with a hard one and Drillon steered it against Goalie Lo Presti's leggings whence the rubber went bounding into the nets. Drillon was credited with the goal and McDonald and Metz earned assists. The time was 1:29.

McDonald was the victim of the first Toronto penalty, well along in the second period and while he was off Cully Dahlstrom, Red Hamill, Bill Thoms, Phil Hergesheimer and Earl Seibert peppered Goalie Broda something terrific, but couldn't quite notch a tying counter. They also were playing furiously in the last minute and a half of the second period while Bingo Kampman was off the ice for being too rough with George Allen. Then came that big third period when everything turned mournful.

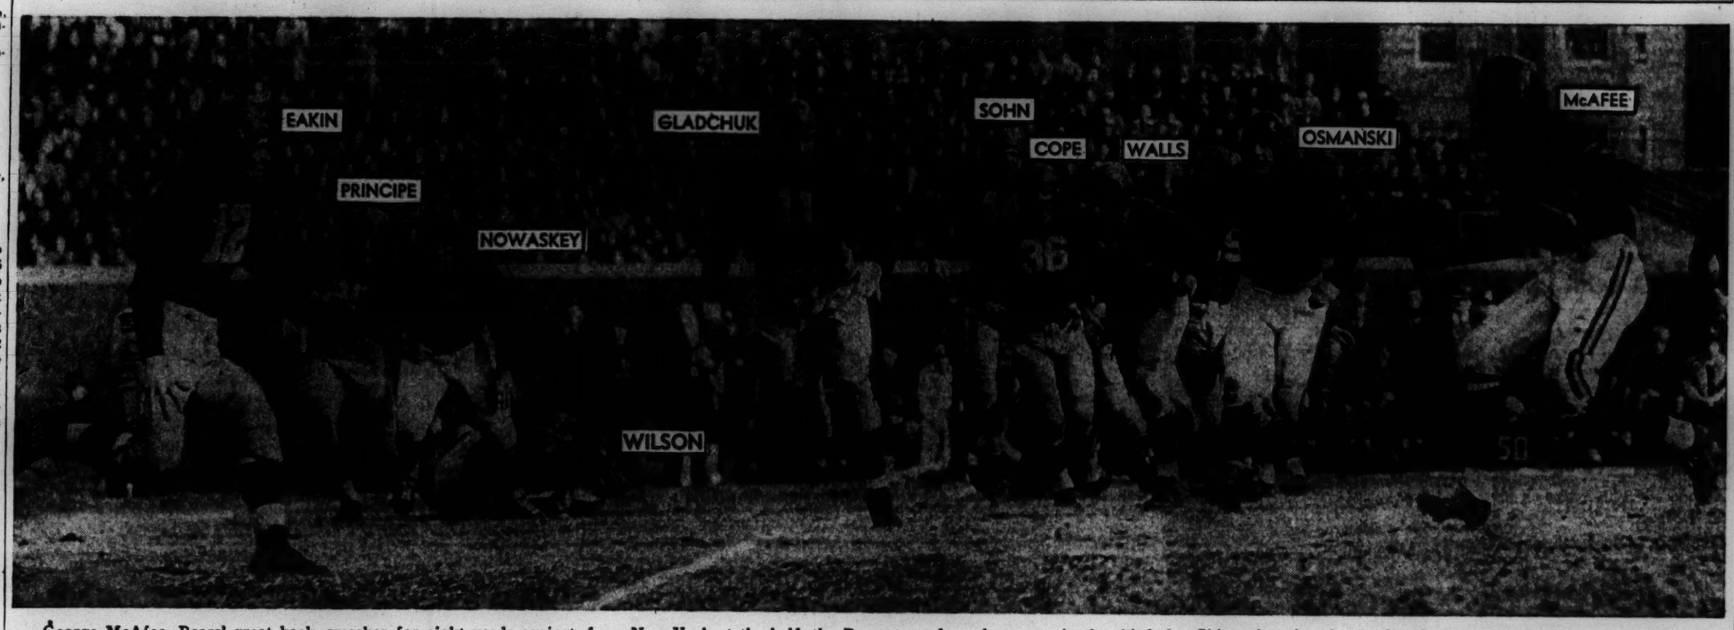
EIGHT MORE YARDS FOR BEARS IN SWEEP TO ANOTHER TITLE



George McAfee, Bears' great back, smashes for eight yards against the Giants in second quarter of National Football league title game in Wrigley field yesterday. Holding only a 9 to 6 margin over their rivals from New York at the half, the Bears turned on the power in the third and fourth periods to score four touchdowns and sweep to their second straight crown, 37 to 9. Bob Snyder, Bears back, kicked three field goals for Chicago's points in the first half. A field goal by Ward Cuff of the Giants tied the score at 9 to 9 shortly after the third period opened. A crowd of 13,341 watched the game. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Bears' spectacular football story of 1941 came to a smashing and record breaking end yesterday afternoon in Wrigley field.

They broke thru first with a kicking finesse their opponents had used in other years, then graduated to their devastating running and passing attack to turn the National Football league championship game with the New York Giants into a 37 to 9 rout.

Thus they concluded a 19 game schedule which started in mid-August in winning their 18th victory of the season, six in exhibition games. There were only 13,341 watching the Bears make their final kill of the year. The imminence of the Christmas season and the fans' correct belief the eastern champions would be no match for the Bears were reasons enough for the disappointing turnout even tho the 47 degree temperature was inviting to the sports minded.

They'll Meet All-Stars in 1942.

Not since the Bears won titles in 1932 and 1933 had a National league team succeeded in repeating. By winning, the Bears qualified to meet the College All-Stars next August in Soldiers' field. They also won their way into the Pro bowl game which will be played on Jan. 4 in the Polo Grounds against players of the circuit's nine other teams.

The Bears went to their dressing room at half time with a 9 to 6 advantage gained by the field goal kicking wizardry of Bob Snyder, the baldish fellow from Toledo, O. He kicked one in the first quarter and two in the second to tie the league record for a championship game. Jack Manders, now a Bear line coach, set the record against New York in 1933.

There was a time, later in the game, when a fourth opportunity was near for Snyder, but an interference play on a pass put the Bears in position for the third of their four second half touchdowns which were equally divided in the two periods. Snyder kicked two goals last week in the western division playoff against Green Bay. Earlier in the season, against the Packers, he kicked two for two, giving him seven in that many tries for the season in three of the Bears' most important assignments.

It's McAfee and Standlee.

The bold, knock 'em down running of George McAfee and Norm Standlee was the story of the second half. Their wild thrusts often as not ended with them rolling for additional yardage while shackled by Giant tacklers. Once, as he bolted along after being hit and half driven to the ground, Standlee lost the back of his jersey. These three—Snyder, Standlee, and McAfee—got most of the cheers, but there also were other items, such as a hard charging Bear line that most of the afternoon kept the Giants off balance.

The Giants made one sudden thrust in the first quarter for their only touchdown and the main fellow was George [Sonny] Franck of Minnesota, who made a long punt return, then caught a pass in the flat which ended in a twenty-seven yard scoring run. The Giants' other successful penetration was a field goal early in the third quarter by Ward Cuff which gave them a 9 to 9 deadlock. It was here that the Bears turned to the touchdown method to score. They were ahead, 23 to 9, at the end of the third period.

The Numerals Are Reversed.

The Bears made 73 points on Dec. 8 last year in setting up their championship dynasty against the Redskins in Washington. Yesterday, the numerals were just the reverse. This gave the Chicagoans 110 points against 9 in their last two title bat-

DARTMOUTH AND ILLINI SEXTETS TO PLAY TONIGHT

The Dartmouth college team, continuing its holiday invasion of western states, and the University of Illinois' national co-champions of 1940-'41 clash in the Arena at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Chicago's first intersectional intercollegiate ice hockey game.

Dartmouth started its trip with an even break in the Rocky Mountain area, beating Colorado college last Friday, 3 to 2, and losing to the same team on Saturday night, 3 to 1. They play Illinois again in Champaign tomorrow night and then proceed to Minneapolis to oppose Minnesota this week-end.

Owen, Priestly Follow Today.

Ten of the 12 members of the Illini squad and Coach Vic Heyliger arrived last night and opened headquarters in the Eastgate hotel. The other two will follow this afternoon. They are Starr Owen and Gil Priestly, who are stationed at Chanute field, near Champaign. They have been permitted by air corps officials to continue enough university studies to remain eligible for hockey competition.

Members of the Illinois advance guard include Capt. Joe Lotzer, Roland De Paul, Mario and Aldo Palazzari, Amo Bessone, George Balestri, Ray Killen, Jack Gillan. De Paul and the Palazzari brothers probably will start in the front line with Bessone and Balestri as defense men, and Killen as goal keeper. Gillan, a resident of Western Springs, has a swollen eye but will be available to relieve Killen.

Dartmouth Alumni Meet.

The Dartmouth players will be entertained this evening by Chicago Dartmouth alumni in the University club. The offensive stars of the Big Green are three sophomores, Bill Harrison, Dick Rondeau, and Jack Riley. Probable lineups:

OREGON STATE TEAM HERE FOR LUNCHEON TODAY

The Oregon State football team, en route to Durham, N. C., to battle Duke on Jan. 1 in the transplanted Rose bowl game, will arrive in Chicago this morning. The squad will be guests of Oregon State alumni and friends at a luncheon in the Sherman hotel at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. Coach Lon Stiner plans to send his team thru a brief drill later this afternoon on Stagg field. The squad will leave for Durham tonight.

American Association Pro Title Won by Wilmington

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 21 (AP).—The Wilmington Clippers' three-year quest for a championship in the American Professional Football association came to an end today when the Delaware eleven trounced the Long Island Indians from Valley Stream, N. Y., 21 to 13, in a playoff game before 6,000.

'S' Men of Bears Enjoy a Big Day Against Giants

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Bears' S men, Bob Snyder and Norm Standlee, had the skill and power to carry the Chicago Bears to their second consecutive National league championship. When the Bears finished, after a lethargic first half, they had 37 points to the Giants' 9 and by coincidence had the same pair of digits they rang up in the record breaking title game a year ago in Washington when the Redskins were overwhelmed, 73 to 0. Snyder kicked three field goals and an extra point for 10 points. Standlee scored two touchdowns.

New York really never had a chance to win, altho George Franck's speed and Tuffy Leemans' passing gave the Giants a touchdown for a 6 to 3 lead at the end of the first period. The Giants' defensive huddle and a five man line supported by a closely drawn secondary of three others [actually on occasions New York practically had a wide eight man line] did well enough for the first half against the Bears' inside plays. After the intermission, however, the Giants bowed out of the fight.

Perfect Record for Snyder.

Snyder had kicked four field goals in four attempts this season. These had contributed to the Bears' two victories over the Green Bay Packers. The longest of these was 34 yards. Yesterday he tried three and succeeded each time. Snyder place kicked with the ball held on the 14 yard line for the opening score of the game. On the first play of the second quarter Bob place kicked 39 yards to tie the score, 6 to 6, and break his own longest kick record. Then, just before the end of the half, Snyder kicked 37 yards.

Snyder took the play away from New York's Ward Cuff, who also is quite a place kicking artist. Moreover, Snyder tied the record for number of place kicks in a championship game that Jack Manders of the Bears established on this same gridiron in 1933 when the Bears whipped the Giants, 23 to 21.

Standlee Outgains Giants.

Standlee's contribution is clearly indicated by his eighty-nine yards by rushing, nine yards more than all the Giants gained by the same means. Most of Standlee's gains were made on plays wide of the New York tackles, or after taking flat passes. The Giants' defensive formation made this attack necessary.

At the start of the game the Giants played [left to right] Jim Poole, John Mellus, Kayo Lunday, Bill Edwards, and Jim Howell on the defensive line of scrimmage. Supporting them [left to right] were Nello Falaschi, Len Younce, and Mel Hein. Never more than a step back, these three men effectively plugged the holes the Bears opened for quick thrusts by their half backs.

Unusual First Period.

While the statistics present a true picture of the game, since the Bears outplayed the Giants in all departments, figures for the first period were unusual. For instance, the Giants made only one first down in 30 minutes, yet this one first down by passing was followed by Leemans' touchdown pass to Franck and a 6 to 3 lead. In the first half the Bears tallied 11 first downs by rushing without getting a touchdown.

The Bears advanced after the opening kickoff to the Giants' 6 yard line and then had to settle for a field goal. They had possession of the ball for 10 minutes and 34 seconds after the start, something of a record in any game. Two minutes and 6 seconds later the Giants led, 6 to 3.

After the climax of last week's Bears-Green Bay play-off, yesterday's game was disappointing. The attendance set an all-time low for the championship battle between the divisions of the league. New York newspaper men were severely critical of Chicago as a sports center, alleging, among other uncomplimentary remarks, that

LEO, DE LA SALLE REACH FINAL OF ST. GEORGE MEET

South Side Teams Play for Title Tonight.

Two south side Catholic high school quintets will meet tonight for the championship of the eighth annual St. George basketball tournament when Leo High, national champion, opposes De La Salle High at 9 o'clock in the St. George gymnasium, 350 Sherman street, Evanston.

The title game will be preceded at 8 o'clock by a contest for third place between De Paul and Mount Carmel.

De La Salle eliminated Mount Carmel last night in the first semi-final, 33 to 29, and Leo's powerful team scored a 50 to 30 triumph over De Paul in the other semi-final.

Two Records Set.

Leo set two records last night and is certain to break one and perhaps both in the final tonight. The Lions broke their own tournament scoring record of 95 points, established Saturday, and ran their total to 145. This is certain to be shattered again tonight, obviously. The second mark was recorded by Jim O'Halloran of the Lions, who registered eight field goals for 16 points to run his individual aggregate for three games to 45, also an all-time high.

De La Salle led all the way against Mount Carmel, topping the Caravan in the first period, 9 to 7; at the half, 18 to 16, and in the third period, 27 to 26.

Height Gives Advantage.

De La Salle's height gave it the advantage it needed for victory, since the teams played on almost equal terms, for while the victors never relinquished the lead they were never successful in topping the Caravan by more than a few points. Joe Schulz of De La Salle and Johnny Kempfer of Mount Carmel paced their teams, each scoring 22 points. Lineups:

Soccer Team Fails to Show Up for Game

BY OFFSIDE.

The Nickeloids of Dalzell, Ill., failed to show up for their replay of a National soccer cup first round match yesterday against the Vikings in Sparta stadium and face action by the national association.

The Nickeloids, who played the Vikings to a 3 to 3 tie in Winnemac park stadium recently, contended that the replay should have been on their own field in Dalzell and refused to heed the national office's orders that they return to Chicago for the game, set for Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue.

May Draw Suspension.

Possible penalties include suspension from further cup competition and a heavy fine, and possible suspension from all organized soccer competition for an indefinite period.

A large crowd turned out for the anticipated cup game. Most of it, however, went to the Key-Branch stadium to see Hakoah play the South Side Swedes when it became evident the Nickeloids would not appear.

The Swedes whipped Hakoah, 3 to 0, in a game called on account of darkness after a half hour extra period ordered by the referee. The game may be ordered replayed inasmuch as the full extra period was not completed.

Regular Period Scoreless.

Neither team had succeeded in scoring during the regular 90 minute period, but the Swedes launched a determined attack in the overtime which brought them victory, Tommy Reilly scoring once and Billy Fraser twice, once on a penalty shot. Lineup:

HAKOAH [0].		SOUTH SIDE SWEDES [3].
Stein	G. K.	Griffith
Field	R. B.	Coyle
Leondman	L. B.	Woodward
Hony	R. H.	Kestetter

Greenspan	O. R.	Meikle
Gordon	I. R.	Pearlman

Linderman	O. L.	Reilly

Goals—Fraser [2], Reilly. Substitutions: Hakoah—Sheridan, Feiger. South Side Swedes—Sobel, Grieve. Referee—R. Basak.

The Slovaks defeated the Falk corporation yesterday in Milwaukee, 3 to 2, in a second round cup match. Pete Matevich scored two goals and Tony Cipra one. John Reega and Sam Blaski scored the goals for the losers.

Jack La Motta Will Battle Boldin Tonight

Nate Bolden, 1937 intercity Golden Gloves middleweight winner who has scored three straight victories, has hopes of continuing along the victory trail in a 10 round bout against Jack La Motta, New York light heavyweight, in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

La Motta, who is only 19 years old, will be making his Chicago debut. Jack started boxing professionally a year ago after winning a New York amateur light heavyweight championship. In 23 fights he has registered 20 triumphs, earned one draw, and suffered two defeats.

Can't Get by Reeves.

Both setbacks were inflicted by Jimmy Reeves, but one of these decisions was so unpopular spectators started a riot. This was the encounter in which La Motta scored five knockdowns, two in the ninth round and three in the tenth. In subsequent matches Jack defeated Lorenzo Strickland in White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 7, and Jimmy Casa in Madison Square Garden Nov. 14.

Stanley Murczek, Chicago middleweight, and Billy Pierce of West Allis, Wis., will meet in a six round semi-windup. In four round events Jimmy Crow, Danville 155 pounder, will face Danny Villa; Johnny Dudley, Detroit junior welterweight, will encounter Frank Pintero, and Jerry Hoffman, Milwaukee lightweight, will oppose Willie Moon.

Joy of Bears Dampened by Small 'Take'

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The Bears were an unenthusiastic lot of National Football league champions yesterday when they filed back to their Wrigley field dressing room after beating the Giants. They shook hands quietly all around, accepted the congratulations of the few fans who drifted in and out, and dressed quickly.

"Not much of a crowd," one of the Bears grumbled—and perhaps that explains the absence of elation which usually accompanies the winning of championships. The crowd of 13,341 was the smallest the Bears played to in Wrigley field this season—and the players realized their share of the gate would not be as tidy a Christmas bonus as they had anticipated. At that, each Bear collected $430.94 for his afternoon's work.

However, the men of Halas did perk up a bit when a photographer appeared to take their picture. The boys got together in a squad huddle and gave out with some smiles reminiscent of last Sunday when they crushed the Green Bay Packers in the western division title play-off before a capacity crowd.

Gallarneau's Eye Cut.

A tiny cut over Hugh Gallarneau's right eye was the sum total of the Bears' injuries; so, the Halas varsity should be in fine shape for the Pro bowl game in New York City on Jan. 4 when the champions play an All-Star team assembled from the league's nine other clubs.

Big Norm Standlee was the only Bear who requested a rubdown from Trainer Andy Lotshaw. The other Bears dressed hurriedly and scattered for their Christmas vacations, some to distant points. Bulldog Turner caught a train for his Texas ranch; Sid Luckman and Ed Kolman left by auto for New York. All hands will report back to Wrigley field next Monday, and Halas will lead his team east for the Pro Bowl game Jan. 1.

He Served 'Em Standlee.

There was a reason for Standlee's rubdown request. Luckman explained the situation while shrugging into his overcoat.

"All afternoon," Sid said, "those Giants kept on daring me to carry the ball—and I should carry the ball when I got a big 235 pound hunk of muscle like Mr. Standlee available for such chores. Every time the Giants asked for Luckman I gave them Mr. Standlee instead. It worked out pretty well."

Pretty well is right. Standlee's two touchdowns were big items in the second half rout. Maybe the Giants would have done better if they hadn't put in so many requests for Mr. Luckman.

At Christmas Time.

I sometimes think at Christmas time
When folks all seem so jolly
That in each heart a happy sprite
Who knows our human folly
Proceeds when Yuletide rolls around,
With most enchanting guile,
To hop into the driver's seat
And run things for a while.

I like to think at Christmas time
When people joy in giving,
That in each breast a truer self
Adds to our common living,
A quality of kindliness,
An earnest and a token
Of a day to come when men shall dwell
In brotherhood unbroken.

How Can They Honor Him?

How can they honor Him with shout and din
Who sought the quiet peace of hills and dells,
Whose blood was shed to cleanse the world of sin—
A world defiled by lust mad infidels?

How can they honor Him of virgin birth
Whose gentle touch made lepers walk once more,
With hollow mockery and drunken mirth
Which echoes like a cannon's booming war?

How can they honor Him who made His way
Thru jeering throngs to Calvary's green crest,
With bartering of gifts and parties gay,
With cheap hilarity and words of jest?

The Heart that gave its blood for you and me
Would feel today the agonizing pain
It knew upon the cross of Calvary,
Were Jesus to return to earth again;
And He who guarded tenderly His sheep
Would bow His head in utter shame and weep!

Bargain Values.

The greatest values in the world for man
Include integrity and truthfulness
And purity and honesty. Since time began,
These plain ingredients God chose to bless.
Their benefits are neither bought nor sold
But king or laborer may share the gift,
The ignorant and poor do not need gold
To own them or to buy their strong uplift.
The price for their possession is a smile
Unselfish action, pure and upright thought,
A kindly deed, a word that may beguile
The shadows grief and pain and misery wrought.
These priceless treasures bring mankind content,
And yet they do not cost a single cent.

LIST PLAYERS IN PRO FOOTBALL DRAFT TODAY

Steelers Have First Call on Graduating Stars.

The National Football league draft meeting, which has had a mysterious aura around it these last two days, progressed from 8 o'clock last night until after midnight, but any announcements of players selected was to be withheld until some time today.

The idea is that each of the 10 teams selects 20 players—then sits around and waits to see who gets 'em first—the pro league or Uncle Sam. The Pittsburgh Steelers, by virtue of having the lowest percentage in the league, had first pick of the graduating college talent. Next in line were the Cleveland Rams, the Philadelphia Eagles, and Chicago Cardinals. Needless to say, Bears weren't allowed to stick in their paws until all others had plunged into the grab bag.

Nineteen games from Aug. 19 to Dec. 21—1,550 minutes of hard, bruising football—and who do you think breathed a sigh of relief when the pistol barked at 3:45 yesterday afternoon in Wrigley field? The players? Wrong. The big whoop-de-doo was led by the Bears' coaches, particularly Luke Johnsos, who has been telling the six ends what to do and what not to do for what seems ages.

"If you think the football players are tired of it all, what about us?" asked Luke wearily as he plopped into a cushioned chair in Wrigley field's Pink Poodle room after the game. "We started last June getting ready for the College All-Star game. There were hot, stuffy nights when we met to get our season in motion. And since then it's been five or six nights a week after you've worked at your own business and taken part in the practices." [Luke is a paper salesman when he isn't in the midst of helping plot more victories for the Bears.]

And as a finisher, Luke exclaimed: "Give me back my uniform. I'd rather be a player!"

There was nothing accidental about the drop kick employed by little Ray [Scooter] McLean for the 37th and final point the Bears scored on the Giants in yesterday's title game. Young Mr. McLean was quite a drop kicker in his college days at St. Anselm's in New England. In the memory of the oldest settler, this was the first time the drop kick has been employed in the National Football league for scoring purposes since Dutch Clark, now Cleveland's coach, hung up his brogans a few seasons ago.

Norm Standlee, who led the Bears' yardage parade with 89, was a picture of power and contentment as he lay on the rubbing table after the game. In reply to a question if he was hurt in his various adventures at, thru, and past the Giants' forward wall, the freshman from Stanford admitted some one hit him from behind and caused a few twinges of pain. But there wasn't a bruise on his 235 pound body after the battle.

James Gallagher, the Chicago Cubs' general manager, who as a newspaper man followed the Bears for more than a decade, finally gave his accolade to Standlee. "After watching him today no one can make a mistake linking his name with that other great Bear full back, Bronko Nagurski," said James. He added that to his notion Nagurski and Beattie Feathers still remain the all-time most potent running pair in the Bears' history.

Fred Gillies, the old-time Cardinals' tackle, now a steel executive, introduced a serious note when he said: "I hope that a year from now all these 33 Bears will be together." Gillies, like most others in and out of professional football, believes that many of the players will have rushed into their country's service before another season rolls around.

The makeup of the National league All-Star team which will oppose the Bears in the Pro bowl game Jan. 4 in the Polo Grounds, New York, will be announced tomorrow morning.

PIRIE WINS SIX DINGHY RACES OFF GRANT PARK

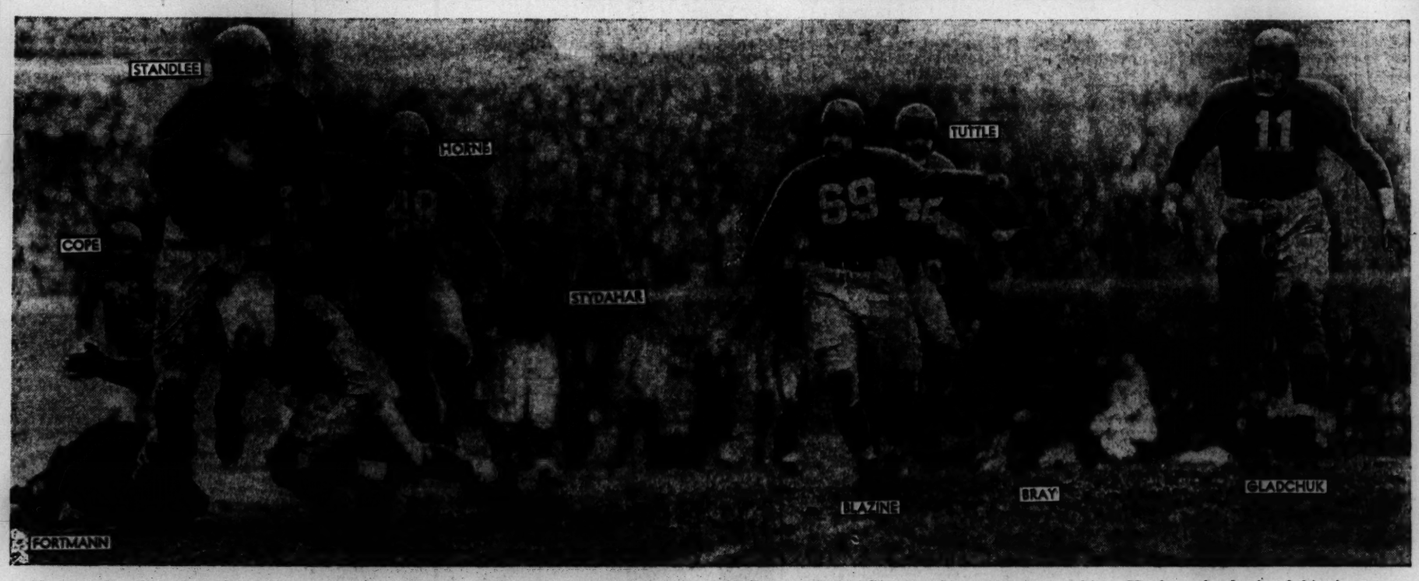
Lockwood M. Pirie won six of the seven races for Chicago Yacht club D class Frostbite dinghies, sailed yesterday in Grant Park harbor, and captured the club's 1941 season championship title. Fred Scott and Jack Matzinger, were runners up in the championship series, and Ed Schnabel Jr. took third place. Scott and Matzinger were second in yesterday's series of seven races, and Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell Jr. were third. A light south to southeast breeze prevailed.

Mrs. Bert Billheimer won the Suekoff Winter Classic trophy for yachtswomen yesterday in a series of five races sailed in Grant park harbor. Columbia Yacht club C class dinghies were used by the lady skippers. These craft formerly flew the Jackson Park Yacht club flag. Mrs. Howard Black was second, and Mrs. Paul Cook third. The award was presented by Evelyn Suekoff, who was skipper of Commodore Fran Byrne's entry, Debutramp, in the races.

Mrs. J. L. Younghusband Wins Lincoln Park Shoot

Mrs. J. L. Younghusband won the Christmas turkey skeet shoot-off with score of 24 out of 25 at Lincoln Park Gun club yesterday. The regular class AAA event resulted in a three way tie involving Mrs. Potter Palmer III., R. R. Meli, and Mrs. J. L. Younghusband each with 50 straight.

STANDLEE WON'T STAY PUT—A GIANT PASS CLICKS



Norman Standlee, Bears' 235 pound full back, who contributed two touchdowns to the 37 to 9 rout of the Giants yesterday in Wrigley field in the pro league's title game, goes around his right end for four yards in the fourth quarter. Standlee kept right on driving even with Giant tacklers clinging to him. He lost the back of his jersey to a clutching New Yorker on one occasion.

Bears Crush Giants, 37-9, to Retain Title

tles. Each of the 33 Bears had a part in victory. The Giants used 29 of their men.

After taking Cuff's opening kickoff, the Bears held the ball for 10 minutes and 34 seconds, finally getting in the point column on Snyder's field goal from the 14 yard line. After almost nine minutes of play, the Bears had only a twenty-seven yard advance from their 45 yard line to show for their efforts, because of penalties and other troubles.

Standlee and his old running mate from Stanford, Hugh Gallarneau, accounted for the Bears' first down in three rushes which put the ball on New York's 43 yard line. The Giants were using a 5-3-3 defense which they adhered to almost all the time. Standlee hit for four yards, then three.

Lateral Loses Thirteen Yards.

On the next play after the original first down, Gallarneau, on a surprise maneuver without the customary man-in-motion, raced around left end for ten yards to the Giants' 27. Then a lateral from Sid Luckman to Gallarneau lost thirteen. After Standlee picked up five, Dick Plasman made a leaping catch of Luckman's pass on the Giants' 26 and ran six yards before being cracked out of bounds.

Standlee bored to the 15 yard line, but the Bears were set back to the Giants' 35 for holding. While the Bears were thinking up a field goal attempt, they were assessed five yards for too much time. Then Lee Artoe's attempted goal from the Giants' 47 was blocked by Ken Lunday. In the ensuing scramble a Giant lost possession and Artoe recovered on New York's 49.

Standlee and Gallarneau made it a first down on the 38, and these two same fellows, with some help by Ray Nolting, worked it ten yards nearer. After a short gain by Luckman, the Bears were penalized for being offside and this put them back on the 26. Standlee took a lateral from Luckman, raced down the west side lines, spun away from Kayo Lunday, and ran thirteen yards. He hit inside left tackle for six yards to the 7, but here the attack bogged and Snyder kicked for three points.

Cuff Takes Long Pass.

Franck took the kickoff on the bounce on the Giants' nine yard line and ran wide where he was chased out on his 43. John Siegal rushed thru and spilled Cuff for two yards on a reverse. Tho almost surrounded by Bears, Tuffy Leemans managed to get off a long pass which was taken by Cuff on the Bears' 36 for a twenty-three yard gain. After Leemans hit the Bears' left side for five, he passed to Franck, who caught the ball on the 27 and raced over. Cuff's kick for the extra point was blocked by Siegal.

Siegal brought back the kickoff from Chicago's 22 to the 41. McAfee picked up seven on a lateral from Luckman. Bill Osmanski smacked the line hard for seven more to the Giant's 45. McAfee turned another lateral into a thirteen yard profit and skimmed four yards to the 28 as the quarter ended. In this period the Bears had 30 plays to their opponents' 4. The second quarter was only 45 seconds old when Snyder stepped back to the Giants' 39, his kick just clearing the bar for the tying points. After the kickoff, a quick punt by Kay Eakin went seventy yards over the Bears' goal.

Passing Attack Fails.

From the 20, the Bears started going, but a passing attack failed and McAfee pointed to Howie Yeager on the 10. He wound up on the 5 after being hit hard and on second down kicked to McAfee on the Giants' 46. McAfee fumbled, but recovered and was downed on the New York 47. McAfee and Osmanski coöperated for a first down on the 35, but Snyder had to settle for three points, his fourth down placement going over from the 37 yard line after 9:58 of the quarter had been played. The Giants had to punt after the kickoff and just as the half ended, McAfee caught Luckman's forty-two yard pass in a sitting posture on the Giants' 19.

The Giants took the second half kickoff from their 20 yard line to the 9 yard line, where they settled for Cuff's field goal from the 17 yard line which tied the score. Cuff and Leemans led the ground assault in this seventy-one yard march and there was a twenty yard pass from Leemans to Franck.

In little more than three minutes, the Bears' power had started them on their way. Ray McLean scooted up the field eighteen yards with the kickoff to the Bears' 29 yard line. Standlee ripped off the Giants' left tackle for ten yards. He barged in for three more. Luckman switched tactics and his pass was caught by Plasman on the Giants' 38 and he went four more for a twenty-five yard gain. Then Siegal shot from his end position in a semicircle toward the middle and, running low, caught another pitch by Luckman. But for stumbling he'd have scored. He was dropped on the 7. Standlee hit for three off right tackle, Gallarneau added a yard, then big Norm twisted over for the score. The time was 7:48. Snyder kicked the extra point, his 10th personal one. The ball went over the bleacher wall.

Fortmann Intercepts Pass.

After the kickoff, Danny Fortmann intercepted Leeman's pass on the Bears' 32 and came up two more yards. This set touchdown No. 2 in motion. McAfee bucked for nine yards and Standlee broke thru the Giant's left side for thirteen. Then the 230 pound full back hurtled into the right side and carried a few assorted Giants with him to the 30, a fourteen yard gain.

McAfee slammed for five yards and McLean dashed around the Giants' left flank for eleven to the 14 yard marker. McAfee started around right end, cut in, and flopped on the 7 yard line. Standlee then drove thru New York's left side for his second touchdown of the quarter. Joe Maniaci kicked the ball out of the park for the 23d point. As the period ended, Len Eshmont's punt was grounded on the Giants' 44.

The Bears, with many of their lesser athletes in the cast, had to wait until 10:55 of the fourth quarter before getting more points. Bulldog Turner set them in motion by intercepting Leemans' pass and running to Chicago's 46 yard line. It was Standlee again for seven yards around end. McAfee made eight, aided by neat interference. After a five yard offside penalty and short gains, Luckman passed to Standlee, who picked up twenty-one yards to New York's 23.

Another Interception Brings Score.

After a fifteen yard penalty had slowed them down, the champions roared back. McAfee carried a pass from Luckman to the Giants' 33. Bob Nowaskey fumbled after catching a short aerial, but recovered on the Giants' 28. When a pass by Luckman was incomplete, Snyder started warming up for his fourth try, but on the next play pass interference was ruled on the Giants' 5. McAfee took it two yards, then shot thru the middle standing up. Artoe kicked the point.

A third interception led to the last score. This one was the work of Standlee, who caught it on his own 40 and made an eleven yard return. The Bears took a five yard penalty and lost the ball on downs on New York's 47.

A long pass by Hank Soar was incomplete. Then the Giants tried a pass which had netted a touchdown against Washington this season. Soar lateraled to Andy Marefos, but he fumbled when hit by Pool. Ken Kavanaugh picked the ball up on the bounce and no one was between him and the goal forty-two yards away. Just to be different, McLean drop-kicked for the point. Statistics:

EAGLES BEAT ROVERS.

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—The Washington Eagles came from behind with two goals scored in less than a minute of the third period to nose out the New York Rovers, 3 to 2, in an Eastern Amateur Hockey league game in Madison Square Garden today.

FORDHAM SQUAD STARTS JOURNEY TO SUGAR BOWL

New York, Dec. 21 [Special].—Prepared for a week of hard work under the warm gulf sun, Fordham's Rams rolled southward tonight in quest of a Sugar bowl victory over Missouri on New Year's day. Thirty-six players, school authorities, and newspaper men made up the party which left Jersey City on the first leg of the journey to their training quarters at Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Starting Tuesday, when the party arrives, Coach Jim Crowley will send the squad thru two workouts a day with a scrimmage or two thrown in.

Bear 'S' Men Have Big Day Against Giants

The Fans Lose Interest.

Without considering the date of the championship, only four days before Christmas, or the price of tickets, which ranged from $4.40 to $2.20 in the bleachers, the important reason for the small crowd remains that the Giants are not a good football team. Chicago had not forgotten that the Bears beat New York in an exhibition here last September, that the Giants edged into the play-offs as the best of a mediocre eastern division, and finally, that all believed the Bears would win easily.

The Giants collapsed completely in the second half. The final Bears' touchdown, scored by Ken Kavanaugh after a New York fumble, completed the rout. Unfortunately for the players, who participate in the receipts, the Bears were just too good and the public knew it. Five to one probably were the correct odds after all.

FEDERAL BAN ON RUBBER WILL NOT STOP GOLF MEETS

But Individual Linksmen May Feel Pinch.

New York, Dec. 21 [Wide World].—The individual golfer and tennis player may have to turn to gardening on his weekends next summer, but there is slight chance that the big tournaments in either sport, such as the national championships, will be affected immediately by the government's ban on manufacture of non-essential rubber goods.

A survey indicates there is about a year's normal supply of golf and tennis balls on hand. At least, the sporting goods manufacturers have sufficient raw materials in their possession to supply the country for another 12 months, provided they can get a release from the government.

Hopes to Keep Going.

"We are hopeful we won't be forced to shut down entirely," said an executive of one of the major firms. "After all, they will need sports supplies for the army. Even a baseball has a little rubber in it, and if the big leagues are to continue operation there obviously will have to be exceptions to the ban.

"It wouldn't do any good for the United States Lawn Tennis association to buy up a big stock of balls now, because they stay fresh for only about six months at best. We always ship them to a tournament direct from the factory—just out of the ovens. We can continue to do this provided we receive the necessary releases.

"This, of course, would not offer much comfort to the millions of 'Sunday' players over the country. When the present stock of balls in stores and warehouses is exhausted I suppose the dubs will be out of luck."

Cut Off Production.

Production of golf balls, as a matter of fact, has been on a reduced basis for several months, and not a ball has been turned out since Dec. 11. The larger stores still had big stocks when the alarm was sounded officially last Wednesday, but the present buying rush threatens to clear the shelves in short order unless some rationing plan is devised, which is unlikely. The price has risen about 10 per cent in recent weeks.

Efforts undoubtedly will be made to develop an acceptable substitute for the present rubber golf ball, he said, but it might take years. Thousands of golf clubs over the country, shorn of their revenue, would take a heavy financial beating in the meantime. Ersatz balls of less resiliency than the rubber variety would make it necessary to redesign most courses.

LOYOLA, DENVER CLASH TONIGHT IN SECOND GAME

Denver, Colo., Dec. 21 [Special].—The Loyola university basketball team of Chicago will tackle the University of Denver team here tomorrow night in the second game of the Chicagoans' holiday trip thru the west. The Ramblers opened their jaunt Friday night in St. Louis, where they dropped their first game of the season to the Washington university team. Loyola won from Washington when the two met recently in Chicago.

Tomorrow night will also mark the second time that the Ramblers have met Denver this season, the Chicagoans winning, 37 to 26, in their recent game in Chicago. Loyola's record now stands at five victories and one defeat for the season.

CHICAGOANS WIN THIRD PRIZE IN TOLEDO BOWLING

Toledo, O., Dec. 21 [Special].—Lloyd Strouse and Wally Freitag of Chicago captured third prize money in the class A doubles of the Central States bowling tournament here this afternoon with a score of 1,248. They rolled games of 313, 440, and 495.

John Sinke and Herb Freitag, also of Chicago, took sixth place in the same event with a score of 1,242. Freitag rolled a 672 series to win fifth prize in the class A singles, and tied for second prize in the all events with Buzz Fazio of Akron, O. Each rolled 1,911.

Our stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that our Xmas gifts soon would be there.

For rumors had spread that our socks would be filled
With Kessler's, the whiskey that's smoothly distilled

And blended with lightness and mildness to spare,
The whiskey that men say is "rich, and so rare!"

Now if YOU are planning a gift or a present,
For Christmas, there's nothing so nice or so pleasant

YOU'RE A BIT OFF BALANCE, DEARIE, 'OLD DOC' DECIDES

But Deficiency, He Says, Is in Her Right Leg.

This is another article in a series by Tribune reporters who have visited quack doctors and submitted to their "treatments." The state department of registration and education has obtained 11 warrants charging violation of medical laws.

BY BARBARA ADAMS.

O, dear! Now "Old Doc" Ira G. Brown tells me I'm "off balance"! Says I've been that way for years! Not mentally, but physically.

After all these years [about 22], "Old Doc" Ira told me my right leg is an eighth of an inch shorter than my left. He informed me of this deficiency despite the rigid physical examinations I took and passed easily at Passavant Memorial hospital.

"Old Doc" Ira, after making this discovery, handed me a half inch thick pad to put in my right shoe. He said the pad would fix me up temporarily until his treatments could do the job permanently.

Court Hearing Tomorrow.

The case of "Old Doc" Ira G. Brown, charged with practicing without a state license, comes up again in County court tomorrow. Brown was one of a number of alleged quacks arrested in October. He was granted two continuances.

Brown, silver haired and distinguished in appearance, has well appointed offices at 2511 North Kedzie avenue. I didn't notice he was worrying about the case pending in court against him when I went there a couple of weeks ago. And he didn't say anything about the inspectors of the state department of registration and education who signed the complaint, either.

The "doctor," I discovered, often has a dozen patients—most of them women—under "treatment" at once. Being a blonde, I told him my name was Elizabeth Holmstrom and gave him a north side address. In return, he gave me a sharp look and asked:

"Now, my dear, who sent you to me?"

That Collector Story.

I gave him the story about my brother-in-law being a collector in his neighborhood and hearing a lot about him from the women on his [the brother-in-law's] route. This story made everything O. K.

"Here," he said, handing me what looked like a white bed sheet, "remove your blouse and put on this coat."

I accepted the garment and followed the doctor to one of the small rooms in which he treats his patients.

The walls of each small room stopped two feet from the ceiling. A cot, several electric heating pads and a machine that resembled a battery testing set, stood in my room. On a small table were five clear glass slides. I opened the door.

"All right," Miss Holmstrom," he called. "Just wait for me in my office."

I went into his office and he followed.

Gives Her Head a Jerk.

"Please place your feet here," he ordered, indicating two feet painted in red on the floor. I stood on them.

Strong fingers pressed my spine—starting at my neck and working down to the middle of my back. The palm of a muscular hand kneeded my shoulder muscles and then two hands lifted my head half out of its place.

"Hmm," said Brown. "Lots of tension. The spine is the cause of your trouble, but we can correct that."

He moved his chair closer.

"But first," the "doc" added, "we'll have to have an X-ray. I don't dare do a thing without that."

"But isn't that quite expensive, doctor?"

A Real Bargain, Says He.

Moving even closer, he leaned nearer to me and whispered confidentially. "Naw, I'm giving you a real bargain. You'd pay $15 for them at any laboratory. I'll only charge you $5."

After the doctor had made an X-ray, using a machine in his office, he said, "Now, I'd like to see you some time tomorrow—any time after 1 o'clock."

I agreed to return, and paid him $5 for the X-rays, receiving no receipt.

Next afternoon I had to wait only a short time before the doctor called. He gave me another white robe and sent me into one of the small treatment cubicles.

A few minutes later, the "doctor" called for me to enter a slightly larger treatment room. While I sat before a projector, he flashed on a screen what he claimed was a picture of my spine, taken thru my mouth the day before.

Spine All On One Side.

"There, you see," he said. "Look at that spine. It's off balance. All over on that side, you see"

"O, doctor," I exclaimed.

"It's not so bad," he said. "But it's no wonder you're nervous." And then, after a little thought, "You don't get much sleep at night, do you?"

The doctor conducted me into the next room and told me to lie upon a leather upholstered table. I did this, with my face resting in a small cavity in the table surface.

"I feel just like a rabbit," I said, "the way you've got my face buried."

"Now, now," he gurgled, "do you know how a rabbit feels?" [Baby talk.] "You nevah wuz a rabbit." He laughed.

"Lie on your back, please?" the doctor requested.

Tells Her to Relax.

He then proceeded to carefully lift my head, moving it first one way and then the other. I was nervous, and stiffened my neck.

"Relax," he commanded softly, "come on." I relaxed.

"Rip." He had jerked my neck, and the sudden movement sent sharp pains into my head and shoulders. Lying on my side, as he suggested, I relaxed as much as possible.

"Crack!" Again he had "adjusted" my neck, this time by putting the full weight of his body on his right elbow—which was resting on my neck. He then proceeded to crack ligaments and bones all the way down my spine.

He Punches Pay Card.

Once again dressed in my street clothes, I joined the doctor in his office. He filled out a yellow card that looked like a suburban railroad ticket.

"How long will it take to fix this?" I asked.

"Full course of 22 treatments—and only $40," he said proudly. "You don't have to pay the whole thing at once, $5 a call will do."

I paid him $2, which he credited by punching a hole on the card. "Bring this card with you each time you call," he said.

Just then, one of his patients started to choke and cough, and moan. With a disgusted look, "Dr." Brown said, "that's an asthma case. They don't come to me until they're almost dead. Then they expect help."

"I wish they'd stop that," he said in an irritated manner, when the coughing again commenced.

"I'll bet that you're glad when the end of the day comes," I suggested.

"Naw," he scoffed, then leaning near me he whispered, "nothing is hard if you like it—and get results."

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: None So Blind

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Breaking the News

MRS. ELSIE TORLONIA, FAMED AS DUCHESS, IS DEAD IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Elsie Moore Torlonia, 52, divorced Brooklyn born wife of the late Prince Marino Torlonia of Italy, once known as the "Dollar Duchess," died today in her Park avenue apartment after a long illness.

Her son, Prince Allesandro Torlonia of Rome, was given the permission of the Italian and British governments to make a trip by Clipper to the United States to visit his mother last November. He was arrested and returned to Italy before her death. Mrs. Torlonia was also the mother of Mrs. Frank Shields, wife of the internationally known tennis player, and of Mrs. Christiana Lord of New York.

Prominent in Rome society, Mrs. Torlonia was the daughter of Charles A. Moore, wealthy New Yorker. In 1922 a duel fought by the duke of Torlonia with Count Filippo Lovatelli, famous Italian sculptor, over a statue of his wife, was an international sensation.

ADM. CAPERTON, PACIFIC CHIEF IN WORLD WAR, DIES

Newport, R. I., Dec. 21 [Special].—Adm. William B. Caperton, 86 years old, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet during the World war, died today in the Newport Naval hospital. He was the oldest retired American admiral.

Adm. W. B. Caperton.

Adm. Caperton was graduated from the naval academy in 1875 and saw his first service on the old frigate Constellation. Subsequent assignments carried him to many parts of the world and included service on the China station, in Corea, duty aboard steamers of the United States Coast and Geodetic survey, and work as secretary of the navy's steel inspection board and in the naval intelligence office in Washington, D. C.

On Duty Off Havana.

He was executive officer on the U. S. S. Marietta, then on duty in the Pacific, in 1898 when the battleship Maine was blown up in the harbor in Havana, Cuba.

The Marietta and the battleship Oregon started at once for the Atlantic, going by way of the Straits of Magellan. Caperton took part in patrol service off Havana harbor until the end of the Spanish-American war.

In 1915 Caperton, then a rear admiral, landed sailors and marines from the battleship Washington in Haiti during a revolt there. His accomplishments in composing the affairs of Haiti and later Santo Domingo brought recognition from President Wilson, and the following year Wilson designated him commander of the Pacific fleet.

Active in American Relations.

His subsequent relations with Central American and South American republics were considered to have promoted friendly relations between them and the United States. Thruout American participation in the World war he cruised off the eastern coast of South America with the first division of his fleet.

He retired as a rear admiral in 1919 and was advanced to the rank of admiral on the retired list in 1930.

The body will be taken to Washington for burial, probably Wednesday, in Arlington national cemetery. Adm. Caperton is survived by one daughter.

EACH PERSON'S SHARE IN PUBLIC DEBT UP TO $521

Total Sets a Record, 69.2 Billions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—America's total public debt—federal, state, and local—reached a new all-time high of 69.2 billion dollars on June 30, 1941, end of the last fiscal year, the census bureau announced tonight.

This tremendous debt burden was equivalent to $521 for each person in the continental United States, or $41 higher than the corresponding figure for 1940. These figures do not include the vast federal borrowing for defense and war needs since June 30.

On June 30 the federal debt totaled 48 billion 979 million dollars, while the latest figure, as of Dec. 18, showed it had reached the unprecedented total of 57 billion 251 million dollars. A federal debt of 100 billions is not considered far away by some experts.

State and Local Debt Lower.

The exact public debt on June 30, including federal, state, and local, was 69 billion 162 million dollars. State and local government debt combined amounted to 20 billions 183 million dollars, a decrease of 42 millions during the fiscal year. While state and local debt declined, the federal debt rose 6 billion 8 million dollars during the same period.

The bureau furnished a table of the debt structure, showing how the federal debt has increased its proportion of the total debt, which is printed in an adjoining column.

"Federal defense spending and national defense requirements have affected state and local government debt behavior in several ways," said the bureau's report. "Expansion of the national economy has resulted in substantially heavier tax collections and in reduced relief loads. Priority requirements have necessitated curtailment of nonessential public construction.

Total for States Down 4 Per Cent.

"Effects of these factors on nonfederal public borrowing during the last year were reflected in a decrease of 4 per cent in state debt, as contrasted with an increase amounting to 22 per cent for the eight year period 1932-1940.

"Among local governments generally, similar downward movement in debt was reported. This general downward trend was counterbalanced by two factors—a rise of 216 million dollars in the outstanding obligations of local housing authorities, and flotation of large bond issues by a limited number of cities to finance public service enterprises."

Federal, State and Local Debt

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 [Special].—The following table shows federal and state and local debt in selected years in millions of dollars and in percentages:

Priorities Aid Given Refiners and Smelters

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 [Special].—Emergency priority assistance for smelters and refiners of copper, leads, zinc, antimony, mercury, and cobalt was authorized today by the OPM, which already had provided similar assistance for mines producing these metals.

Under the new order a basic rating of A-3 is provided for essential repair, maintenance, and operating supplies. Producers will be given an emergency rating of A-1-A for actual breakdown or suspension, and an intermediate rating of A-1-C for necesary advance provision to avert breakdown or suspension. These two latter ratings are available only after advance approval by the director of priorities.

Control Engine Prices.

Informal arrangements whereby Diesel engine prices will not be increased above the levels of Oct. 1 will be continued for the present, Leon Henderson, price administrator, announced today. On Dec. 6, the administrator requested Diesel engine manufacturers to adhere to Oct. 1 prices and not to change their methods of determining prices for specially designed equipment.

At at meeting, Dec. 18, at which makers of 85 to 90 per cent of all Diesel engines were represented, producers expressed the opinion that the voluntary method of keeping prices stabilized would be effective for the time being. However, to implement the voluntary price control program, manufacturers will be asked to file with OPA affirmations that they have complied with his request of Dec. 6.

STEEL DEMAND TO RISE

Cleveland, O., Dec. 21 (AP).—A big increase in demand for steel is in the making and will be felt soon, the magazine Steel said today.

"A quickening is apparent in some lines of ordnance manufacture and large orders may be placed soon," the trade publication said. "A number of bomb inquiries are before the trade. One involves several hundred tons of 30 gauge sheets and another sheet tonnage is for bomb fins. Stovemakers, whose regular output has been limited, are figuring on contracts for bomb clusters."

The magazine estimated the national rate of steel production last week at 97½ per cent of theoretical capacity, the same as that of the preceding week.

GENERAL MOTORS INCOME SECURITY PROGRAM ENDED

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP).—General Motors corporation announced today that because of the war its income security and layoff benefit plans, which have been in effect for three years, will not be continued in 1942.

The plans were designed to assist employés by wage advances in periods of low employment or layoff due to model changes and the changing demand of the public for General Motors products, a corporation spokesman said.

"Every employé is familiar with the orders of the federal government to curtail commercial production," he added, "and since the plans were designed to take care of the fluctuating employment in the automobile industry and were not designed to meet a war emergency, which is a national problem, we must discontinue them."

Goodyear Produces 'War Tire' from Scrap Rubber

Akron, O., Dec. 21 [Special].—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company today announced production of a "war tire" made from scrap rubber. The Akron plant went into production on the new tire today.

FINANCIAL HELP IS OFFERED MILK PRODUCING UNITS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 [Special].—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard announced today that the agriculture department is ready to finance new cooperative processing plants and to obtain priorities for equipment needed by both cooperative and private plants to meet the 1942 milk production goal.

"Our 1942 milk production goal of 125 billion pounds provides for an increase of 8 billion pounds over 1941 and 14 billion over 1940," Wickard said. "This production can provide for increased use of milk and its products by our civilian population and armed forces, and also take care of the supplies of dairy products we have promised to send to Great Britain under the lend-lease program."

TERMINALS 5S.

Please send me what data you have regarding Cleveland Union Terminals 5 per cent bonds, due in 1973.—H. H.

Answer: The Cleveland Union Terminals company first mortgage sinking fund 5 per cent bonds, due April 1, 1973, are outstanding in the amount of $21,370,500. The company's total funded debt of $52,313,900 includes, besides the 5s, issues of first mortgage 5½s, due in 1972, and 4½s, due in 1977.

The principal and interest of all issues are guaranteed unconditionally by three proprietary roads, the New York Central, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis. The three proprietary roads pay proportionate shares of the terminal's operating expenses. The bonds also are secured by a first mortgage on all terminal property.

The 5s are callable as a whole after April 1, 1943. All the bonds are listed on the New York Stock exchange. The Baltimore and Ohio railroad also uses the terminal, which was opened in 1930, on a fee basis, and other roads may be admitted as tenants on terms approved by the proprietary roads.

Revere Brass' New Building Work Speeded

BY AL CHASE.

Construction is being rushed on the 10 million dollar brass rolling mill of Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., at Normandy and Fullerton avenues, scheduled to turn out 15 million pounds of cartridge brass strip for war munitions monthly. The plant, one of the largest of its kind in the world, is expected to be completed by next May, Herbert S. Ullmann, vice president in charge of the company's operations in this area, reported yesterday.

Herbert S. Ullmann. [Toloff Photo.]

Under construction on a 13 acre tract, the building will have a floor area of about eight acres. Johnck & Ehmann of Chicago are the architects, and James Stewart corporation is the general contractor.

The plant has been laid out specifically for the manufacture of cartridge metal and all of its specialized equipment is of modern design. Its 1,000 employés will be on three 8 hour shifts, 6 days a week, with the possibility of 7 day operations if necessary.

Brass ingots received at the plant will be melted in electrical furnaces into billets and then rolled into sheet form for use in making small arms cases, bullet jacket cups, and large cartridge cases.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 [Special].—The decision to transfer the Securities and Exchange commission to Philadelphia rather than to New York was taken because of President Roosevelt's determination that the SEC staff not be placed in too close contact with Wall street, it was learned tonight.

TAX COMMITTEE MEMBERS STUDY U. S. SALES LEVY

'Less Painful' than Pay Deductions.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21 (AP).—Sentiment in favor of a general sales tax as one of the less painful ways of raising funds to pay for the war appeared today to be increasing among members of the house ways and means committee.

Several legislators expressed belief such a levy would be less burdensome than the 15 per cent withholding tax the treasury suggested for consideration a few weeks ago and which employers would be required to deduct from workers' pay checks.

Informal study already is being given to the tax problem, altho hearings are not to begin until Jan. 15, Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the committee, long a foe of the sales tax idea, said such a levy undoubtedly would be proposed in the committee but declined to guess what fate it would meet.

Unafraid of "Politics."

One who indicated he would give favorable consideration to a sales tax was Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.]. He suggested that the sales tax would lose much of its political bugaboo when contrasted with such proposals as the withholding tax, which was proposed by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

"In states which have had sales taxes they are not unpopular, and I am ready to make a thoro study of such a levy for federal purposes without fear of political reaction," Gearhart said.

Opposition to a sales tax was expressed by Rep. Raymond S. McKeough [D., Ill], who contended it should not be considered until after the elimination of what he described as inequities in the existing tax structure. He said recent earnings statements of major industries indicated stiffer excess profits taxes would be in order and should be enacted before sales levies were imposed on "those least able to pay."

Rise in Yield Held Likely.

Some legislators suggested war time spending by the government would increase the national income to such an extent that even at the present rates the tax yield would be greatly in excess of the estimated 12 billion to 13 billion dollars for the current calendar year.

McKeough contended in that connection, however, that while earnings of munitions industries and others engaged in war work probably would boom, the effect of the priority and allocation systems would curtail the income of many concerns which normally pay substantial taxes.

1,135 MERCHANT SHIPS ORDERED OR BEING BUILT

New York, Dec. 21 [Special].—Figures made public by the American bureau of shipping show that 1,135 merchant vessels aggregating 6,780,530 gross tons were under construction or contracted for in United States shipyards on Dec. 1 last. Included in this list are 57 cargo ships, totaling 387,600 tons, building for Great Britain. With the exception of the British vessels, the ships are being built to American bureau classification.

Thirteen vessels of 98,700 gross tons were launched in November.

Illinois' Corn Return Set at 300 Millions

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Illinois farmers brought harvesting operations on two of their most important crops—corn and soy beans—near the finish line yesterday. Grain men estimated the corn crop would return the state's farmers more than 300 million dollars. Returns from soy beans were placed close to 75 million dollars.

The 1941 corn crop in Illinois totaled 401,362,000 bushels as yields averaged 52.5 bushels an acre, a new national record. The state produced 49,128,000 bushels in the all-time record soy bean crop of 106,712,000 bushels. The soy beans made an average yield of 21.5 bushels to the acre.

Beans Bring $1.50 a Bushel.

The Commodity Credit corporation will lend the farmer approximately 75 cents a bushel for his corn. The loan rate on soy beans is so far below current market prices it is of little value in figuring crop returns. Based on Saturday's market, the Illinois farmer was getting more than $1.50 a bushel for his beans.

R. C. Ross, writing in Illinois Farm Economics, a publication of the state agricultural experiment station, said that for the last three years it had cost approximately $15.57 an acre, or 56 cents a bushel, to produce soy beans in east-central Illinois. L. J. Norton and R. H. Wilcox of the state college staff, estimated in the same publication that the average cost of growing and harvesting soy beans was $2.72 less per acre than for corn.

Estimate Per Acre Profits.

Using these cost of production figures as an average for the entire state and taking the price of corn at 75 cents a bushel and soy beans at $1.50, the grain men estimated the Illinois farmer made a profit of $21.06½ an acre from his corn and $16.68 an acre from his beans. Because of the higher cost of labor and taxes, these figures may be revised downward in final estimates.

Trading in grains for future delivery on the nation's exchanges came almost to a halt late last week as new federal regulations tended to obviate the necessity for such markets.

SUPPLIES NEEDED IN PAINT MAKING REPORTED SHORT

Scarcity of many pigments, drying oils, colors, and other materials essential to the manufacture of paints and varnishes was reported to the trade yesterday by Ernest T. Trigg, president of the National Paint, Varnish, and Lacquer association.

Trigg disclosed that the consumption of linseed oil will reach a new peak this year, having risen almost 38 per cent to 81,198,562 gallons in the first nine months this year from the volume used in the corresponding period of 1940.

POWER PLANTS MEET NEARLY ALL DEMANDS THRU NATION IN YEAR

New York, Dec. 21 [Special].—The electric power and light industry in the last year successfully met in every part of the country, except for a few weeks in the southeast, the great increase in demands for power arising from the war effort, Charles W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric institute, reported today.

[The Office for Emergency Management declared Saturday that rationing and pooling of power would be necessary in the next two years.]

Outlining the industry's position with respect to the rearmament program, Kellogg disclosed, however, that actual installations of generating capacity so far this year had fallen 600,000 kilowatts behind projected schedules. He blamed shortages of materials, other demands for defense on manufacterers of turbines, and labor difficulties.

The increase in peak load demands on the nation's power plants was 3,250,000 kilowatts in 1941, Kellogg reported, and net additions to the generating capacity of these plants totaled 2,712,000 kilowatts, or 538,000 less than the increase in peak loads.

SOKOL & CO. PAYS 10 TO 15 PER CENT WORKER BONUSES

Sokol & Co., one of the principal importers and exporters of food products, which has its general offices in Chicago, is paying 10 to 15 per cent salary bonuses to employés. Ten per cent is given all those employed 1 to 10 years, and 15 per cent to those in service more than 10 years.

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 21 (AP).—Wage increases of 5 cents an hour, effective tomorrow, and payment of Christmas bonuses totaling $95,000 to approximately 3,800 workers at the Fairchild aircraft plant were announced today.

Granted Added Pay.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20 (AP).—Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company announced today that, effective Jan. 1, employés receiving $3,000 a year, or less, would be given additional compensation amounting to 8½ per cent of basic pay.

CUDAHY'S NET PROFITS RISE TO NEW HIGH MARK

Processing Volume Also is Record.

Improvement in the packing industry was reflected in the annual report of the Cudahy Packing company for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, sent stockholders yesterday by President E. A. Cudahy Jr. Net earnings for the year were $3,652,316, a new peak, compared with $2,116,223 in the preceding fiscal year. Cudahy said the 1941 profit was 1.4 cents for each sales dollar. A year ago profit was 1 cent per dollar.

E. A. Cudahy Jr.

The company's sales totaled $260,704,578, an increase of 23 per cent, or $48,779,783 over the preceding year.

Causes of Upturn.

"Higher live stock prices and the attendant advance in meat prices coupled with more aggressive sales policies, a greater national rate of employment, and increased wage scales accounted for the major portion of this increase," Cudahy said.

The volume of live stock processed during the year exceeded all previous records in the company's history, Cudahy said. Based on the 1940 price levels it accounted for $7,803,592 of the increase in cost of live stock purchased during the year. The advance in prices during the year accounted for an additional $38,325,402, making a total increase in cost of live stock purchased for the year of $46,128,994, or 36.8 per cent.

Inventories on Oct. 31 stood at $22,673,427, an increase of $6,564,349.

Expects Price Increase.

Cudahy said, "It is only reasonable to assume that the greatly increased demands due to war conditions will be reflected in a continued advance in live stock and meat values unless government agencies establish control over farm product prices, wage scales, rents, and other items affecting the cost of living."

He said that one result of the war will be a further increase in production of most farm products including live stock.
